Black Englishman:

Memoirs of a Black Englishman Paul Stephenson, Lilleith Morrison, 2011 Paul Stephenson is one of the UK's leading Civil Rights activists and has travelled extensively to the United States to support the US Civil Rights Movement. In his foreword to Memories of a Black Englishman Tony Benn writes Paul Stephenson's life as readers of this book will see offers living proof that history is made by the people who make the effort. It also shows that the initial hostility that they provoke is replaced by respect and good will if the effort continues for long enough. Paul Stephenson's life confirms that expectation and I strongly recommend his book. Paul Stephenson enlisted the support of Tony Benn then a Labour MP in Bristol to take on the Bristol Bus Company in 1963 who were refusing to employ black drivers. The Bristol Bus Boycott was based on the Montgomery Bus Boycott of 1956 and marked the start of a lifetime of campaigning by Stephenson. He was regarded as a trouble maker as he challenged racist practices in all aspects of life and strove to bring together black and white communities across the world. His work has been hugely influential and has resulted in him being honored with an OBE and being given the Freedom of the City of Bristol where he lives with his wife Joyce.

U Don't Define Me, I'm Free Esa, 2022-07-27 U Don't Define Me, I'm Free was written for the following reasons: Corporate glass ceiling benefits who? Who does it limit? Why is the corporation structure compared to the slave plantation? Why is divide and conquer still practiced within socioeconomical classes and religious nations such as Judaism and Islam? Why are people still purchasing real estate within countries such as the United States and Africa where they will never own the land? The greatest lie ever told but constantly promoted globally is the year of the return. Who does that truly benefit? Those are some reasons why I wrote this book. There are a few more reasons. The youth and unconscious adults label entertainers and repeat jail offenders as leaders of the African nomad communities. We have lost our way. Prison rapes are now accepted and even considered a rite of passage for our youth. Sexism is enforced within our community while programming our young sisters to accept the oversexed title and mentality that was birthed during slavery and enforced in the modern day through music and other entertainment. U Don't Define Me, I'm Free was created to assist young and hungry minds with tools that will break them away from their mental chains and traps.

The Black Urban Atlantic in the Age of the Slave Trade Jorge Canizares-Esguerra, Jorge Cañizares-Esguerra, Matt D. Childs, James Sidbury, 2013-07-03 During the era of the Atlantic slave trade, vibrant port cities became home to thousands of Africans in transit. Free and enslaved blacks alike crafted the necessary materials to support transoceanic commerce and labored as stevedores, carters, sex workers, and boarding house keepers. Even though Africans continued to be exchanged as chattel, urban frontiers allowed a number of enslaved blacks to negotiate the right to hire out their own time often greatly enhancing their autonomy within the Atlantic commercial system In The Black Urban Atlantic in the Age of the Slave Trade eleven original essays by leading scholars from the United States Europe and Latin America chronicle the black experience in Atlantic ports providing a rich and diverse portrait of the ways in which Africans experienced urban life during the era of plantation slavery Describing life in Portugal Brazil Mexico the Caribbean and Africa this volume illuminates the historical identity agency and autonomy of the African experience as well as the crucial role Atlantic cities played in the formation of diasporic cultures By shifting focus away from plantations this volume poses new questions about the nature of slavery in the sixteenth to nineteenth centuries illustrating early modern urban spaces as multiethnic sites of social connectivity cultural incubation and political negotiation Contributors Trevor Burnard Mariza de Carvalho Soares Matt D Childs Kevin Dawson Roquinaldo Ferreira David Geggus Jane Landers Robin Law David Northrup Jo o Jos Reis James H Sweet Nicole von Germeten

Shades of Green Ian Frederick Finseth, 2009-01-01 Shades of Green offers a creative reimagining of early and antebellum American literary culture by exploring the complex web of relationships linking racial thought to natural science and natural imagery The book charts a dynamic shift in both polemical and imaginative literature during the century before the Civil War as scientific artistic and spiritual vocabularies regarding nature became increasingly important for authors seeking to mobilize public opinion against slavery or to redefine racial identity Finseth argues that these vocabularies both liberated and constrained antislavery philosophy and more broadly that our understanding of race in early American literature must take the natural world into account In doing this Finseth fuses a cultural history of the period with fresh readings of such major figures as Ralph Waldo Emerson Harriet Beecher Stowe and Frederick Douglass Drawing on a range of theoretical and disciplinary perspectives including aesthetics anthropology phenomenology and ecocriticism Shades of Green demonstrates the agility with which human thought about the natural and the racial leapt across formal epistemological professional and artistic boundaries In this innovative account the politics of race and slavery are shown to have been deeply intertwined with putatively apolitical cultural understandings of the natural world The book will be of value to scholars in a variety of disciplines including American studies African American literary history and environmental philosophy Transcultural Anglophone Studies Martina Ghosh-Schellhorn,2018 Transcultural Anglophone Studies TAS engages with the cultural production of speakers of World English in any part of the former British Empire and the migrational diasporas resulting thereof Anglophone texts in print or other media have had a tremendous impact despite their relatively belated entry to the cultural field Since TAS forms a vast heteronomous research area this Introduction is a first guide for students and researchers In providing analytical tools for engaging with these exceptional texts it situates them in the larger context of globalization and neocolonialism Empire and After Graham MacPhee,Prem Poddar,2007 Ranging from analyses of contemporary culture postcolonial writing political rhetoric and postimperial memory after 9 11 this collection demonstrates that far from being parochial and self involved the question of Englishness offers an important avenue for thinking about the politics of national identity Decolonization and the Other Sharon C.
