Black Experience In Contemporary America:

Race and Urban Space in Contemporary American Culture Liam Kennedy, 2019-07-31 This innovative book looks at representations of ethnic and racial identities in relation to the development of urban culture in postindustrialised American cities. The concept of urban space organises the detailed illustration of a series of themes which structure chapters on white paranoia and urban decline, memories of urban passage, the racialised underclass, urban crime and justice, and globalisation and citizenship. The book focuses on a range of literary and visual forms including novels, journalism, films, narrative and documentary and photography to examine the relationship between race and representation in the production of urban space. Texts analysed include writings by Tom Wolfe, The Bonfire of the Vanities, Toni Morrison, Jazz, John Edgar Wildeman, Philadelphia Fire, and Walter Mosley, Devil in a Blue Dress. Films covered include Falling Down, Strange Days, Hoop Dreams, and Clockers. Provocative and absorbing, this interdisciplinary treatment of urban representations engages contemporary theoretical and sociological debates about race and the city. Issues of space and spatiality in representations of the city are explored and the author shows how expressive forms of literary and visual representation interact with broader productions of urban space.

Documenting the Black Experience Novotny Lawrence, 2014-11-19 History taught at the elementary, middle, high school and even college levels often excludes significant events from African American history such as the murder of Emmett Till or the murder of four black girls by the Ku Klux Klan in the Sixteenth Street Baptist Church bombing in Birmingham. Such events are integral parts of history that continue to inform America's racial politics. Their exclusion is a problem that this work addresses by bringing more visibility to documentary films focusing on the events. Books treating the history of documentary films follow a similar pattern, omitting the efforts of filmmakers who have continued to focus on African American history. This book works to make documentary discourse more complete, bringing attention to films that cover the African American experience in four areas: civil rights, sports, electronic media, and the contemporary black struggle, demonstrating how the issues continue to inform America's racial politics.

Black Conservative Intellectuals in Modern America Michael L. Ondaatje, 2011-11-29 In the last three decades, a brand of black conservatism espoused by a controversial group of African American intellectuals has become a fixture in the nation's political landscape, its proponents having shaped policy debates over some of the most pressing matters that confront contemporary American society. Their ideas, though, have been neglected by scholars of the African American experience, and much of the responsibility for explaining black conservatism's historical and contemporary significance has fallen to highly partisan journalists. Typically, those pundits have addressed black conservatives as an undifferentiated mass, proclaiming them good or bad, right or wrong, color blind visionaries or Uncle Toms. In Black Conservative Intellectuals in Modern America, Michael L. Ondaatje delves deeply into the historical archive to chronicle the origins of black conservatism in the United States from the early 1980s to the present. Focusing on three significant policy issues: affirmative action, welfare, and education, Ondaatje critically engages with the ideas of nine of the most influential black conservatives He further documents how their ideas were received both by white conservatives eager to capitalize on black support for their ideas and by activists on the left who too often sought to impugn the motives of black conservatives instead of challenging the merits of their claims While Ondaatje s investigation uncovers the themes and issues that link these voices together he debunks the myth of a monolithic black conservatism Figures such as Supreme Court Justice Clarence Thomas the Hoover Institution s Thomas Sowell and Shelby Steele and cultural theorist John McWhorter emerge as individuals with their own distinct understandings of and relationships to the conservative political tradition     The Black Experience in Contemporary America Daniel Boamah-Wiafe,1993     African American

The Debate on Black Civil Rights in America Kevern Verney, 2017-08-01 Once a neglected area African American history is now the subject of extensive scholarly research The Debate on Black Civil Rights in America is the first full length study to examine the changing academic debate on developments in African American history from the 1890s to the present It provides a critical historiographical review of the very latest thinking and explains how and why research and discourse have evolved in the ways that they have Individual chapters focus on particular periods in African American history from the spread of racial segregation in the 1890s through to the postwar Civil Rights Movement and the Black Power Movement of the sixties and seventies The concluding chapters address the modern day black experience and the images of African Americans in popular culture Appraising both the existing scholarship and the changing philosophy of the historical profession this work will be invaluable to scholars students and general readers alike

Ethics of Literary Forms in Contemporary American Literature Rüdiger Heinze, 2005 This work links ethics and the formal arrangement of literary texts It shows that specific formal techniques and devices and the overall form of literary texts always have an ethical dimension and beg certain ethical questions Covering the three main genres of narrative drama and poetry the discussion addresses aspects of syntax line breaks mise en scene and narrative situation as well as the table of contents list of characters and chapter structure in six texts by contemporary American authors Paul Auster Don DeLillo Tony Kushner Suzan Lori Parks John Ashbery and Jorie Graham Seeing Race in Modern America Matthew Pratt Guterl, 2013 In this fiercely urgent book Matthew Pratt Guterl focuses on how and why we come to see race in very particular ways What does it mean to see someone as a color As racially mixed or ethnically ambiguous What history makes such things possible Drawing creatively from advertisements YouTube videos and everything in between Guterl redirects our understanding of racial sight away from the dominant categories of color away from brown and yellow and black and white and instead insists that we confront the visual practices that make those same categories seem so irrefutably important Zooming out for the bigger picture Guterl illuminates the long history of the practice of seeing and believing in race and reveals that our troublesome faith in the details discerned by the discriminating glance is widespread and very popular In so doing he upends the possibility of a postracial society by revealing how deeply race is embedded in our culture with implications that are often matters of life and death

Brown Gold Michelle Martin, 2004-03-01 Brown Gold is a compelling history and analysis of African American children's picturebooks from the mid nineteenth century to the present At the turn of the nineteenth century good children's books about black life were hard to find if indeed young black readers and their parents could even gain entry into the bookstores and libraries But today in the Golden Age of African American children's picturebooks one can find a wealth of titles ranging from Happy to be Nappy to Black is Brown is Tan In this book Michelle Martin explores how the genre has evolved from problematic early works such as Epaminondas that were rooted in minstrelsy and stereotype through the civil rights movement and onward to contemporary celebrations of blackness She demonstrates the cultural importance of contemporary favorites through keen historical analysis scrutinizing the longevity and proliferation of the Coontown series and Ten Little Niggers books for example that makes clear how few picturebooks existed in which black children could see themselves and their people positively represented even up until the 1960s Martin also explores how children's authors and illustrators have addressed major issues in black life and history including racism the civil rights movement black feminism major historical figures religion and slavery Brown Gold adds new depth to the reader's understanding of African American literature and culture and illuminates how the round dynamic characters in these children's novels novellas and picturebooks can put a face on the past a face with which many contemporary readers can identify
