Black Families At The Crossroads Challenges And Prospects:

Black Families at the Crossroads Leonor Boulton Johnson, Robert Staples, 2004-09-24 This updated edition of the classic book Black Families at the Crossroads offers a comprehensive examination of the diverse and complex issues surrounding Black families. Leonor Boulton Johnson and Robert Staples combine more than sixty years of writing and research on Black families to offer insights into the pre-slavery development of the Black middle class, internal processes that affect all class strata among Black American families, the impact of race on modern Black immigrant families, the interaction of external forces and internal norms at each stage of the Black family life cycle, and public policies that provide challenges and promising prospects for the continuing resilience of the Black family as an American institution. This thoroughly revised edition features new research, including empirical studies and theoretical applications, and a review of significant social policies and economic changes in the past decade and their impact on Black families.

Black Families Harriette Pipes McAdoo, 2007 Publisher Description

Family Life in Black America Robert Joseph Taylor, James S. Jackson, Linda M. Chatters, 1997-08-13 Most studies of Black families have had a problem focus, offering a narrow view of important issues such as out-of-wedlock births, single parent families, and childhood poverty. Family Life in Black America moves away from this negative perspective and instead deals with a wide range of issues, including sexuality, procreation, infancy, adulthood, adolescence, cohabitation, parenting, grandparenting, and ageing. A fresh aspect of this book is the amount of diversity it reveals within Black families and the forces that shape, limit, and enhance them.

Black Families in Therapy Nancy Boyd-Franklin, 2013-11-18 This classic text helps professionals and students understand and address cultural and racial issues in therapy with African American clients. Leading family therapist Nancy Boyd-Franklin explores the problems and challenges facing African American communities at different socioeconomic levels, expands major therapeutic concepts, and models to be more relevant to the experiences of African American families and individuals, and outlines an empowerment-based, multisystemic approach to helping clients mobilize cultural and personal resources for change.

Impacts of Incarceration on the African American Family Othello Harris, Robin Miller, 2018-05-04 The criminal justice system has driven a wedge between Black men and their children. African American men are involved in the criminal justice system, whether through incarceration, probation, or parole, at near epidemic levels. At the same time, the criminal justice system has made little or no institutional efforts to maintain or support continuing relationships between these men and their families. Consequently, African American families are harmed by this in countless ways, from the psychological, physical, and material suffering experienced by the men themselves to losses felt by their mates, children, and extended family members. The volume opens with an introduction and brief review by R. Robin Miller. Sandra Lee Browning and Lisa M. Spruance outline the impacts of incarceration on the African American family. Brad Tripp explores changes in family relationships and the identity of incarcerated African American fathers. Mary Balthazar and Lula King discuss the loss of the protective effect of marital and nonmarital relationships and its impact on incarcerated African American men and the implications for African American men and those who work with them in the helping professions Theresa Clark explores the relationship between visits by family and friends and the nature of inmate behavior In a research note Olga Grinstead Bonnie Faigeles Carrie Bancroft and Barry Zack investigate the actual costs families incur to maintain contact with family members be it emotional social or financial Patricia E O Connor uses data from sociolinguistic interviews of male inmates from a maximum security prison to study how some of these men manage to continue to fulfill the fatherhood role long distance In a concluding chapter Sandra Lee Browning Robin Miller and Lisa Spruance focus on actions of the criminal justice system that undermine the black family on reasons that black male inmate fathers are studied so rarely and discuss the role restorative justice may play This insightful volume fills a void in the literature on the role of African American men in the functioning of families It will be of interest to students of African American studies social workers and policy makers

Social Work Practice with African American Families Cheryl Waites, 2009-06-02 Be more effective by understanding African American families from an intergenerational perspective Social workers looking to provide competent practice with African American families may be more effective by using a new strengths based approach from an intergenerational perspective Social Work Practice with African American Families presents a comprehensive look at this new approach to view assess and provide services to multigenerational families and communities It closely examines this useful innovative framework which encourages opportunities for action to create solutions for survival and change The approach dynamically considers the changing demographics in American society key issues and the various challenges pertinent to the African American community This text offers a strong culturally competent approach to social work practice for African American families that takes into consideration the latest policies programs and demographic changes It also incorporates the voices of African American families along with teaching that focuses on strengths derived from the transfer of information and support between multiple generations The book is extensively referenced and provides tables to clearly present data Topics discussed include the importance of strong kinship bonds demographic changes mutually supportive intergenerational relationships intergenerational policy intergenerational programs cultural genograms assessment issues long term care giving issues intergenerational influences on education the role of intergenerational knowledge transfer in church community programming and much more Social Work Practice with African American Families is a valuable resource for social workers counselors educators and students in African American studies and family studies

Over the last thirty years African American voices and perspectives have become essential to the study of the various theological disciplines Writing out of their particular position in the North American context African American thinkers have contributed significantly to biblical studies theology church history ethics sociology of religion homiletics pastoral care and a number of other fields Frequently the work of these African American scholars is brought together in the seminary curriculum under the rubric of the black church studies class Drawing on these several disciplines the black church studies class seeks to give an account of the broad meaning of Christian faith in the African American experience Up to now however there has not been a single comprehensive textbook designed to meet the needs of students and instructors in these classes Black Church Studies An Introduction will meet that need Drawing on the work of specialists in several fields it introduces all of the core theological disciplines from an African American standpoint from African American biblical interpretation to womanist theology and ethics to sociological understandings of the life of African American churches It will become an indispensable resource for all those preparing to serve in African American congregations or to understand African American contributions to the study of Christian faith Looks at the diverse definitions and functions of the Black Church as well as the ways in which race class religion and gender inform its evolution Provides a comprehensive view of the contributions of African American Scholarship to the current theological discussion Written by scholars with broad expertise in a number of subject areas and disciplines Will enable the reader to relate the work of African American theological scholars to the tasks of preaching teaching and leading in local congregations Will provide the reader the most comprehensive understanding of African American theological scholarship available in one volume Stacey Floyd Thomas Brite Divinity School Juan Floyd Thomas Texas Christian University Carol B Duncan Wilfrid Laurier University Stephen G Ray Jr Lutheran Theological Seminary Philadelphia Nancy Lynne Westfield Drew University Theology Theology and Doctrine Contemporary Theology

Childhood Socialization Gerald Handel, 2011-12-31 This collection of authoritative studies portrays how the A basic agencies of socialization transform the newborn human organism into a social person capable of interacting with others Socialization differs from one society to another and within any society from one segment to another Childhood Socialization samples some of that variation giving the reader a glimpse of socialization in contexts other than those with which he or she is likely to be familiar In the years since publication of the first edition of this book in 1988 childhood has become a territory open to broader sociological investigation In this revised edition Gerald Handel has selected and gathered new contributions that analyze the agents of socialization including family school and peer group and explore the influences of television and gender The balance of classical studies and more recent work reflecting changes in the family structure renews the centrality of this anthology for courses in the social psychology of children up to adolescence The book is divided into nine parts Socialization Individuation and the Self Historical Changes in Attitudes Toward Children Families as Socialization Agents Daycare and Nursery School as Socialization Agents Schools as Socialization Agents Peer Groups as Socialization Agents Television and its Influence Gender Socialization and Social Stratification and Inequality in Socialization While socialization continues on into the adolescent and adult years childhood socialization is primary essential in creating the human person and in shaping the identity outlook skills and resources of the evolving person Childhood Socialization is a dynamic volume that will be of continuing interest to students and scholars of family studies sociology psychology and modern culture

When Boys Become Parents Mark S. Kiselica, 2011 Kiselica dispels many of the myths surrounding teenage fatherhood and shows that contrary to popular belief these young men are often emotionally and physically involved in relationships with their partner and their child But without support and guidance from adults these relationships often deteriorate in the first year of the child's life Kiselica offers advice for professionals and policy makers that calls for support groups led by caring male role models bonding through sport before counseling begins and peer based recruitment From publisher description

Encyclopedia of Human Relationships Harry T. Reis, 2009-03-25 This encyclopedia provides a structure to understand the essential rudiments of human behaviour and interpersonal relationships In and Out of Our Right Minds Diane Brown, Verna Keith, 2003-10-01 African American women have commonly been portrayed as pillars of their communities resilient mothers sisters wives and grandmothers who remain steadfast in the face of all adversities While these portrayals imply that African American women have few psychological problems the scientific literature and demographic data present a different picture They reveal that African American women are at increased risk for psychological distress because of factors that disproportionately affect them including lower incomes greater poverty and unemployment unmarried motherhood racism and poor physical health Yet at the same time rates of mental illness are low This invaluable book is the first comprehensive examination of the contradictions between the strengths and vulnerabilities of this population Using the contexts of race gender and social class In and Out of Our Right Minds challenges the traditional notions of mental health and mental illness as they apply to African American women Resources in Education, 1993-12 Human Behavior in the Social Environment from an African-American Perspective Letha A See, 2013-02-01 Human Behavior in the Social Environment from an African American Perspective Second Edition is an updating of the classic text that presents leading black scholars discussing complex human behavior problems faced by African Americans in today's society This new edition provides fresh theories and the latest practical interventions not in the first edition that show for example how to enhance a client's coping strategies and resilience by focusing on their strengths rather than their weaknesses. This edition includes a new foreword by former Surgeon General Dr. Joycelyn Elders. Human Behavior in the Social Environment from an African American Perspective Second Edition acquaints practitioners with the Black experience and provides the latest innovative methods of working with this diverse population. This edition also offers new insights on evaluating practice initiatives. Experts and scholars explore and interpret individual and group behaviors, the strength and resilience of the Black family, the stresses and problems affecting children, the significant problem of the effects of colorism, the self-esteem and identity issues of biracial children, violence in the criminal justice system, the HIV/AIDS pandemic, the stress and behaviors resulting from belonging to the armed services, and other behavior stemming from progression through the life cycle. Chapters include charts and tables of data, extensive references, and study questions for deeper study for students. Topics in Human Behavior in the Social Environment from an African American Perspective Second Edition include the importance of the consideration of the Black experience in analyzing Black behavior, behavior as a response to a hostile social system, the Black church's role in leading African Americans, resiliency perspective as a positive force, the use of strength behaviors for socialization and survival strategies to strengthen roles of fathers in African American families, military culture as a microcosm of the wider society, the psychological effects of skin color on self-esteem, the No Child Left Behind Act of 2001 and its effects, refreshing social work practice to better meet the needs of African American girls, examination of a study on the help-seeking behaviors of young African American males, empirically based creative intervention strategies to alleviate Black on Black crime, analysis of street gang behaviors with a program to address it, influences of hip-hop culture, strategies to lessen substance abuse in children, practices that help assist administrators and social workers to lessen school violence. Human Behavior in the Social Environment from an African American Perspective Second Edition is a supplementary text that is valuable for undergraduate and graduate students, human service practitioners, mental health and medical counselors, policymakers, school officials, and criminal justice personnel.

Double Burden Yanick St. Jean, Joe R. Feagin, 2015-03-04

Studies of contemporary Black women are rare and scattered and are often extensions of a legacy beginning in the 19th century that characterized Black women as domineering matriarchs, prostitutes, or welfare queens, negative characterizations that are perpetuated by both white and non-white social scientists. Based on over 200 interviews, this book departs from these conventions in significant ways and using a collective memory conceptual framework shows how Black women cope with and interpret lives often limited by racial barriers not of their making.
