and businesses These urban institutions have strengthened tribal and intertribal identities creating new forms of shared experience and giving rise to new practices of Indigeneity Some of the essays in this volume explore Native participation in everyday economic activities whether in the commerce of colonial Charleston or in the early development of New Orleans Others show how Native Americans became entwined in the symbolism associated with Niagara Falls and Washington D C with dramatically different consequences for Native and non Native perspectives Still others describe the roles local Indigenous community groups have played in building urban Native American communities from Dallas to Winnipeg All the contributions to this volume show how from colonial times to the present day Indigenous people have shaped and been shaped by urban spaces Collectively they demonstrate that urban history and Indigenous history are incomplete without each other
