Black Hollywood:

Hollywood's African American Films Ryan Jay Friedman, 2011-07-27 In 1929 and 1930 during the Hollywood studios conversion to synchronized sound film production white controlled trade magazines and African American newspapers celebrated a vogue for Negro films Hollywood's African American Films argues that the movie business turned to black musical performance to both resolve technological and aesthetic problems introduced by the medium of talking pictures and at the same time to appeal to the white Broadway audience that patronized their most lucrative first run theaters Capitalizing on highbrow associations with white slumming in African American cabarets and on the cultural linkage between popular black musical styles and natural acoustics studios produced a series of African American cast and white cast films featuring African American sequences Ryan Jay Friedman asserts that these transitional films reflect contradictions within prevailing racial ideologies arising most clearly in the movies treatment of African American characters decisions to migrate Regardless of how the films represent these choices they all prompt elaborate visual and narrative structures of containment that tend to highlight rather than suppress historical tensions surrounding African American social mobility Jim Crow codes and white exploitation of black labor

Black Hollywood Kimberly Fain, 2015-06-30 This thought provoking work examines the dehumanizing depictions of black males in the movies since 1910 analyzing images that were once imposed on black men and are now appropriated and manipulated by them Moving through cinematic history decade by decade since 1910 this important volume explores the appropriation exploitation and agency of black performers in Hollywood by looking at the black actors directors and producers who have shaped the image of African American males in film To determine how these archetypes differentiate African American males in the public's subconscious the book asks probing questions for example whether these images are a reflection of society's fears or realistic depictions of a pluralistic America Even as the work acknowledges the controversial history of black representation in film it also celebrates the success stories of blacks in the industry It shows how blacks in Hollywood manipulate degrading stereotypes gain control advance their careers and earn money while making social statements or bringing about changes in culture It discusses how social activist performers such as Paul Robeson Sidney Poitier Harry Belafonte and Spike Lee reflect political and social movements in their movies and it reviews the interactions between black actors and their white counterparts to analyze how black males express their heritage individual identity and social issues through film

Black Culture and the New Deal Lauren Rebecca Sklaroff, 2009 In the 1930s the Roosevelt administration unwilling to antagonize a powerful southern congressional bloc refused to endorse legislation that openly sought to improve political economic and social conditions for African Americans Instead as historian Women and New Hollywood Aaron Hunter, Martha Shearer, 2023-05-12 The 1970s has often been hailed as a great moment for American film as a generation of New Hollywood directors like Scorsese Coppola and Altman offered idiosyncratic visions of what movies could be Yet the auteurist discourse hailing these directors as the sole authors of their films has obscured the important creative roles women played in the 1970s American film industry Women and New Hollywood revises our understanding of this important era in American film by examining the contributions that women made not only as directors but also as screenwriters editors actors producers and critics Including essays on film history film texts and the decade s film theory and criticism this collection showcases the rich and varied cinematic products of women s creative labor as well as the considerable barriers they faced It considers both women working within and beyond the Hollywood film industry reconceptualizing New Hollywood by bringing it into dialogue with other American cinemas of the 1970s By valuing the many forms of creative labor involved in film production this collection offers exciting alternatives to the auteurist model and new ways of appreciating the themes and aesthetics of 1970s American film Ebony ,1997-01 EBONY is the flagship magazine of Johnson Publishing Founded in 1945 by John H Johnson it still maintains the highest global circulation of any African American focused magazine Hollywood's America Steven Mintz,Randy W. Hollywood's High Noon Thomas Cripps,1996-11-13 A lively narrative history of Hollywood s classical age Over the last twenty five years the field of cinema studies has offered a dramatic reassessment of the history of film in general and of Hollywood in particular Writers have drawn on the methodologies of a number of disciplines literary criticism sociology psychology women s studies and minority and gay studies to deepen our understanding of motion pictures the film industry and movie theater audiences In Hollywood s High Noon noted film historian Thomas Cripps offers a lively narrative history of Hollywood s classical age that brings the insights of recent scholarship to students and general readers From its origin during the First World War to the beginning of its decline in the 1950s Cripps writes Hollywood operated as did other American industries movies were created by a rational production system regulated by both government and privately organized interests and subject to the whims of a fickle marketplace Yet these films did offer consumers something unique in darkened movie palaces across the country audiences projected themselves their hopes and ideas onto silver screens profoundly mediating their reception of Hollywood s flickering images Beginning with turn of the century moving picture pioneer Thomas Edison Cripps traces the invention of Hollywood and the development of the studio system He explores the movie going experience the struggle for social control over the movies through censorship the impact of sound on the style and content of films alternatives to Hollywood s oligopoly including race films and documentaries the paradoxical predictability and subversive creativity of genre pictures and Hollywood s self proclaimed shining moment during the Second World War Cripps concludes with a discussion of the collapse of the studio system after the war due in equal parts to suburbanization the emergence of television and government anti trust action

Slow Fade to Black Thomas Cripps,1977-02-03 Set against the backdrop of the black struggle in society Slow Fade to Black is the definitive history of African American accomplishment in film both before and behind the camera from the earliest movies through World War II As he records the changing attitudes toward

African Americans both in Hollywood and the nation at large Cripps explores the growth of discrimination as filmmakers became more and more intrigued with myths of the Old South the lost cause aspect of the Civil War the stately mansions and gracious ladies of the antebellum South the happy slaves singing in the fields Cripps shows how these characterizations culminated in the blatantly racist attitudes of Griffith's The Birth of a Nation and how this film inspired the N A A C P to campaign vigorously and successfully for change A lively thorough history of African Americans in the movies Slow Fade to Black is also a perceptive social commentary on evolving racial attitudes in this country during the first four decades of the twentieth century African American Urban History since World War II Kenneth L. Kusmer, Joe W. Trotter, 2009-08-01

Historians have devoted surprisingly little attention to African American urban history of the postwar period especially compared with earlier decades Correcting this imbalance African American Urban History since World War II features an exciting mix of seasoned scholars and fresh new voices whose combined efforts provide the first comprehensive assessment of this important subject The first of this volume's five groundbreaking sections focuses on black migration and Latino immigration examining tensions and alliances that emerged between African Americans and other groups Exploring the challenges of residential segregation and deindustrialization later sections tackle such topics as the real estate industry's discriminatory practices the movement of middle class blacks to the suburbs and the influence of black urban activists on national employment and social welfare policies Another group of contributors examines these themes through the lens of gender chronicling deindustrialization's disproportionate impact on women and women's leading roles in movements for social change Concluding with a set of essays on black culture and consumption this volume fully realizes its goal of linking local transformations with the national and global processes that affect urban class and race relations The Hollywood Jim Crow Maryann Erigha, 2019-02-05

The story of racial hierarchy in the American film industry The OscarsSoWhite campaign and the content of the leaked Sony emails which revealed among many other things that a powerful Hollywood insider didn't believe that Denzel Washington could open a western genre film provide glaring evidence that the opportunities for people of color in Hollywood are limited In The Hollywood Jim Crow Maryann Erigha tells the story of inequality looking at the practices and biases that limit the production and circulation of movies directed by racial minorities She examines over 1 300 contemporary films specifically focusing on directors to show the key elements at work in maintaining the Hollywood Jim Crow Unlike the Jim Crow era where ideas about innate racial inferiority and superiority were the grounds for segregation Hollywood's version tries to use economic and cultural explanations to justify the underrepresentation and stigmatization of Black filmmakers Erigha exposes the key elements at work in maintaining Hollywood's racial hierarchy namely the relationship between genre and race the ghettoization of Black directors to black films and how Blackness is perceived by the Hollywood producers and studios who decide what gets made and who gets to make it Erigha questions the notion that increased representation of African Americans behind the camera is the sole answer to the racial inequality gap Instead she suggests focusing on the obstacles to integration for African American film directors Hollywood movies have an expansive reach and exert tremendous power in the national and global production distribution and exhibition of popular culture The Hollywood Jim Crow fully dissects the racial inequality embedded in this industry looking at alternative ways for African Americans to find success in Hollywood and suggesting how they can band together to forge their own career paths

Hollywood's War with Poland, 1939-1945 M.B.B. Biskupski, 2010-01-08 This passionate carefully researched richly detailed well written study reveals the political motives behind WWII Hollywood's portrayal of Poles Choice During World War II Hollywood studios supported the war effort by making patriotic movies designed to raise the nation's morale Often the characterizations were as black and white as the movies themselves Americans and their allies were heroes while everyone else was a villain The peoples of Norway France Czechoslovakia and England were all good because they had been invaded or victimized by Nazi Germany Yet Poland the first country to be invaded by the Third Reich was repeatedly represented in a negative light In this prize winning study Polish historian M B B Biskupski explores why Biskupski presents a close critical study of prewar and wartime films such as To Be or Not to Be In Our Time and None Shall Escape Through memoirs letters diaries and memoranda written by screenwriters directors studio heads and actors Biskupski examines how the political climate and especially pro Soviet sentiment influenced Hollywood films of the time Winner of the Oscar Halecki Prize A Choice Outstanding Academic Title

Shaping the Future of African American Film Monica White Ndounou, 2014-04-29 In Hollywood we hear it's all about the money It's a ready explanation for why so few black films get made no crossover appeal no promise of a big payoff But what if the money itself is color coded What if the economics that governs film production is so skewed that no film by about or for people of color will ever look like a worthy investment unless it follows specific racial or gender patterns This Monica Ndounou shows us is precisely the case In a work as revealing about the culture of filmmaking as it is about the distorted economics of African American film Ndounou clearly traces the insidious connections between history content and cash in black films How does history come into it Hollywood's reliance on past performance as a measure of potential success virtually guarantees that historically underrepresented underfunded and undersold African American films devalue the future prospects of black films So the cycle continues as it has for nearly a century Behind the scenes the numbers are far from neutral Analyzing the onscreen narratives and off screen circumstances behind nearly two thousand films featuring African Americans in leading and supporting roles including such recent productions as Bamboozled Beloved and Tyler Perry's Diary of a Mad Black Woman Ndounou exposes the cultural and racial constraints that limit not just the production but also the expression and creative freedom of black films Her wide ranging analysis reaches into questions of literature language speech and dialect film images and narrative acting theater and film business practices production history and financing and organizational history By uncovering the ideology behind profit driven industry practices that reshape narratives by about and for people of color this provocative work brings to light

Regester, 2010-06-14 Nine actresses from Madame Sul Te Wan in Birth of a Nation 1915 to Ethel Waters in Member of the Wedding 1952 are profiled in African American Actresses Charlene Regester poses questions about prevailing racial politics on screen and off screen identities and black stardom and white stardom She reveals how these women fought for their roles as well as what they compromised or didn't compromise Regester repositions these actresses to highlight their contributions to cinema in the first half of the 20th century taking an informed theoretical historical and critical approach Freedom Rights Danielle L. McGuire, John Dittmer, 2011-11-26 In his seminal article Freedom Then Freedom Now renowned civil rights historian Steven F. Lawson described his vision for the future study of the civil rights movement Lawson called for a deeper examination of the social economic and political factors that influenced the movement's development and growth He urged his fellow scholars to connect the local with the national the political with the social and to investigate the ideological origins of the civil rights movement its internal dynamics the role of women and the significance of gender and sexuality In Freedom Rights: New Perspectives on the Civil Rights Movement editors Danielle L. McGuire and John Dittmer follow Lawson's example bringing together the best new scholarship on the modern civil rights movement The work expands our understanding of the movement by engaging issues of local and national politics gender and race relations family community and sexuality The volume addresses cultural legal and social developments and also investigates the roots of the movement Each essay highlights important moments in the history of the struggle from the impact of the Young Women's Christian Association on integration to the use of the arts as a form of activism Freedom Rights not only answers Lawson's call for a more dynamic interactive history of the civil rights movement but it also helps redefine the field Shaded Canvas Isis I., 2007-10 The Blackwell Companion to Social Inequalities Mary Romero, Eric Margolis, 2008-04-15 The Blackwell Companion to Social Inequalities is a first rate collection of social science scholarship on inequalities emphasizing race ethnicity class gender sexuality age and nationality Highlights themes that represent the scope and range of theoretical orientations contemporary emphases and emerging topics in the field of social inequalities Gives special attention to debates in the field developing trends and directions and interdisciplinary influences in the study of social inequalities Includes an editorial introduction and suggestions for further reading
