Black Homeland Black Diaspora Cross Currents Of The African Relationship:

Black Homeland/Black Diaspora Jacob Drachler, 1975 Pan Africanism in the African Diaspora Ronald W. Walters, 1997 This groundbreaking volume analyzes important case studies of Black political movements since the 1960s and the impact of the movements on the African American community Previous studies on this subject have been largely historical in nature focusing on the thought of nineteenth century Pan Africanist or early twentieth century formal Pan African movements such as those led by W E B Du Bois and Marcus Garvey In this book Walters analyzes heretofore largely unaddressed cases in which African American societies forged connections with others in the Diaspora within the framework of significant political movements He applies social science theory to the analysis of the cases based on the proposition that Pan African studies a subject within the broad field of Africana Studies is itself very diverse and lends itself to analysis by an unlimited number of modern disciplinary approaches and perspectives Walters uses the tools of comparative politics for examining similar Black and white social institutions and organizations in the United States and other countries and for creating a tailored Pan African perspective as a criteria with which to describe the interactive relationships between the American Black community and Blacks in Britain South Africa Brazil and the Caribbean He fashions a unique and radically new perspective and model for addressing the age old question of the African continuum by advancing the notion that Pan Africanism can be about the struggle for community a struggle not incompatible with efforts to change the State His is a twenty first century view of race relations and classes in the post modern era of capitalism Pan Africanism in the African Diaspora is broadly a work of political science in that it is concerned with political phenomena and applies methods of analysis from that field Nevertheless it is also interdisciplinary in content perspective and analytical approach Walters new data transcends the notions previously put forth and forms a significant contribution to political theory in African and African American studies

Relations Between Africans and African Americans: Misconceptions, Myths and Realities Godfrey Mwakikagile, 2006 The author looks at relations between Africans and African Americans and how they see each other There are a lot of misconceptions which have an impact on how Africans and African Americans interact with the media playing a major role in perpetuating myths about both nies i niques New African Diasporas Khalid Koser, 2003-09-02 The extensive literature relating to the African diaspora has tended to concentrate on the descendants of those who left Africa as part of the slave trade to North America This important new book gathers together work on more recent waves of African migration from some of the most exciting thinkers on the contemporary diaspora Concentrating particularly on the last 20 years the contributions look to the United States and beyond to diaspora settlement in the UK and Northern Europe New African Diasporas looks at a range of different types of diaspora legal and illegal professional and low skilled asylum seekers and economic migrants and includes chapters on diasporic communities originating in Cote d'Ivoire Democratic Republic of Congo Eritrea Ghana Senegal and Somalia It also examines often neglected differences based on gender class and generation in the process This book will be essential reading for anyone with an interest in the African diaspora and provides the most wide ranging picture of the new African diaspora yet African Diasporas in the New and Old Worlds, 2021-11-01 In the humanities the term diaspora recently emerged as a promising and powerful heuristic concept It challenged traditional ways of thinking and invited reconsiderations of theoretical assumptions about the unfolding of cross cultural and multi ethnic societies about power relations frontiers and boundaries about cultural transmission communication and translation The present collection of essays by renowned writers and scholars addresses these issues and helps to ground the ongoing debate about the African diaspora in a more solid theoretical framework Part I is dedicated to a general discussion of the concept of African diaspora its origins and historical development Part II examines the complex cultural dimensions of African diasporas in relation to significant sites and figures including the modes and modalities of creative expression from the perspective of both artists writers and their audiences finally Part III focusses on the resources collections and archives and iconographies that are available today As most authors argue the African diaspora should not be seen merely as a historical phenomenon but also as an idea or ideology and an object of representation By exploring this new ground the essays assembled here provide important new insights for scholars in American and African American Studies Cultural Studies Ethnic Studies and African Studies The collection is rounded off by an annotated listing of black autobiographies The African Diaspora Toyin Falola, 2013 The African diaspora is arguably the most important event in modern African history From the fifteenth century to the present millions of Africans have been dispersed many of them forcibly others driven by economic need or political persecution to other continents creating large communities with African origins living outside their native lands The majority of these communities are in North America This historic displacement has meant that Africans are irrevocably connected to economic and political developments in the West and globally Among the known legacies of the diaspora are slavery colonialism racism poverty and underdevelopment yet the ways in which these same factors worked to spur the scattering of Africans are not fully understood by those who were part of this migration or by scholars historians and policymakers In this definitive study of the diaspora in North America Toyin Falola offers a causal history of the western dispersion of Africans and its effects on the modern world Reengaging old and familiar debates and framing new ones that enrich the discourse surrounding Africa Falola isolates the thread running nearly six centuries that connects the history of slavery the transatlantic slave trade and current migrations A boon to scholars and policymakers and accessible to the general reader the book explores diverse narratives of migration and shows that the cultures that migrated from Africa to the Americas have the capacity to unite and create a new pan Africanist movement within the globalized world Toyin Falola is the Jacob and Frances Sanger Mossiker Chair in the Humanities and University Distinguished Teaching Professor at the University of Texas at Austin He is the 2011 recipient of the Distinguished Africanist Award from the African Studies Association and serves as the vice president of the International Scientific Committee of the UNESCO Slave Route Project His previous books published by the University of Rochester Press include The Power of African Cultures and Nationalism and African Intellectuals
