British Cinema, Past and Present Justine Ashby, Andrew Higson, 2013-05-13 British Cinema Past and Present responds to the commercial and critical success of British film in the 1990s. Providing a historical perspective to the contemporary resurgence of British cinema, this unique anthology brings together leading international scholars to investigate the rich diversity of British film production from the early sound period of the 1930s to the present day. The contributors address British Cinema Studies and the concept of national cinema, the distribution and reception of British films in the US and Europe, key genres, movements and cycles of British cinema in the 1940s, 50s and 60s, questions of authorship and agency with case studies of individual studios, stars, producers and directors, trends in British cinema from propaganda films of the Second World War to the New Wave and the Swinging London films of the Sixties, the representation of marginalised communities in films such as Trainspotting and The Full Monty, the evolution of social realism from Saturday Night Sunday Morning to Nil By Mouth, changing approaches to Northern Ireland and the Troubles in films like The Long Good Friday and Alan Clarke's Elephant, contemporary art and quality cinema from heritage drama to the work of Peter Greenaway, Derek Jarman, Terence Davies and Patrick Keiller. The Cinema of Britain and Ireland Brian McFarlane, 2005 A fresh, concise but wide-ranging introduction to and overview of British and Irish cinema, this volume contains 24 essays, each on a separate seminal film from the region. Films under discussion include Pink String and Sealing Wax, Room at the Top, The Italian Job, Orlando and Sweet Sixteen. Companion to Contemporary Black British Culture Alison Donnell, 2002-09-11 The Companion to Contemporary Black British Culture is the first comprehensive reference book to provide multidisciplinary coverage of the field of black cultural production in Britain. The publication is of particular value because despite attracting growing academic interest in recent years this field is still often subject to critical and institutional neglect. For the purpose of the Companion the term black is used to signify African Caribbean and South Asian ethnicities while at the same time addressing the debates concerning notions of black Britishness and cultural identity. This single volume Companion covers seven intersecting areas of black British cultural production since 1970: writing, music, visual and plastic arts, performance, works, film and cinema, fashion and design, and intellectual life. With entries on distinguished practitioners, key intellectuals, seminal organizations and concepts as well as popular cultural forms and local activities, the Companion is packed with information and suggestions for further reading as well as offering a wide lens on the events and issues that have shaped the cultural interactions and productions of black Britain over the last thirty years. With a range of specialist advisors and contributors, this work promises to be an invaluable sourcebook for students, researchers and academics interested in exploring the diverse, complex and exciting field of black cultural forms in postcolonial Britain.

British Historical Cinema Claire Monk, Amy Sargeant, 2015-01-28. Films recreating or addressing the past—recent or distant, actual or imagined—have been a mainstay of British cinema since the silent era. From Elizabeth to Carry On Up The Khyber and from the heritage film debate to issues of authenticity and questions of genre, British Historical Cinema explores the ways in which British films have represented the past on screen, the issues they raise, and the debates they have provoked. Discussing films from biopics to literary adaptations and from depictions of Britain's colonial past to the reimagining of recent decades in retro films such as Velvet Goldmine, a range of contributors ask whose history is being represented, from whose perspective, and why.

African American Entertainers in Australia and New Zealand Bill Egan, 2019-12-06. Eleven African Americans, including a musician, were among the First Fleet of colonial settlers to Australia. In the 150-plus following years, African Americans visiting the region included jubilee singers, vaudevillians, sports stars, and general entertainers. This book provides the only comprehensive history of more than 350 African American entertainers in Australia and New Zealand between European settlement in Australia in 1788 and the entry of the United States into World War II in 1941. Famous names covered include boxer Jack Johnson, film star Nina Mae McKinney, and jazz singer Eva Taylor. Background stories provide a multidimensional view of the entertainers' time in a place very far from home.

nation's lived experience than the traditional narratives of British theatre. Its approach is intra-national, weaving together the theatres and communities of England, Scotland, Wales, and Northern Ireland. The essays are organised thematically, arranged into sections that address nation, power and identity, fixity and mobility, bodies in performance, the materiality of theatre and communities of theatre. This approach highlights the synergies, convergences and divergences of the theatre landscape in Britain during this period, giving a sense of the sheer variety of performance that was taking place at any given moment in time. This is a fascinating and indispensable resource for undergraduate and graduate students, postgraduate researchers and scholars across theatre and performance studies, cultural studies and twentieth-century history. The Routledge
