Anthropologists, Indigenous Scholars and the Research Endeavour Joy Hendry, Laara Fitznor, 2012-11-27 This collection offers the fruits of a stimulating workshop that sought to bridge the fraught relationship which sometimes continues between anthropologists and indigenous native aboriginal scholars despite areas of overlapping interest Participants from around the world share their views and opinions on subjects ranging from ideas for reconciliation the question of what might constitute a universal science indigenous heritage postcolonial museology the boundaries of the term indigeneity different senses as ways of knowing and the very issue of writing as a method of dissemination that divides and excludes readers from different backgrounds This book represents a landmark step in the process of replacing bridges with more equal patterns of intercultural cooperation and communication

Unsettling Colonial Automobilities Thalia Anthony, Juanita Sherwood, Harry Blagg, Kieran Tranter, 2023-12-14 Exploring the vehicle's role in imposing colonialism on Indigenous people this book proposes an Indigenous automobility that reclaims sovereignty over place and centrality

How We Got to Black Lives Matter William Napier, 2020-07-28 Revisionist history vote buying politics bad social policy and the misguided actions of leftist miscreants and institutions have over time coalesced within the United States to form a unifying con in which blacks in particular and more recently Hispanics and whites as well are now used as pawns by the political class to further its own nefarious pursuits Learn how slavery and the supposed vestiges thereof is used by leftists worldwide in a continuous assault on the United States a smear campaign that is as hollow as it is destructive How We Got to Black Lives Matter covers the early history of slavery around the world from the early colonial period the founding of the U S the antebellum period and the critical events that led to the Civil War The chains of slavery were finally broken with the passage of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 and the Voting Rights Act of 1965 but the benefits from this groundbreaking legislation never seemed to materialize Some of the later programs designed to improve the lives of the poor have instead helped lead to the creation of inner city hell holes in many of America's large urban centers Over the years certain anti poverty laws have had an opposite effect with the destruction of the black family and the emergence of inter generational welfare dependency runaway crime and other maladies Using the cudgel of racism and discrimination to repel any constructive ideas for reform has promoted the continuance of the dependent classes to ensure political favor at the voting booth This book will reveal how we got here along with some ways to get out

White Christ Black Cross Noel Loos, 2007 This book frames the Church of England's missionary outreach to Aboriginal people within the reality of frontier violence government control segregation and neglect As missionary control diminished Aboriginal people responded more overtly and autonomously Some regarded white Christianity as irrelevant while others adopted it in culturally satisfying ways Through the Australian Board of Missions ABM the Church of England sought to convert Aboriginal people into a Europeanized compliant sub caste The separation of children from their families was the first step The book also shows how the ABM found itself increasingly embroiled in emerging broader social issues and changing government policies requiring it to rethink its own policies

Human Rights and the Borders of Suffering Anne Brown, M. Anne Brown, 2013-07-19 This electronic version has been made available under a Creative Commons BY NC ND open access license This book argues for greater openness in the ways we approach human rights and international rights promotion and in so doing brings some new understanding to old debates Starting with the realities of abuse rather than the liberal architecture of rights it casts human rights as a language for probing the political dimensions of suffering Seen in this context the predominant Western models of rights generate a substantial but also problematic and not always emancipatory array of practices These models are far from answering the questions about the nature of political community that are raised by the systemic infliction of suffering Rather than a simple message from us to them then rights promotion is a long and difficult conversation about the relationship between political organisations and suffering Three case studies are explored the Tiananmen Square massacre East Timor's violent modern history and the circumstances of indigenous Australians The purpose of these discussions is not to elaborate on a new theory of rights but to work towards rights practices that are more responsive to the spectrum of injury that we inflict and endure The book is a valuable and innovative contribution to rights debates for students of international politics political theory and conflict resolution as well as for those engaged in the pursuit of human rights

Indigenous Participation in Australian Economies II Natasha Fijn, Ian Keen, Christopher Lloyd, Michael Pickering, 2012-07-01 This volume arises out of a conference in Canberra on Indigenous Participation in Australian Economies at the National Museum of Australia on 9-10 November 2009 which attracted more than thirty presenters

Colonialism Is Crime Marianne Nielsen, Linda M. Robyn, 2019-09-20 There is powerful evidence that the colonization of Indigenous people was and is a crime and that that crime is on going Achieving historical colonial goals often meant committing acts that were criminal even at the time The consequences of this oppression and criminal victimization is perhaps the critical factor explaining why Indigenous people today are overrepresented as victims and offenders in the settler colonist criminal justice systems This book presents an analysis of the relationship between these colonial crimes and their continuing criminal and social consequences that exist today The authors focus primarily on countries colonized by Britain especially the United States Social harm theory human rights covenants and law are used to explain the criminal aspects of the historical laws and their continued effects The final chapter looks at the responsibilities of settler colonists in ameliorating these harms and the actions currently being taken by Indigenous people themselves

Work and Strife in Paradise Bradley Bowden, 2009 From Queensland's inception as a self governing colony in December 1859 the issue of labour relations has preoccupied governments and shaped the experiences of its working men and women However despite the often turbulent nature of labour relations in Queensland there has prior to this book been no attempt to provide an overview of the system as a whole This important addition to

Queensland's sesquicentenary celebrations redresses this failure looking at the diverse range of experiences that together made up a unique system of labour relations including those of employers women workers indigenous workers unions the Queensland Industrial Relations Commission labour law industrial disputation the workings of health and safety system and life in regional areas It is argued that overall Queensland's system of industrial regulation was central to its economic and social development Despite past emphasis on the large scale strikes that periodically raked the state this book finds that consensus normally prevailed

Indigenous Peoples Svein Jentoft, Henry Minde, Ragnar Nilsen, 2003 Since the Rio Earth Summit in 1992 a legal process within the auspices of the UN has been underway that may help indigenous peoples to sustain their natural environment industries and cultures This book addresses some of the legal political and institutional implications of those processes

Truth, Lies and Control Michael A. Letts, 2024-10-29 Truth Lies and Control offers a penetrating analysis of the current societal chaos and the erosion of values once held sacred The world and the nation are in a state of turmoil a fact evident even to those with minimal or no faith While it's easy to point fingers at the mainstream media anarchists racists socialists and other perceived culprits Truth Lies and Control delves deeper examining the emotional impact of witnessing the gradual collapse of values that previous generations fought to secure and uphold The narrative acknowledges the rapid deterioration of the values a decline more severe than many could have anticipated Letts identifies key factors contributing to America's downward spiral tracing their origins and highlighting their profound effects on individuals and institutions These factors range from the radicalization of politics and education systems to the rise of extremist ideologies that challenge the core principles upon which America was built Truth Lies and Control is a call to action for citizens concerned about America's moral freefall It urges individuals to break free from passivity and engage in the battle that has arrived at their doorsteps With a focus on reviving the truth it encourages everyone to be vigilant in this battleground of ideas It emphasizes the importance of understanding the issues speaking up boldly and defending moral truths that protect children communities and personal values

Fozdar, Kirsten McGavin, 2016-12-08 This volume offers a southern Pacific Ocean perspective on the topic of racial hybridity exploring it through a series of case studies from around the Australo Pacific region a region unique as a result of its very particular colonial histories Focusing on the interaction between race and culture especially in terms of visibility and self defined identity and the particular characteristics of political cultural and social formations in the countries of this region the book explores the complexity of the lived mixed race experience the structural forces of particular colonial and post colonial environments and political regimes and historical influences on contemporary identities and cultural expressions of mixed ness In Lies We Trust Ed Brodow, 2016-09-27 What politicians and the media don't want you to know Millions of Americans at both ends of the political spectrum are angry and fed up with being lied to by politicians and the media The emergence of outsider presidential candidates Donald Trump and Bernie Sanders is proof that people are sick and tired of Washington's culture of deception Thumbing his nose at political correctness negotiation expert and political commentator Ed Brodow exposes the outrageous lies that have been disseminated about the most important issues of our time He tells the uncensored truth about the threat of Islamic extremism global warming the welfare entitlement system Obamacare racial tension and other important things that our elected representatives don't want you to know. If you vote in national elections the candor of In Lies We Trust will help you make decisions based on facts instead of misinformation. The Indigenous World 2005 Diana Vinding, Sille Stidsen, 2005. The Indigenous World 2005 gives an overview of crucial developments in 2004 that have impacted on the indigenous peoples of the world. BOOK JACKET Aboriginal Women's Narratives Nadja Zierott, 2005. Due to widespread geographical and cultural displacement Australian Aboriginal people have experienced the destruction of their identity. This identity is traditionally closely linked to the land and the people so that Aborigines feel an intense longing to rediscover their roots and reclaim their identity. In order to do this they need to individually reconstruct their past for instance by writing down their life stories. Thus Aboriginal women like Ruby Langford Ginibi have embarked on a process of reconnecting with their roots through the medium of autobiography. In discussing three of these autobiographies this book examines the role of autobiographical narrative in the process of Australian Aboriginal women reclaiming their identity. White Mother to a Dark Race Margaret D. Jacobs, 2009-07-01. In the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries indigenous communities in the United States and Australia suffered a common experience at the hands of state authorities: the removal of their children to institutions in the name of assimilating American Indians and protecting Aboriginal people. Although officially characterized as benevolent these government policies often inflicted great trauma on indigenous families and ultimately served the settler nations' larger goals of consolidating control over indigenous peoples and their lands. White Mother to a Dark Race takes the study of indigenous education and acculturation in new directions in its examination of the key roles white women played in these policies of indigenous child removal. Government officials, missionaries and reformers justified the removal of indigenous children in particularly gendered ways by focusing on the supposed deficiencies of indigenous mothers, the alleged barbarity of indigenous men and the lack of a patriarchal nuclear family. Often they deemed white women the most appropriate agents to carry out these child removal policies. Inspired by the maternalist movement of the era many white women were eager to serve as surrogate mothers to indigenous children and maneuvered to influence public policy affecting indigenous people. Although some white women developed caring relationships with indigenous children and others became critical of government policies many became hopelessly ensnared in this insidious colonial policy.

Resourceful Reading Katherine Bode, Professor Robert Dixon, 2010-01-11. This collection provides the first comprehensive account of eResearch and the new empiricism as they are transforming the field of Australian literary studies in the twenty-first century. State Crime and Resistance Elizabeth Stanley, Jude McCulloch, 2012-11-27. Within criminology the state is often ignored as an active participant or represented as a neutral force. While state crime studies have proliferated criminologists have not paid attention to the history and impact of resistance to state crime. This book recognises that crimes of the state are far more serious and harmful than crimes committed by individuals and considers how such crimes may be contested, prevented, challenged or stopped. Gathering together key scholars from the UK, USA, Asia, Australia and New Zealand this book offers a deepened understanding of state crime through the practical and analytical lens of resistance This book focuses on crimes ranging from gross violations of human rights such as genocide war crimes mass killings summary executions torture harsh detention and rape during war to entrenched discrimination unjust social policies border controls corruption fraud resource plunder and the failure to provide the regulatory environment and principled leadership necessary to deal with global warming As the first to focus on state crime and resistance this collection inspires new questions as it maps the contours of previously unexplored territory It is aimed at students and academics researching state crimes resistance human rights and social movements It is also essential reading for all those interested in joining the struggles to champion ways of living that value humanity and justice over power
