Black Politicians:

Black Politicians and Reconstruction in Georgia Edmund L. Drago, 1992 This widely hailed study examines the reasons behind the quick demise of Radical Reconstruction in Georgia Edmund L Drago shows that a primary factor was ironically the extraordinary fairness on the part of the state's black leaders in dealing with their former masters Lacking the sizable and experienced antebellum free black class that existed in such states as South Carolina and Louisiana Georgia's former slaves turned to their ministers for political leadership Otherworldly and fatalistic the ministers preached a message in which all people even slaveholders were deserving of God's mercy Translated into politics this message quickly and predictably brought disaster Shortly after the black delegation to the state constitutional convention of 1867 1868 refused to support a provision guaranteeing blacks the right to hold office blacks were expelled from the state legislature Only then did the minister politicians realize that they would have to become more militant and black oriented if they were to challenge white supremacy Propelled by this newfound toughness they were soon able to achieve a limited success by bringing about the Second Reconstruction of Georgia In the preface to this new edition Drago surveys recent writing on Reconstruction and drawing upon his own research on black leadership in South Carolina compares experiences in that state to those in Georgia It is time he says to give greater consideration to the role black women played in shaping politics and to the emergence of a black conservative political tradition He also suggests that revisionists in reacting to the racism in traditional histories have sometimes glossed over issues of corruption and the black politician

Black Politics Today Theodore J. Davis Jr., 2013-06-17 The late 1980s ushered in a new era of black politics the socioeconomic transition era Coming on the heels of the protest era and politics era the current stage is characterized by the emergence of a new black middle class that came of age after the Civil Rights struggle Although class still isn't a strong factor in the external politics of the black community it is increasingly a wedge issue in the community's internal politics Black politics today is increasingly less about the interest of the larger group and more about the interest of smaller subgroups within the community Theodore J Davis Jr argues that the greatest threat to the social and political cohesiveness of the so called black community may be the rise of a socially and economically privileged group among the ranks of black America This rift has affected blacks ability to organize effectively and influence politics Davis traces the changes in economic status public opinion political power and participation and leadership over three generations of black politics The result is an insightful analysis of black politics today establishment Black Political Activism and the Cuban Republic Melina Pappademos, 2011-09-19 While it was not until 1871 that slavery in Cuba was finally abolished African descended people had high hopes for legal social and economic advancement as the republican period started In Black Political Activism and the Cuban Republic Melina Pappademos analyzes the racial politics and culture of black civic and political activists during the Cuban Republic The path to equality Pappademos reveals was often stymied by successive political and economic crises patronage politics and profound racial tensions In the face of these issues black political leaders and members of black social clubs developed strategies for expanding their political authority and for winning respectability and socioeconomic resources Rather than appeal to a monolithic black Cuban identity based on the assumption of shared experience these black activists politicians and public intellectuals consistently recognized the class cultural and ideological differences that existed within the black community thus challenging conventional wisdom about black community formation and anachronistic ideas of racial solidarity Pappademos illuminates the central yet often silenced intellectual and cultural role of black Cubans in the formation of the nation's political structures in doing so she shows that black activism was only partially motivated by race Contours of African American Politics Georgia A. Persons, 2014-03-31 Contours of African American Politics chronicles the systematic study of African American politics and its subsequent recognition as an established field of scholarly inquiry African American politics emanates from the demands of the prolonged struggle for black liberation and empowerment Hence the study of African American politics has sought to track codify and analyze the struggle that has been mounted and to understand the historic and changing political status of African Americans within American society The notion of a post racial America is one that was birthed by the election of Barack Obama as the first African American president of the United States However another reality is equally compelling that for some time now many African American aspirants for elective office have run against race specific issues putting individual desires to win office above the conventionally defined collective interests of black folk Clearly the Obama presidential election crystallized a complexity of change that had been underway in America prior to his election Indeed did the Obama election signal the end of black politics Does race remain a useful construct for framing the collective interests of African Americans Volume III of Contours of African American Politics examines all of these questions in an effort to understand the more poignant question of the future of that which we have known as black politics Ethnic Politics and Civil Liberties Lucius Jefferson Barker, 1992-01-01 The official publication of the National Conference of Black Political Scientists this annual publication includes significant scholarly research reflecting the diverse interests of scholars from various backgrounds who use a variety of models approaches and methodologies The central focus is on politics and policies that advantage or disadvantage groups because of race ethnicity sex or other such factors The research is performed in a variety of contexts and settings This third volume includes an introductory note by the editor Lucius J Barker in which he assesses the performance of the Journal in defining a different

Black Mayors, White Majorities Ravi K. Perry, 2022-07-19 Recent years have seen an increase in the number of African Americans elected to political office in cities where the majority of their constituents are not black In the past the leadership of black politicians was characterized as either deracialized or racialized that is as either focusing on politics that transcend race or as making black issues central to their agenda Today many African American politicians elected to offices in non majority black cities are adopting a strategy that universalizes black interests as intrinsically relevant to the needs of their entire constituency In Black Mayors White Majorities Ravi K Perry explores the conditions in which black mayors of majority white cities are able to represent black interests and whether blacks historically high expectations for black mayors are being realized Perry uses Toledo and Dayton Ohio as case studies and his analysis draws on interviews with mayors and other city officials business leaders and heads of civic organizations in addition to official city and campaign documents and newspapers Perry also analyzes mayoral speeches the 2001 ward level election results and city demographics Black Mayors White Majorities encourages readers to think beyond the black white dyad and instead to envision policies that can serve constituencies with the greatest needs as well as the general public

Ronald W. Walters and the Fight for Black Power, 1969-2010 Robert C. Smith,2018-02-08 From his leadership of the first modern lunch counter sit ins at age twenty to his work on African American reparations at the time of his death at age seventy two Ronald W Walters 1938 2010 was at the cutting edge of African American politics A preeminent scholar activist and media commentator he was founding chair of the Black Studies Department at Brandeis where he shaped the epistemological parameters of the new discipline Walters was an early strategist of congressional black power and a longtime advocate of a black presidential candidacy His writings on the politics of race in America both predicted the constraints on President Obama in advancing African American interests and anticipated the emergence of the white nationalism found in
