Directions Home George Elliott Clarke, 2012-01-01 Directions Home explores the trajectories and tendencies of African Canadian literature within the Canadian canon and the socio cultural traditions of the African Diaspora Magistrates, Police and People Donald Fyson, Osgoode Society for Canadian Legal History, 2006-01-01 Based on extensive research in judicial and official sources Donald Fyson offers the first comprehensive study of the everyday workings of criminal justice in Quebec and Lower Canada Focusing on the justices of the peace and their police Fyson examines both the criminal justice system itself and the system in operation as experienced by those who participated in it Fyson contends that although the system was fundamentally biased its flexibility provided a source of power for ordinary citizens At the same time the system offered the colonial state and its elites a powerful though often faulty means of imposing their will on Quebec society This study will challenge many received historical interpretations providing new insight into criminal justice in early Quebec

Done with Slavery Frank Mackey, 2010 A study of the black experience in Montreal Emancipation Day Natasha L.

Henry-Dixon,2010-07-12 When the passage of the Abolition of Slavery Act effective August 1 1834 ushered in the end of slavery throughout the British Empire people of the African descent celebrated their newfound freedom Now African American fugitive slaves free black immigrants and the few remaining enslaved Africans could live unfettered live in Canada a reality worthy of celebration This new well researched book provides insight into the creation development and evolution of a distinct African Canadian tradition through descriptive historical accounts and appealing images The social cultural political and educational practices of Emancipation Day festivities across Canada are explored with emphasis on Ontario Nova Scotia New Brunswick Quebec and British Columbia Emancipation is not only a word in the dictionary but an action to liberate one's destiny This outstanding book is superb in the interpretation of the power of freedom in one's heart and mind moving from 1834 to present Dr Henry Bishop Black Cultural Centre Dartmouth Nova Scotia Catholics and Violence in the Nineteenth-Century Global World Eveline Bouwers,2023-07-12 This book analyzes violence involving Catholics in the nineteenth century world revealing the motives for violence showing the link between religious and secular grievances and illuminating Catholic pluralism Catholics and Violence in the Nineteenth Century Global World is the first study to systematically analyze the link between faith and violent action in modern history Focusing on incidents involving members of the Roman Catholic Church across the globe the book offers a kaleidoscopic overview of situations in which physical or symbolic violence attended inner Catholic Catholic secular and interreligious conflicts Focusing especially on the role of agency the authors explore the motives behind perceptions of and legitimization strategies for religion related violence as well as evaluating debates about conflict and discussing the role of religious leadership in violent incidents Additionally they illuminate the complex ways in which religious grievances interacted with secular differences and highlight the plurality of Catholic standpoints In doing so the book brings to light the variety of ways in which religion and violence have interacted historically Showing that the link between faith and violence was more nuanced than theoreticians of religious violence suggest the book will appeal to historians social scientists and religious scholars Ebony Roots, Northern Soil Charmaine A. Nelson,2010-10-12 Ebony Roots Northern Soil is a powerful and timely collection of critical essays exploring the experiences histories and cultural engagements of black Canadians Drawing from postcolonial critical race and black feminist theory this innovative anthology brings together an extraordinary set of well recognized and new scholars engaging in the critical debates about the cultural politics of identity and issues of cultural access representation production and reception Emerging from a national conference in 2005 the book records critiques and yet transcends this groundbreaking event Drawn from a range of disciplines including Art History Communication Studies Cultural Studies Education English History and Sociology the chapters examine black contributions to and participation within the realms of popular music television and film the art world museums academia and social activism In the process the burning issues of access to cultural capital the practice of multiculturalism definitions of black Canadianness and the state of Black Canadian Studies are dissected Attentive to issues of sexuality and gender as well as race the book also explores and challenges the dominance of black Americanness in Canada especially in its incarnation as hip hop Acknowledging a differently constituted and heterogeneous black Canadianness it contemplates the possibility of an identity in dialogue with and yet distinct from dominant ideals of African Americanness Ebony Roots also explores the deficit in Black Canadian Studies across the nation s universities drawing a line between the neglect of black Canadian populations histories and experiences in general and the resulting lack of an academic disciplinary infrastructure Poignant blends of the personal and the political the chapters are both scholarly in their critical insights and rigour and daring in their honesty Ebony Roots defiantly foregrounds the often disavowed issues of institutional racism against blacks in Canadian academia education and cultural institutions as well as the injurious effects of everyday racism In so doing the book challenges the myth of Canada as a racially benevolent and tolerant state the great white north free from racism and the legacy of colonialism Instead the very definitions of Canada and black Canadianness are unpacked and explored Ebony Roots is a necessary history lesson a contemporary cultural debate and a call to action It is a momentous and overdue contribution to Black Canadian Studies and a must read for academics students and the general public alike

Talking About Freedom Natasha L. Henry-Dixon, 2012-01-07 Discover the main features of Emancipation Day celebrations learn about the people of African ancestry s struggle for freedom and the victories achieved in the push for equality into the 21st century On August 1 1834 800 000 enslaved Africans in the British colonies including Canada were declared free The story of Emancipation Day a little known part of Canadian history has never been accessible to the teen reader through either the school curriculum or classroom resources despite its significance in the story of Canada Talking About Freedom closes this gap by exploring both the background to August 1 commemorations across Canada and the importance of these long established annual celebrations What is the connection between the Caribana festivities in Toronto and emancipation Why are some communities restoring Emancipation Day to their roster of annual events Talking About Freedom introduces a range of personalities and happenings through historical facts memorable personal recollections vivid images and detailed narratives Included are connections to the ongoing struggles of people of African ancestry as they seek to achieve equality with insightful links woven across the past present and future

Critical Collaborations Smaro Kamboureli, Christl Verduyn, 2014-05-28 Critical Collaborations Indigeneity Diaspora and Ecology in Canadian Literary Studies is the third volume of essays produced as part of the TransCanada conferences project The essays gathered in Critical Collaborations constitute a call for collaboration and kinship across disciplinary political institutional and community borders They are tied together through a simultaneous call for resistance to Eurocentrism corporatization rationalism and the fantasy of total systems of knowledge and a call for critical collaborations These collaborations seek to forge connections without perceived identity linking concepts and communities without violating the differences that constitute them seeking epistemic kinships while maintaining a willingness to not know In this way they form a critical conversation between seemingly distinct areas and demonstrate fundamental allegiances between diasporic and indigenous scholarship transnational and local knowledges legal and eco critical methodologies Links are forged between Indigenous knowledge and ecological and social justice creative critical reading and ambidextrous epistemologies unmaking the nation through translocalism and unsettling histories of colonial complicity through a poetics of relation Together these essays reveal how the critical methodologies brought to bear on literary studies can both challenge and exceed disciplinary structures presenting new forms of strategic transdisciplinarity that expand the possibilities of Canadian literary studies while also emphasizing humility complicity and the limits of knowledge      The Textual Effects of David Walker's "Appeal"

Marcy J. Dinius, 2022-04-05 Historians and literary historians alike recognize David Walker's Appeal to the Coloured Citizens of the World 1829 1830 as one of the most politically radical and consequential antislavery texts ever published yet the pamphlet's significant impact on North American nineteenth century print based activism has gone under examined In The Textual Effects of David Walker's Appeal Marcy J. Dinius offers the first in depth analysis of Walker's argumentatively and typographically radical pamphlet and its direct influence on five Black and Indigenous activist authors Maria W. Stewart William A. Pess William Paul Quinn Henry Highland Garnet and Paola Brown and the pamphlets that they wrote and published in the United States and Canada between 1831 and 1851 She also examines how Walker's Appeal exerted a powerful and lasting influence on William Lloyd Garrison's Liberator and other publications by White antislavery activists Dinius contends that scholars have neglected the positive transnational and transformative effects of Walker's Appeal on print based political activism and literary and book history that is its primarily textual effects due to an enduringly narrow focus on the violence that the pamphlet may have occasioned She offers as an alternative a broadened view of activism and resistance that centers the works of Walker Stewart A. Pess Quinn Garnet and Brown within an exploration of radical forms of authorship publication civic participation and resistance In doing so she has written a major contribution to African American literary studies and the history of the book in antebellum America      The Oxford Handbook of the African American Slave Narrative John Ernest, 2014 Given the rise of new interdisciplinary and methodological approaches to African American and Black Atlantic studies The Oxford Handbook of the African American Slave Narrative will offer a fresh wide ranging assessment of this major American literary genre The volume will begin with articles that consider the fundamental concerns of gender sexuality community and the Christian ethos of suffering and redemption that are central to any understanding of slave narratives The chapters that follow will interrogate the various agendas behind the production of both pre and post Emancipation narratives and take up the various interpretive problems they pose Strategic omissions and veiled gestures were often necessary in these life accounts as they revealed disturbing too painful truths far beyond what white audiences were prepared to hear While touching upon the familiar canonical autobiographies of Frederick Douglass and Harriet Jacobs the Handbook will pay more attention to the under studied narratives of Josiah Henson Sojourner Truth William Grimes

Henry Box Brown and other often overlooked accounts In addition to the literary autobiographies of bondage the volume will anatomize the powerful WPA recordings of interviews with former slaves during the late 1930s With essays on the genre s imaginative afterlife its final essays will chart the emergence and development of neoslave narratives most notably in Styron s The Confessions of Nat Turner Toni Morrisons s Beloved and Octavia Butler s provocative science fiction novel Kindred In short the Handbook will provide a long overdue assessment of the state of the genre and the vital scholarship that continues to grow around it work that is offering some of the most provocative analysis emerging out of the literary studies discipline as a whole

A Quaker's Tour of the Colonial Northeast and Canada Jack Campisi, William A. Starna, 2014-01-01 A study of the travel journals of Philadelphia Quaker Jabez Maud Fisher this book brings to light an important but largely unknown text from the Revolutionary era Fisher traveled to upstate New York through parts of Canada then New England in the late spring through early fall of 1773 The British colonies of North America were alive with the disquieting voices of rebellion In keeping with what was apparently a family tradition of keeping journals of their travels Fisher recorded his observations and escapades in a day journal leaving a chronicle of life at a very auspicious time in American history He provides rare observations of pre Revolutionary times and his commentary is illuminating and colorful Illustrations

Fear of a Black Nation David Austin, 2013-05-27 In the 1960s for at least a brief moment Montreal became what seemed an unlikely centre of Black Power and the Caribbean left In October 1968 the Congress of Black Writers at McGill University brought together well known Black thinkers and activists from Canada the United States Africa and the Caribbean people like C L R James Stokely Carmichael Miriam Makeba Rocky Jones and Walter Rodney Within months of the Congress a Black led protest at Sir George Williams University now Concordia exploded on the front pages of newspapers across the country raising state security fears about Montreal as the new hotbed of international Black radical politics
