Black Venus Sexualized Savages Primal Fears And Primitive Narratives In French:

Black Venus T. Denean Sharpley-Whiting, 1999-05-19 Explores the treatment and image of the black female or Black Venus as seen in early 19th French literature

Black Venus 2010 Deborah Willis, 2010-01-08 Analyzing contemporaneous and contemporary works that re imagine the Hottentot Venus

Vénus Noire Robin Mitchell, 2020-02-15 Even though there were relatively few people of color in postrevolutionary France images of and discussions about black women in particular appeared repeatedly in a variety of French cultural sectors and social milieus In Venus Noire Robin Mitchell shows how these literary and visual depictions of black women helped to shape the country's postrevolutionary national identity particularly in response to the trauma of the French defeat in the Haitian Revolution Venus Noire explores the ramifications of this defeat in examining visual and literary representations of three black women who achieved fame in the years that followed Sarah Baartmann popularly known as the Hottentot Venus represented distorted memories of Haiti in the French imagination and Mitchell shows how her display treatment and representation embodied residual anger harbored by the French Ourika a young Senegalese girl brought to live in France by the Mar ch'al Prince de Beauvau inspired plays poems and clothing and jewelry fads and Mitchell examines how the French appropriated black female identity through these representations while at the same time perpetuating stereotypes of the hypersexual black woman Finally Mitchell shows how demonization of Jeanne Duval longtime lover of the poet Charles Baudelaire expressed France's need to rid itself of black bodies even as images and discourses about these bodies proliferated The stories of these women carefully contextualized by Mitchell and put into dialogue with one another reveal a blind spot about race in French national identity that persists in the postcolonial present

Decolonizing the Republic Félix F. Germain, 2016-07-01 Decolonizing the Republic is a conscientious discussion of the African diaspora in Paris in the post World War II period This book is the first to examine the intersection of black activism and the migration of Caribbeans and Africans to Paris during this era and as Patrick Manning notes in the foreword successfully shows how black Parisians in their daily labors weekend celebrations and periodic protests opened the way to decolonizing the Republic advancing the respect for their rights as citizens Contrasted to earlier works focusing on the black intellectual elite Decolonizing the Republic maps the formation of a working class black France Readers will better comprehend how those peoples of African descent who settled in France and fought to improve their socioeconomic conditions changed the French perception of Caribbean and African identity laying the foundation for contemporary black activists to deploy a new politics of social inclusion across the demographics of race class gender and nationality This book complicates conventional understandings of decolonization and in doing so opens a new and much needed chapter in the history of the black Atlantic

The Anatomy of Blackness Andrew S. Curran, 2011-09-19 This volume examines the Enlightenment era textualization of the Black African in European thought Andrew S Curran rewrites the history of blackness by replicating the practices of eighteenth century readers Surveying French and European travelogues natural histories works of anatomy pro and anti slavery tracts philosophical treatises and literary texts Curran shows how naturalists and philosophes drew from travel literature to discuss the perceived problem of human blackness within the nascent human sciences He also describes how a number of now forgotten anatomists revolutionized the era's understanding of black Africans and charts the shift of the slavery debate from the moral mercantile and theological realms toward that of the black body itself In tracing this evolution he shows how blackness changed from a mere descriptor in earlier periods into a thing to be measured dissected handled and often brutalized A definitive statement on the complex painful and richly revealing topic of how the major figures of the French Enlightenment reacted to the enslavement of black Africans often to their discredit The fields of race studies and of Enlightenment studies are more than ready to embrace the type of analysis in which Curran engages and all the more so in that his book is beautifully written and illustrated Symposium This is an important contribution to an important topic But it is also a model of how intellectual history should be done New Books in History The breadth of Andrew Curran's knowledge about the Enlightenment is astonishing The book makes the convincing point not only that Africa is a major focus in the Enlightenment's imagination but also that natural history and anthropology are central to understanding not only its scientific agenda but also its humanitarian politics Centaurus Curran's Francotopism and medical background enable him to develop insights that should prove important to the ongoing transnationalization and discipline blurring of literary and cultural studies Interdisciplinary Studies in Literature and Environment Curran's ability to dissect and explain complicated arguments of the period's major thinkers is impressive Choice The Color of Liberty Sue Peabody, Tyler Stovall, 2003-06-30 Traces the multiple histories of race and racial thinking over time in France and in Francophone areas of the globe Theater and Integrity Larry D. Bouchard, 2011-08-31 Four decades ago Tom F Driver brought theater into discussion with religion and modern theology It has been a rich ongoing dialogue but one that now demands a bold new engagement In Theater and Integrity Larry D Bouchard argues that while the antitheatrical prejudice regards theater as epitomizing the absence of integrity theater's ways of being realized in ensembles texts and performances allow us to reenvision integrity's emergence and ephemeral presence This book follows such questions across theatrical philosophical and theological studies of moral personal bodily and kenotic patterns of integrity It locates ambiguities in our discourse about integrity and it delves into conceptions of identity morality selfhood and otherness Its explorations ask if integrity is less a quality we might possess than a contingent gift that may appear disappear and perhaps reappear Not only does he chart anew the ethical and religious dimensions of integrity but he also reads closely across the history of theater from Greek and Shakespearean drama to the likes of Seamus Heaney T S Eliot Caryl Churchill Wole Soyinka Tony Kushner and Suzan Lori Parks His is an approach of juxtaposition and reflection starting from the perennial observation that theater both criticizes and acknowledges dimensions of drama and theatricality in life America in the French Imaginary, 1789 -1914 Diana R. Hallman, César A. Leal, 2022 Just as America was observed in French literary and political commentary we find representations of America in French music dance and theatre which serve as the focus of this volume Following the American Revolution French authors often viewed the United States as a laboratory for the forging of new practices of liberty and equality in affinity with France's own Revolutionary ideals but in competition with lingering anti American depictions of an inferior untamed New World The volume examines French imagining of America through musical theatrical portrayals of the American Revolution and Republic soundscapes of the Statue of Liberty homages to Washington Franklin and Lafayette and negotiations of Francophone identity in New Orleans The subject of race features prominently in paradoxical depictions of slavery freedom and revolution in the United States and French Caribbean colonies of America and in varied interpretations of American music and gendered identity Essays consider French constructions of the Indigenous American and Black American exotic that intersect with tropes of noble pastoral savagery menacing barbarism and the civilising potency of French culture Such French constructions reveal both a revulsion of racial alterity and an attraction to the expressive even subversive freedom of Americanness Investigations of French conceptions of America extend to critiques of American orchestral music Gottschalk's Louisianan Caribbean Creole works Buffalo Bill's spectacles and the cakewalk in Paris With scholarly contributions on music dance theatre and opera the volume will be essential reading for students and scholars of these disciplines

White, Denean T. Sharpley-Whiting, 1997-08-29 Women of color remain arguably the most economically politically and socially marginalized group in the United States and the Third World In Spoils of War a diverse group of distinguished contributors suggest that acts of aggression resulting from the racism and sexism inherent in social institutions can be viewed as a sort of war experienced daily by women of color The Colonial Comedy Jennifer Yee, 2016 Bridging the gap between postcolonial theory and nineteenth century literary studies The Colonial Comedy renews our vision of key authors of realist canon including Balzac Flaubert Zola and Maupassant The Colonization of Psychic Space Kelly Oliver, 2004 Oliver philosophy Vanderbilt U does not attempt to apply psychoanalysis to oppression Rather she transforms psychoanalytic concepts such as alienation melancholy and shame into social concepts by developing a psychoanalytic theory based on a notion of the individual or psyche that is thoroughly social The psyche and the social world are so Disorienting Vision Inge E. Boer, 2004 Boer provides close readings of philosophical and literary texts paintings prints and other artefacts of the French Orientalists tradition Her readings establish a dialogue with critical post colonial and feminist theory as well as art historical and literary scholarship Monstrous Intimacies Christina Sharpe, 2010-09-07 Arguing that the fundamental familiar sexual violence of slavery and racialized subjugation have continued to shape black and white subjectivities into the present Christina Sharpe interprets African diasporic and Black Atlantic visual and literary texts that address those monstrous intimacies and their repetition as constitutive of post slavery subjectivity Her illuminating readings juxtapose Frederick Douglass's narrative of witnessing the brutal beating of his Aunt Hester with Essie Mae Washington Williams's declaration of freedom in Dear Senator A Memoir by the Daughter of Strom Thurmond as well as the generational genital fantasies depicted in Gayl Jones's novel Corregidora with a firsthand account of such monstrous intimacies in the journals of an antebellum South Carolina senator slaveholder and vocal critic of miscegenation Sharpe explores the South African born writer Bessie Head's novel Maru about race power and liberation in Botswana in light of the history of the KhoiSan woman Saartje Baartman who was displayed in Europe as the Hottentot Venus in the nineteenth century Reading Isaac Julien s film The Attendant Sharpe takes up issues of representation slavery and the sadomasochism of everyday black life Her powerful meditation on intimacy subjection and subjectivity culminates in an analysis of Kara Walker s black silhouettes and the critiques leveled against both the silhouettes and the artist

At Home in Our Sounds Rachel Anne Gillett,2021 At Home in Our Sounds examines the ways Black artists reacted to the heightened visibility of racial difference in interwar Paris illustrating the effect jazz music had on the enormous social challenges Europe faced in the aftermath of World War I

The Libertine Colony Doris L Garraway,2005-07-08 Explores the founding discourses of race hybridity savagery and degeneracy in the seventeenth and eighteenth century French Caribbean in particular the way many of these discourses were used to describe French settlers

The Violence of Modernity Debarati Sanyal,2020-03-03 The Violence of Modernity turns to Charles Baudelaire one of the most canonical figures of literary modernism in order to reclaim an aesthetic legacy for ethical inquiry and historical critique Works of modern literature are commonly theorized as symptomatic responses to the trauma of history In a climate that tends to privilege crisis over critique Debarati Sanyal argues that it is urgent to rethink literary experience in terms that recall its contestatory potential Examining Baudelaire s poems afresh she shifts the focus of critical attention toward an account of modernism as an active engagement with violence specifically the violence of history in nineteenth century France Sanyal analyzes a literary current that uses the traditional hallmarks of modernism irony intertextuality self reflexivity and formalism to challenge the historical violence of modernity Baudelaire and the committed ironists writing in his wake teach us how to read and resist the violence of history and thereby to challenge the melancholy tenor of our contemporary wound culture In a series of provocative readings Sanyal presents Baudelaire s poetry as an aesthetic form that contests historical violence through rhetorical strategies of complicity counterviolence and critique The book develops a new account of Baudelaire s significance as a modernist by dislodging him both from his traditional status as a practitioner of art for art s sake and from his more recent incarnation as the poet of trauma Following her extended analysis of Baudelaire s poetry Sanyal in later chapters considers a number of authors influenced by his strategies including Rachilde Virginie Despentes Albert Camus and Jean Paul Sartre to examine the relevance of their interventions for our current climate of trauma and terror The result is a study that underscores how Baudelaire s legacy continues to energize literary engagements with the violence of modernity

Foreign Bodies Madeleine Dobie,2001 Building on the critical foundations established by Edward Said in Orientalism Foreign Bodies examines the relationship between the Orientalist tradition in French art and literature and France s colonial history It focuses on a central dimension of this exchange the prevalent figure of the oriental woman and the interplay of race and gender in both domestic and colonial history It also offers a genealogy of contemporary French attitudes to Islamic culture in which beliefs about sexuality and gender relations continue to occupy a privileged place The author examines the extent to which the rhetorical status and political implications of Orientalism register the changing circumstances of French colonial activity tracing the convergence or divergence of colonial practice and the literary record She also argues against the tendency in both historical and theoretical writing on colonialism to divide center from margins metropolitan from colonial Instead she shows how colonial products and ideas permeated the domestic culture and shaped its evolution Finally the book proposes that the feminine figures of Orientalist texts are often interwoven with representations of language and more specifically with representations of language as an alien and resistant code something other than the transparent medium of ideas It suggests that in promoting awareness that language is not simply the neutral medium of thought and experience these veiled figures of language function as foreign bodies creating disruptive effects within an economy orchestrated toward the production of knowledge of the other However the book also argues against the view espoused by certain critics that the self reflexivity of Orientalist writing fully counteracts its polarizing political effects arguing instead for a process of double reading that acknowledges both the geopolitical power encoded within Orientalist representation and the ways in which specific texts resist this power

Beyond the Slave Narrative Deborah Jenson, 2012-01-01 The Haitian Revolution has generated responses from commentators in fields ranging from philosophy to historiography to twentieth century literary and artistic studies But what about the written work produced at the time by Haitians This book is the first to present an account of a specifically Haitian literary tradition in the Revolutionary era Beyond the Slave Narrative shows the emergence of two strands of textual innovation both evolving from the new revolutionary consciousness the remarkable political texts produced by Haitian revolutionary leaders Toussaint Louverture and Jean Jacques Dessalines and popular Creole poetry from anonymous courtesans in Saint Domingue s libertine culture These textual forms though they differ from each other both demonstrate the increasing cultural autonomy and literary voice of non white populations in the colony at the time of revolution Unschooled generals and courtesans long presented as voiceless are at last revealed to be legitimate speakers and authors These Haitian French and Creole texts have been neglected as a foundation of Afro diasporic literature by former slaves in the Atlantic world for two reasons because they do not fit the generic criteria of the slave narrative which is rooted in the autobiographical experience of enslavement and because they are mediated texts relayed to the print cultural Atlantic domain not by the speakers themselves but by secretaries or refugee colonists These texts challenge how we think about authorial voice writing print culture and cultural autonomy in the context of the formerly enslaved and demand that we reassess our historical understanding of the Haitian Independence and its relationship to an international world of contemporary readers
