Black Feminist Cultural Criticism:

Negative Images Michele Wallace, 1989 Black Feminist Cultural Criticism Jacqueline Bobo, 2001-02-08 Black Feminist Cultural Criticism is the first comprehensive analysis of the full range of Black women's creative achievements. In this outstanding collection, writers and scholars in literature, film, television, theatre, music, art, material culture, and other cultural forms explicate Black women's artistry within the context of an activist framework. The contributors are concerned with the politics of cultural production and the ways in which Black women have confronted institutional and social barriers.

American Literary Criticism Since the 1930s Vincent B. Leitch, 2009-09-10 American Literary Criticism Since the 1930s fully updates Vincent B. Leitch's classic book American Literary Criticism from the 30s to the 80s, following the development of the American academy right up to the present day. Updated throughout and with a brand new chapter, this second edition provides a critical history of American literary theory and practice, discussing the impact of major schools and movements, examines the social and cultural background to literary research, considering the role of key theories and practices, provides profiles of major figures and influential texts, outlining the connections among theorists, presents a new chapter on developments since the 1980s, including discussions of feminist, queer, postcolonial, and ethnic criticism. Comprehensive and engaging, this book offers a crucial overview of the development of literary studies in American universities and a springboard to further research for all those interested in the development and study of Literature.

Invisibility Blues Michele Wallace, 2016-11-08 First published in 1990, Michele Wallace's Invisibility Blues is widely regarded as a landmark in the history of Black feminism. Wallace's considerations of the Black experience in America include recollections of her early life in Harlem, a look at the continued underrepresentation of Black voices in politics, media, and culture, and the legacy of such figures as Zora Neale Hurston, Toni Cade Bambara, Toni Morrison, and Alice Walker. Wallace addresses the tensions between race, gender, and society, bringing them into the open with a singular mix of literary virtuosity and scholarly rigor. Invisibility Blues challenges and informs with the plain-spoken truth that has made it an acknowledged classic.

The Digital Lives of Black Women in Britain Francesca Sobande, 2020-08-11 Based on interviews and archival research, this book explores how media is implicated in Black women's lives in Britain. From accounts of twentieth-century activism and television representations to experiences of YouTube and Twitter, Sobande's analysis traverses tensions between digital culture's communal, counter-cultural, and commercial qualities. Globalization and Race Kamari Maxine Clarke, Deborah A. Thomas, 2006 Kamari Maxine Clarke and Deborah A Thomas argue that a firm grasp of globalization requires an understanding of how race has constituted and been constituted by global transformations Focusing attention on race as an analytic category this state of the art collection of essays explores the changing meanings of blackness in the context of globalization It illuminates the connections between contemporary global processes of racialization and transnational circulations set in motion by imperialism and slavery between popular culture and global conceptions of blackness and between the work of anthropologists policymakers religious revivalists and activists and the solidification and globalization of racial categories A number of the essays bring to light the formative but not unproblematic influence of African American identity on other populations within the black diaspora Among these are an examination of the impact of black America on racial identity and politics in mid twentieth century Liverpool and an inquiry into the distinctive experiences of blacks in Canada Contributors investigate concepts of race and space in early twenty first century Harlem the experiences of trafficked Nigerian sex workers in Italy and the persistence of race in the purportedly non racial language of the New South Africa They highlight how blackness is consumed and expressed in Cuban timba music in West Indian adolescent girls fascination with Buffy the Vampire Slayer and in the incorporation of American rap music into black London culture Connecting race to ethnicity gender sexuality nationality and religion these essays reveal how new class economies ideologies of belonging and constructions of social difference are emerging from ongoing global transformations Contributors Robert L Adams Lee D Baker Jacqueline Nassy Brown Tina M Campt Kamari Maxine Clarke Raymond Codrington Grant Farred Kesha Fikes Isar
