Black Self Concept Implications For Education And Social Science:

Black Self-concept James A. Banks, Jean Dresden Grambs, 1972 Black Self-Concept James A. Banks, Jean Dresden Grambs, 1972 Non Aboriginal material Extending Self-Esteem Theory and Research Timothy J. Owens, Sheldon Stryker, Norman Goodman, 2006-11-02 Self esteem is an academic and popular phenomenon vigorously researched and debated sometimes imbued with magical qualities other times vilified as the bane of the West's preoccupation with self Though thousands of articles have been devoted to the topic and bookshops work to feed the public's appetite for advice on revealing enhancing and maintaining self esteem conflicting claims and findings have placed the field in disarray In a very real sense self esteem is a victim of its own popularity This book seeks to add clarity to a concept earlier examined by such notable self theorists as Morris Rosenberg but eminently worthy of re examination and extension We do this by asking some leading thinkers on self esteem theory measurement and application to assess what we know about self esteem and link it to important aspects of society and the human experience Research in Education ,1974 Resources in Education ,1992

Precursors of an African Genesis Model of Helping Gerald G. Jackson, 2000 This work presents the theoretical dimension of three decades of research on African derived concepts of helping and is a companion to An Africentric Paradigm of Helping a book that presents the application dimension to the subjects of training substance abuse ethnicity workforce diversity and time This book is a foundation for a series of publications and events to serve the needs of practitioners researchers scholars and students Career Counseling for African Americans W. Bruce Walsh, Rosie P. Bingham, Michael T. Brown, Connie M. Ward, Samuel H. Osipow, 2000-12 Topics in this volume include basic issues in career counselling for African Americans career assessment vocational and personal considerations and future directions in career counselling theory

Self-Esteem Ian Miller, 2024-02-07 By the end of the twentieth century the idea of self esteem had become enormously influential A staggering amount of psychological research and self help literature was being published and before long devoured by readers Self esteem initiatives permeated American schools Self esteem became the way of understanding ourselves our personalities our interactions with others Nowadays however few people think much about the concept of self esteem but perhaps we should Self Esteem An American History is the first historical study to explore the emotional politics of self esteem in modern America Written with verve and insight Ian Miller's expert analysis looks at the critiques of self help that accuse it of propping up conservative agendas by encouraging us to look solely inside ourselves to resolve life's problems At the same time he reveals how African American LGBTQ and feminist activists have endeavored to build positive collective identities based on self esteem pride and self respect This revelatory book will be essential reading for anyone with an interest in the history of mental health and well being and in how the politics of self esteem is played out in today's US society and culture Acting Black Sarah Susannah Willie, 2003-12-16 Sarah Willie asks What's it like to be black on campus For most Black students attending predominantly white universities it is a struggle Do you try to blend in

Do you take a stand Do you end up acting as the token representative for your whole race And what about those students who attend predominantly black universities How do their experiences differ In Acting Black Sarah Willie interviews 55 African American alumnae of two universities comparable except that one is predominantly white Northwestern and one is predominantly black Howard What she discovers through their stories mirrored in her own college experience is that the college campus is in some cases the stage for an even more intense version of the racial issues played out beyond its walls The interviewees talk about acting white in some situations and acting black in others They treat race as many different things including a set of behaviours that they can choose to act out In Acting Black Willie situates the personal stories of her own experience and those of her interviewees within a timeline of black education in America and a review of university policy with suggestions for improvement for both black and white universities seeking to make their campuses truly multicultural In the tradition of The Agony of Education Routledge 1996 Willie captures the painful dilemmas and ugly realities African Americans must face on campus

Beyond the Masks Amina Mama, 2002-09-26 Psychology has had a number of things to say about black and coloured people none of them favourable and most of which have reinforced stereotyped and derogatory images Beyond the Masks is a readable account of black psychology exploring key theoretical issues in race and gender In it Amina Mama examines the history of racist psychology and of the implicit racism throughout the discipline Beyond the Masks also offers an important theoretical perspective and will appeal to all those involved with ethnic minorities gender politics and questions of identity
