Black Women Feminism And Black Liberation Which Way:

Black Women, Feminism and Black Liberation Vivian V. Gordon, 1991-12-12 Gordon's treatment of the schism between Black women and the white feminist movement sparks new debate on the provocative issues Black women face in a sexist and racist society. Black Women Feminism And Black Liberation methodically examines the historical relationship between women's issues and the Black liberation movement in terms of traditional coalition perspectives, economic inequality, and the historic oppression of Black women. Africana Studies James L. Conyers, 1997 Known variously as African studies, Black studies, African American studies, Afro American studies, and Africology, the academic study of the African diaspora as a holistic discipline is a relatively new phenomenon. University programs have been created with reference to a disciplinary matrix retarding the development of appropriate theory and methods throughout Africana studies. Fifteen leaders in the field of Africana studies provide the conceptual framework for establishing the field as a mature discipline. The focus is on four basic areas: administration and organizational structure, disciplinary matrix, African womanism, and cultural aesthetics. The work examines both the theory and the method of scholars in African and African diaspora studies. Black Women, Feminism, and Black Liberation Vivian Verdell Gordon, 1987 In this new work Vivian Gordon poses many questions which have concerned Black women regarding feminism: Is it strictly a white woman's movement? Do Black women really have anything to gain by becoming feminists? And how do Black women interested in feminist causes resolve the conflict between Black liberation and feminism? The historical relationship between women's issues and the Black liberation movement is methodically examined, as well as the historical oppression of Black women. Practical guidelines for evaluating issues of race and sex are offered, and some new directions for change in Black male/female relationships are suggested from back cover.

Representations of Black Women in the Media Marquita Marie Gammage, 2015-10-16 In 1920 W. E. B. Du Bois cited the damnation of women as linked to the devaluation of motherhood. This dilemma he argues had a crushing blow on Black women as they were forced into slavery. Black womanhood portrayed as hypersexual by nature became an enduring stereotype which did not coincide with the dignity of mother and wife. This portrayal continues to reinforce negative stereotypes of Black women in the media today. This book highlights how Black women have been negatively portrayed in the media, focusing on the export nature of media and its ability to convey notions of Blackness to the public. It argues that media such as rap music videos, television dramas, reality television shows, and newscasts create and affect expectations of Black women Exploring the role that racism misogyny and media play in the representation of Black womanhood it provides a foundation for challenging contemporary media's portrayal of Black women Out of the Revolution Delores P. Aldridge, Carlene Young, 2000-11-01 The introduction of Black studies programs into institutions of higher education was a direct response to the mandate for change at all levels that characterized the civil rights movement and the social rebellions of the 1950s and 1960s In Out of the Revolution Delores P. Aldridge and Carlene Young collect thirty one of the nation's top scholars to provide a complete reference for understanding the impetus for the development of and future considerations for the discipline of Africana studies Topics addressed include epistemological considerations humanistic perspectives the role of bureaucracy and the academic institution the social psychological political and economic dimensions the position of black women in the field and how the discipline has empowered the black student This invaluable resource for educators and students alike concludes with a look at graduates in Africana studies and their careers and a discussion of the future of the field African American Studies Jeanette Davidson, 2010-10-19 This book presents the diverse expansive nature of African American Studies and its characteristic interdisciplinarity It is intended for use with undergraduate beginning graduate students in African American Studies American Studies and Ethnic Studies Section I focuses on the historical development of the field and the diverse theoretical perspectives utilized in African American Studies Section II examines African American Studies commitment to community service and social activism and includes exclusive interviews with acclaimed actor activist Danny Glover and renowned scholar Manning Marable Section III presents international perspectives Section IV includes selected areas of scholarship Oral History as an important research methodology African American Philosophy African Aesthetics song and dance perspectives on Womanism Black Feminism and Africana Womanism with a focus on literature and African American Religion The book concludes with African American Studies strengths and Girls, Women, and Crime Meda Chesney-Lind, Lisa Pasko, 2013 A compilation of journal articles on the female offender written by leading researchers in the field of criminology and women's studies Reveals the complex worlds females in the criminal justice system must often negotiate Feminisms and Womanisms Althea Prince, Susan Silva-Wayne, 2004 Feminisms and Womanisms brings together theory and practical application so that feminist discourse interacts as a partner with the lived experience of women's social action The selections combine classics in feminist thought with work from modern theorists and offer a solid foundation in international feminism The conceptual understanding embedded in the terms feminism and womanism contributes to feminist discourse a carefully differentiated focus on the ideological uses of language to define relationships that have been historically mired in domination The terms also define the way gender often has been used to signify and support domination Given that feminism and womanism are interpretive concepts there is always a sense that knowledge making is in progress for there is nothing static or stagnant about feminism feminist theory and feminist action The formative nature of the feminist movement has of necessity a parallel interpretive theory This reader embraces both the formative nature of the movement and the accompanying interpretive theories It also pays attention to the chronological cultural geopolitical racial and ethnic landscapes and sites where women live carry out social action and theorize issues of equality For both the general and academic reader this book will be edifying while providing exposure to the feminist womanist voices that inform the scholarship African American Women's Literature in Spain Sandra Llopart Babot,2023-05-31

This volume brings forward a descriptive approach to the translation and reception of African American women s literature in Spain Drawing from a multidisciplinary theoretical and methodological framework it traces the translation history of literature produced by African American women seeking to uncover changing strategies in translation policies as well as shifts in interests in the target context and it examines the topicality of this cohort of authors as frames of reference for Spanish critics and reviewers Likewise the reception of the source literature in the Spanish context is described by reconstructing the values that underlie judgements in different reception sources Finally this book addresses the specific problem of the translation of Black English into Spanish More precisely it pays attention to the ideological and the ethical implications of translation choices and the effect of the latter on the reception of literary texts Critical

Multiculturalism Barry Kanpol,Peter McLaren,1995-02-28 This collection explores the way in which critical theory and practice can unite into a common vision of democratic hope While each author has his or her own specialty the thread of shared dreams is portrayed in a call for solidarity The separate viewpoints are drawn together to constitute a democratic platform for an enlightened critical education agenda From narrative to critical ethnography case studies explore the multicultural and power struggles of states districts and schools Intimately connected to all contributions in this collection is the commitment of each author to similarly share a common pregnancy of intention within a language of possibility

Feminist Manifestos Penny A. Weiss,Megan Brueske,2018-04-03 This book is a collection of 150 documents from feminist organizations and gatherings in over 50 countries over the course of three centuries The manifestos are shown to contain feminist theory and recommend actions for change and also to expand our very conceptions of feminist thought and activism Covering issues from political participation education religion and work to reproduction violence racism and environmentalism the manifestos challenge definitions of gender and feminist movements Men Doing Feminism Tom Digby,2013-10-28 The relation between feminism and men is often presumed to be antagonistic so that men are expected to resist feminism and feminists are assumed to hate men That pattern of opposition is disrupted however by the continually increasing numbers of men who are participating in feminist theory and practice trying to integrate feminist perspectives into their scholarship teaching work play friendships and romantic involvements Responses to this male feminism have varied Sometimes male feminists find some female feminists critical of men who oppose or decline to join feminist projects but also rebuff the few men who do undertake feminist projects On the other hand some women feminists have unequivocally welcomed men as allies in political business religious and academic contexts The essays in Men Doing Feminism reveal that there is justification for both views the skeptical and the enthusiastic because feminist men are as diverse as feminist women Many of the eighteen contributors to this book women men blacks whites gays straights transsexuals use personal narrative to show ways that men s lives can shape their approaches to doing feminism and to convey the opportunities and challenges involved in integrating feminism into a man s life Some authors argue that men s experiences prepare them to make contributions that are of crucial importance to feminist theory Others argue that men must radically reform or even abandon manhood and masculinity if they are to be feminists In Men Doing Feminism feminist theory is used to illuminate men s lives and men s lives serve as a basis for feminist theory Contributors Michael Awkward Susan Bordo Harry Brod Tom Digby Judith K Gardiner C Jacob Hale Sandra Harding Patrick Hopkins Joy James David Kahane Michael Kimmel Gary Lemons Larry May Brian Pronger Henry Rubin Richard Schmitt James P Sterba Laurence Mordekhai Thomas and Thomas E Wartenberg
