Blackening Song:

The Place It Was Done Šárka Bubíková, Olga Roebuck, 2023-03-03 Locations play an important role in every story but in British and American contemporary crime fiction they are often inextricable from the narrative This work examines the city the countryside and the wilderness as places ripe with literary significance and symbolism Using works by authors like Robert Galbraith Ian Rankin Denise Mina Chris Brookmyre John Knox Peter Robinson Linda Barnes Dana Stabenow Nevada Barr Les Roberts Philip R Craig and others this work offers a fresh assessment of how place and space are employed in contemporary crime fiction Highlighted are similarities and differences among the authors approaches to setting and how they relate to the history of crime fiction and to the general literary representation of place Going beyond mere literary geography the book engages the sociocultural dimensions of the communities affected by crime Chapters also analyze the reader's perception recognition and appreciation of place and community Servanthood of Song Stanley R.

McDaniel, 2024-05-23 Servanthood of Song is a history of American church music from the colonial era to the present Its focus is on the institutional and societal pressures that have shaped church song and have led us directly to where we are today The gulf which separates advocates of traditional and contemporary worship Black and White Protestant and Catholic is not new History repeatedly shows us that ministry to be effective must meet the needs of the entire worshipping community not just one segment age group or class Servanthood of Song provides a historical context for trends in contemporary worship in the United States and suggests that the current polemical divisions between advocates of contemporary and traditional classically oriented church music are both unnecessary and counterproductive It also draws from history to show that to be the powerful component of worship it can be music whatever the genre must be viewed as a ministry with training appropriate to that Servanthood of Song provides a critical resource for anyone considering a career in either musical or pastoral ministries in the American church as well as all who care passionately about vital and authentic worship for the church of today The Mystery of Mysteries Samuel Coale, 2000 Four American mystery writers have contributed new dimensions to the mystery form Tony Hillerman's Navajos and their customs Amanda Cross's Carolyn Heilbrun's academics and their feminist credentials or lack thereof James Lee Burke's Southern Louisiana Cajuns and his own fiercely moral take on Southern gothic fiction and Walter Mosley's urban blacks and their culture have challenged the conventional mystery's focus Using feminist and black critical theory mythic and historical patterns and literary genre theory Samuel Coale examines these writers works and investigates the compromises that each is forced to make when working within a recognizably popular literary form Alien Visions Margaret Ziolkowski, 2005 There are many parallels and some revealing differences in the encounter between on the one hand the Americans and various Indian tribes and on the other the Russians and some of the peoples of the Caucasus and Siberia The enduring cultural consequences of these encounters provide a fruitful area of inquiry for the comparative examination of national images in literatures The major focus on this study is the perceptions and literary portrayal of the Chechens by the Russians and the Navajos by the Americans Both the Chechen in Russian literature and the Navajo in American literature are often constructs images derived from a potent combination of prejudices and received assumptions In each case a relatively sizable corpus of writings produced over a century or longer exemplifies or attempts to counter persistent and influential modes of cultural stereotyping The diachronic analysis of the portrayal of either the Chechens or the Navajos illuminates patterns of prejudice that have immense implications for both popular and high culture The juxtaposition of the discussion of the two groups as they have been treated in Russian and American literature can deepen our understanding of the commonalities present in attempted cultural domination or ethnic idealization Margaret Ziolkowski is Professor of Russian at Miami University Ohio Sequels Janet G.
