Blacks In White Collar Jobs:

Negro Employment in the South, 1971 Blacks in White-collar Jobs Brian J. O'Connell, 1979 Black Corporate Executives Sharon Collins, 1997 Against the backdrop of increasing ambivalence in the federal government commitment to race based employment policies this book reveals how African Americans first broke into professional and managerial jobs in corporations during the sixties and offers in depth profiles of their subsequent career experiences Two sets of interviews with the most successful Black executives in Chicago s major corporations are used to demonstrate how the creation of the Black business elite is connected to federal government pressures and black social unrest that characterized the civil Rights movement in the sixties Black Corporate Executives presents first hand the dilemmas and contradictions that face this first wave of Black managers and reveals a subtle new employment discrimination Corporations hired these executives in response to race conscious political pressures and shifted them into racialized positions directing affirmative action programs or serving special markets of minority clients customers or urban affairs Many executives became as one man said the head Black in charge of Black people These positions gave upper middle class lifestyles to those who held them but also siphoned these executives out of mainstream paths to corporate power typically leading through planning and production areas As the political climate has become more conservative and the economy undergoes restructuring these Black executives believe that the importance of recruiting Blacks has waned and that the jobs Blacks hold are vulnerable Collins Lowry s analysis challenges arguments that justify dismantling affirmative action She argues that it is a myth to believe that Black occupational attainments are evidence that race no longer matters in the middle class employment arena On the contrary Blacks progress and well being are tied to politics and employment practices that are sensitive to race Author note Sharon M Collins teaches Sociology at the University of Illinois in Chicago Negro Employment in the South: The Houston labor market, by V. M. Briggs, Jr, 1971 Annual Report on the Employment of Minorities, Women & Handicapped Individuals in the Federal Government, 1986 Seeking El Dorado Lawrence B. de Graaf, Kevin Mulroy, Quintard Taylor, 2014-07-01 From the 18th century African Americans like many others have migrated to California to seek fortunes or often the more modest goals of being able to find work own a home and raise a family relatively free of discrimination Not only their search but also its outcome is covered in Seeking El Dorado Whether they settled in major cities or smaller towns African Americans created institutions and organizations churches social clubs literary societies fraternal orders civil rights organizations that embodied the legacy of their past and the values they shared Blacks came in search of the same jobs as other Americans but the search often proved frustrating Throughout the 19th and 20th centuries African American leadership in the state consistently focused on achieving racial justice The essays in this book speak of triumph and hardship success discrimination and disappointment Seeking El Dorado is a major contribution to black history and the history of the American West and will be of interest to both scholars and general readers Manpower Research Monograph, 1969

Whitewashing Race Michael K. Brown, Martin Carnoy, Elliott Currie, Troy Duster, David B. Oppenheimer, 2003-09-18 White Americans abetted by neo conservative writers of all hues generally believe that racial discrimination is a thing of the past and that any racial inequalities that undeniably persist in wages family income access to housing or health care can be attributed to African Americans cultural and individual failures If the experience of most black Americans says otherwise an explanation has been sorely lacking or obscured by the passions the issue provokes At long last offering a cool clear and informed perspective on the subject this book brings together a team of highly respected sociologists political scientists economists criminologists and legal scholars to scrutinize the logic and evidence behind the widely held belief in a color blind society and to provide an alternative explanation for continued racial inequality in the United States While not denying the economic advances of black Americans since the 1960s Whitewashing Race draws on new and compelling research to demonstrate the persistence of racism and the effects of organized racial advantage across many institutions in American society including the labor market the welfare state the criminal justice system and schools and universities Looking beyond the stalled debate over current antidiscrimination policies the authors also put forth a fresh vision for achieving genuine racial equality of opportunity in a post affirmative action world

Social Indicator Models Kenneth C. Land, Seymour Spilerman, 1975-02-14 Deals in comprehensive fashion with a diverse array of objective and subjective social indicators and shows how these indicators can be used potentially to inform and perhaps guide social policy Written with clarity and authority it will be of paramount interest to those concerned with the interpretation and analysis of social indicators and to those interested in their use For the former it serves as an illuminating introduction to some of the analytical tasks that lie ahead in the study of social indicators For the latter it provides a solid foundation upon which future policy analysis may be based

Ethnic Minorities and Industrial Change in Europe and North America Malcolm Cross, 1992-10-22 Following World War II racial and ethnic minorities formed a pool of low paid labour upon which the industrial city depended When industrial production shifted overseas the new local technological industries required fewer better skilled workers The consequence for those excluded was disastrous In this book leading authorities compare the situation of minorities in the post industrial cities of Europe and North America
