Schend, 2010-01-26 A young group of friends must navigate conspiracy and sorcery in one of the most legendary cities of the Forgotten Realms Waterdeep When the newest Blackstaff a powerful wizard who defends the city of Waterdeep is captured as part of an evil ploy for power a motley crew of accomplices must band together to restore the Blackstaff to power and save the city Laraelra Meloon Renaer and other legendary heroes of the Forgotten Realms form an unlikely team rising above their humble origins to complete an epic quest through the City of Splendors Together they fight side by side in the race to reach Blackstaff Tower before the forces of evil can claim it as their own Blackstaff Tower is the first book in a series of standalone novels set in Waterdeep Folk Women and Indirection in Morrison, N Dhuibhne, Hurston, and Lavin Jacqueline Fulmer, 2017-11-30 Focusing on the lineage of pivotal African American and Irish women writers the author argues that these authors often employ strategies of indirection via folkloric expression when exploring unpopular topics. This strategy holds the attention of readers who would otherwise reject the subject matter. The author traces the line of descent from Mary Lavin to N Dhuibhne and from Zora Neale Hurston to Toni Morrison showing how obstacles to free expression though varying from those Lavin and Hurston faced are still encountered by Morrison and N Dhuibhne. The basis for comparing these authors lies in the strategies of indirection they use as influenced by folklore. The folkloric characters these authors depict wild denizens of the Otherworld and wise women of various traditions help their creators insert controversy into fiction in ways that charm rather than alienate readers. Forms of rhetorical indirection that appear in the context of folklore such as signifying practices masking sly civility and the grotesque or bizarre come out of the mouths and actions of these writers. magical and magisterial characters. Old traditions can offer new ways of discussing issues such as sexual expression religious beliefs or issues of reproduction. As differences between times and cultures affect what can and cannot be said folkloric indirection may open up a vista to discourses of which we as readers may not even be aware. Finally the folk women of Morrison N Dhuibhne Hurston and Lavin open up new points of entry to the discussion of fiction rhetoric censorship and folklore.

The Golden Thread David Clare, Fiona McDonagh, Justine Nakase, 2021-07-01. Sold as a multi volume set the individual volumes are also available for purchase. This two volume edited collection illuminates the valuable counter canon of Irish women's playwriting with forty two essays written by leading and emerging Irish theatre scholars and practitioners. Covering three hundred years of Irish theatre history from 1716 to 2016 it is the most comprehensive study of plays written by Irish women to date. These short essays provide both a valuable introduction and innovative analysis of key playtexts bringing renewed attention to scripts and writers that continue to be under represented in theatre criticism and performance. Volume One covers plays by Irish women playwrights written between 1716 to 1992 and seeks to address and redress the historic absence of Irish female playwrights in theatre histories. Highlighting the work of nine women playwrights from the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries as well as thirteen of the twentieth century's key writers the chapters in this volume explore such varied themes as the impact of space and place on identity women's strategic use of genre and theatrical responses to shifts in Irish politics and culture. Immigrant Women's Voices and Integrating Feminism Into Migration Theory Nyemba, Florence, Chitiyo, Rufaro, 2020-12-25. Migration is a multifaceted phenomenon that plays a critical role in today's world yet there have been few attempts to look beneath the surface of the mass movements of people. Particularly the changing face of migration is becoming more feminized with women increasingly moving as independent or single migrants rather than as the wives mothers or daughters of male migrants Yet in literature on migration the voices of women are still silent This creates an urgent need to advance academic research on female international migration by examining women as independent migrants Immigrant Women s Voices and Integrating Feminism Into Migration Theory comprehensively documents the experiences of immigrant women across the globe and the important theories that define their experiences The chapters give firsthand accounts of women speaking about their own experiences on migration and topics associated with women and migration This book aims to give women their own voice and to stand apart from previous literature in which male relatives spoke on behalf of immigrant women to tell their stories for them While highlighting topics on women in migration including feminism gendered social roles first person narratives and the female identity this book is ideally for professionals in social science disciplines as well as practitioners stakeholders researchers academicians and students wanting to expand their knowledge on women and migration gender violence and women empowerment

Rhythms of Writing Helena Wulff,2017-10-05 This is the first anthropological study of writers writing and contemporary literary culture Drawing on the flourishing literary scene in Ireland as the basis for her research Helena Wulff explores the social world of contemporary Irish writers examining fiction novels short stories as well as journalism Discussing writers such as John Banville Roddy Doyle Colm Tóibín Frank McCourt Anne Enright Deirdre Madden and Nuala O'Donoghue Colum McCann David Park and Joseph O'Connor Wulff reveals how the making of a writer's career is built on the rhythms of writing long hours of writing in solitude alternate with public events such as book readings and media appearances Destined to launch a new field of enquiry Rhythms of Writing is essential reading for students and scholars in anthropology literary studies creative writing cultural studies and Irish studies

Archaeologia, Or, Miscellaneous Tracts Relating to Antiquity,1933 Irish Literature in the Celtic Tiger Years 1990 to 2008 Susan Cahill,2011-06-09 When Irish culture and economics underwent rapid changes during the Celtic Tiger Years Anne Enright Colum McCann and Nuala O'Donoghue began writing Now that period of Irish history has closed this study uncovers how their writing captured that unique historical moment By showing how Nuala O'Donoghue's novels act as considered arguments against attempts to disavow the past how McCann's protagonists come to terms with their history and how Enright's fiction explores connections and relationships with the female body Susan Cahill's study pinpoints common concerns for contemporary Irish writers the relationship between the body memory and history between generations and between past and present Cahill is able to raise wider questions about Irish culture by looking specifically at how writers engage with the body In exploring the writers concern with embodied histories related questions concerning gender race and Irishness are brought to the fore Such interrogations of corporeality alongside history are imperative making this a significant contribution to ongoing debates of feminist theory in Irish Studies Two Irelands Rebecca Pelan,2005-06-27 The very different histories of the North and South are reflected in their literature While women in the Republic of Ireland have tended to write about social issuessexism crime unemployment and domestic violencewomen in Northern Ireland focused on their society's historical tension and primarily nationalist and unionist politics. However, Pelan maintains that feminist ideology has provided contemporary Irish women with an alternate political stance that incorporates gender and nationality, ethnicity, and allows them to move beyond the usual binaries of politics, history, and language (Irish and English). In an analysis enriched by a sophisticated but accessible engagement with contemporary feminist and gender theory, Pelan concludes that Irish women's writing, whether at the community or mainstream level (North or South), consistently articulates political issues of direct relevance to the lives of Irish women today. As a result, such work retains close links with the initial impetus of the second wave of feminism as a political movement and questions the legitimacy of long-standing social, religious, and political conventions. From within the framework provided by this second wave, argues Pelan, Irish women can critique certain masculine ideologies (nationalist, unionist, imperialist, and capitalist) without forfeiting their own sense of gender and national or ethnic identity. The book's significance lies in its placement of women's writing in the center of contemporary political discourse in Ireland and in ensuring that the writing from this period, much of it long out of print, continues to exist as sociological as well as literary records. It will be of interest to a general and scholarly audience, especially those in the fields of contemporary Irish writing, feminism, and literary history.

Crane Bag, 1982 The House of Dudley Joanne Paul, 2023-03-07 The shocking and extraordinary story of the most conniving, manipulative Tudor family you've never heard of: the dashing and daring House of Dudley. Each Tudor monarch made their name with a Dudley by their side or by crushing one beneath their feet. The Dudleys thrived at the court of Henry VII but were sacrificed to the popularity of Henry VIII. Rising to prominence in the reign of Edward VI, the Dudleys lost it all by advancing Jane Grey to the throne over Mary I. That was until the reign of Elizabeth I when the family was once again at the center of power and would do anything to remain there. With three generations of felled favorites, what was it that caused this family to keep rising so high and falling so low? Here for the first time is the story of England's Borgias, a noble house competing in a murderous game for the English throne. Witness cunning, adultery, and sheer audacity from history's most brilliant, bold, and deceitful family. Welcome to the House of Dudley. The Blackstaff Book of Short Stories, 1988

Tribal Fantasies J. Mackay, D. Stirrup, 2012-12-28 This transnational collection discusses the use of Native American imagery in twentieth and twenty-first century European culture. With examples ranging from Irish oral myth through the pop image of Indians promulgated in pornography to the philosophical appropriations of Ernst Bloch or the European far right, contributors illustrate the legend of the Indian. Drawing on American Indian literary nationalism, postcolonialism, and transnational theories essays demonstrate a complex nexus of power relations that seemingly allows European culture to build its own Native images and ask what effect this has on the current treatment of indigenous peoples
