

A photograph of the front entrance of a grand, classical-style building, likely a law library or university hall. The entrance features a large arched doorway flanked by two tall, narrow columns. Above the doorway is a decorative pediment. The building is made of light-colored stone or brick. The word "OXFORD" is printed in white capital letters on a red rectangular background in the top left corner.

A New Land Law Peter Sparkes, 2003-08-05 Peter Sparkes' path-breaking text on land law has been rewritten with two aims in mind: to incorporate the seismic changes introduced by the Land Registration Act 2002, along with commonhold; the explosion of human rights jurisprudence; and the unremitting advance of judicial exposition; and to accommodate the author's developing thinking on the structural aspects of the subject. The book opens with a series of shorter chapters, each exploring a fundamental building block: registration, houses, flats and commonhold; land ownership and its transactional powers; social controls balanced by human rights to property; fragmentation by time; the doctrine of estates; divisions of ownership and proprietary rights. In terms of substantive chapters, the book opens with discussion of the new transfer system: paper-based transfer alongside the evolution towards electronic conveyancing; and the consequent changes to the proof of registered titles and to the registration curtain. The new approach to adverse possession against registered titles has called for extended discussion, as has the authoritative elucidation of the concept of adverse possession in Pye. In terms of proprietary interests, the fundamentals are seen as rights to transfer beneficial interests under trusts, which are overreachable burdens, which are endurable leases, money charges such as mortgages which are redeemable, and the obligations enforceable within the neighbour principle, easements, covenants and positive covenants being treated as a semi-coherent whole. An attempt has been made to assist students by moving some of the more arcane learning later into the book or into separate chapters where these matters might be more readily ignored by a candidate concerned primarily to prepare for an examination. A massive amount of research and scholarship has gone into the book, with impressive citation of cases, articles and case notes, and of other text books. This newcomer on the scene is a considerable addition to the ranks of serious text books on land law, and the author is to be congratulated. The New Law Journal. The scope of this work is ambitious; it is a bold attempt to take the study of land law forward much more than a basic land law text book it would be a pleasure to be able to teach a course requiring students to cover the substance or the bulk of it whether in one or more modules a difficult blend of background and history massive referencing discussion of statute and case law all wrapped up in a text that is not too difficult to absorb The Law Teacher A most interesting and ground breaking book Michael Cardwell University of Leeds At last a brilliant land law book I think the approach is marvellous and will strongly recommend it to my students Keith Gompertz University of Central England takes a more modern approach to the area I am very impressed with the style layout and format It will be a good teaching tool and I am looking forward to using it Alison Dunn Newcastle Law School not baffling in the way land law texts tend to be Helen Taylor University of Teesside Excellent Professor Edward Burn City University Blackstone's Guide to the Race Relations (Amendment) Act 2000 Henrietta Hill, 2001 The Race Relations Amendment Act 2000 extends and strengthens the Race Relations Act 1976 by giving individuals new rights to challenge race discrimination by public authorities It also imposes wide positive duties on certain public bodies to eliminate race discrimination and promote equality This Guide provides a clear and logical explanation of this significant new piece of race relations legislation and explains the definition of public authority and the types of discrimination covered by the new legislation the scope of the exceptions to the new prohibition on discrimination the new vicarious liability of the police the new general duty and the new specific duties on public bodies and the Commission for Racial Equality's power of enforcement the procedure for challenging unlawful discrimination by public bodies the special procedure for bringing claims which arise out of education crime and immigration and asylum cases the motivation behind the Act and international developments in discrimination law Blackstone's Civil Practice 2013 Prof Stuart Sime, Derek French, 2012-09-20 Providing detailed commentary of unrivalled quality on the process of civil litigation this is the only major civil work to adopt a narrative approach based on the chronology of a claim Written by a team of expert practitioners and academics it provides authoritative analysis on the process of civil litigation from commencement of a claim to enforcement of judgments addressing civil procedure in the county courts the High Court the Court of Appeal and the Supreme Court The book also considers more specialist matters such as insolvency proceedings sale of goods and human rights providing expert analysis on a comprehensive level Commentary is combined with the text of the Civil Procedure Rules CPR Practice Directions PD and Pre Action Protocols and Procedural Checklists all fully cross referenced to the text to ensure ease of use for the busy practitioner As well as a detailed and user friendly index the quick reference guide inside the front cover provides an alternative point of access for those more familiar with the CPR Also available Blackstone's Civil Practice The Commentary 2013 is a concise new book providing the unique commentary independently from the CPR PD and other appendix materials Electronic versions of the Procedural Checklists in Blackstone's Civil Practice 2013 are available from IRIS Laserform
