Food in Margaret Atwood's Speculative Fiction Katarina Labudova, 2022-11-10 This book looks at Margaret Atwood's use of food motifs in speculative fiction. Focusing on six novels: The Handmaid's Tale and The Testaments, the Maddaddam trilogy and The Heart Goes Last, Katarina Labudova explores the environmental, ecological, and cultural questions at play and the possible future scenarios which emerge for humanity's survival in apocalyptic and post-apocalyptic conditions. Labudova argues that food has special relevance in these novels and that characters' hunger, limited food choices, culinary creativity, and eating rituals are central to Atwood's depictions of hostile environments. She also links food to hierarchy, dominance, and oppression in Atwood's novels and foregrounds the problem of hunger, both psychological or physical, caused by pollution and loss of contact with the natural and authentic. The book shows how Atwood's writing draws from a range of genres, including apocalyptic fiction, science fiction, speculative fiction, dystopia, utopia, fairy tale, myth, and thriller, and how food is an important, highly versatile motif linking these intertextual threads.

The Routledge Handbook of Crime Fiction and Ecology Nathan Ashman, 2023-10-27 The Routledge Handbook of Crime Fiction and Ecology is the first comprehensive examination of crime fiction and ecocriticism. Across 33 innovative chapters from leading international scholars, this Handbook considers an emergent field of contemporary crime narratives that are actively responding to a diverse assemblage of global environmental concerns, whilst also opening up classic crime fictions and writers to new ecocritical perspectives. Rigorously engaged with cutting-edge critical trends, it places the familiar staples of crime fiction scholarship from thematic to formal approaches in conversation with a number of urgent ecological theories and ideas covering subjects such as environmental security, environmental justice, slow violence, ecofeminism, and animal studies. The Routledge Handbook of Crime Fiction and Ecology is an essential introduction to this new and dynamic research field for both students and scholars alike.

Nazi Germany and the Holocaust in Historical Crime Fiction Anthony Lake, 2023-07-24 This is the first book-length academic study of the portrayal in contemporary historical crime fiction of Nazi Germany and the Holocaust and their legacies. It discusses novels written by five authors: David Downing, Philip Kerr, Luke McCallin, Joseph Kanon, and David Thomas. Their work belongs to a subgenre of the historical crime novel that has emerged since the late 1980s to become a significant body of writing located at the intersection of crime fiction and Holocaust literature. The readings of these novels explore questions of form and genre to ask how popular fiction might approach the Holocaust. Themes of resistance and complicity and the relationship between them and problems of guilt and responsibility are also discussed. This book also explores questions of justice to show how these novels explore social and moral justice and vengeance and revenge as alternatives to ordinary legal justice after the Holocaust.

the property of the self The Complete Novels Thomas Hardy, 2022-11-13 Thomas Hardy's The Complete Novels encapsulates the author's profound exploration of the human condition through the lens of rural English life. This comprehensive collection presents his masterpieces including Tess of the d'Urbervilles and Jude the Obscure, showcasing a distinct literary style characterized by rich descriptions, psychological depth, and a deterministic worldview. Hardy's work often grapples with themes such as fate, social constraints, and moral dilemmas set against the backdrop of a changing Victorian society that marked the decline of traditional values and the rise of modernity. Born in 1840 in Dorset, England, Hardy was influenced by the environment of the Wessex region, which serves as the rich geographical and cultural context in many of his novels. His background as an architect and his experiences in the rural working class deeply informed his appreciation for nature and the struggles of ordinary people. Hardy's own disillusionment with societal norms and the rigid structures of marriage shaped his progressive perspective, reflected in his sympathetic yet critical portrayal of his characters. For readers seeking to delve into the complexities of human relationships and societal change, The Complete Novels is an indispensable treasure. Hardy's ability to weave intricate narratives that challenge the reader's moral compass makes this collection not only a significant literary achievement but also a profound study of life's inherent struggles. The Bascombe Novels Richard Ford, 2012-10-11 This trilogy of brilliant novels, The Sportsman, Independence Day, and The Lay of the Land, charts the life and times of one of the most beloved and enduring characters in modern fiction. When we meet Frank Bascombe in The Sportsman, his unguarded voice instantly wins us over and pulls us into a life that has been irrevocably changed by the loss of a marriage, a career, and a child. We then follow Frank ever brilliantly and hilariously observant through Independence Day and The Lay of the Land, witnessing his fortune's rise and his family's fragmentation and reintegration. With finely honed prose and an eye that captures the most subtle nuances of the human condition in all its pathos, humour, beauty, and strangeness, Richard Ford transforms Frank Bascombe's life into a riveting, moving parable of life in America today.
