Baptist Christianity was itself transformed in the Buddhist kingdom. Missionaries who were initially horrified by what they saw as the idolatry of Buddha statues found themselves creating tree shrines and their converts hanging colorful Jesus paintings in their churches. Baptizing Burma explores the history of how the American Baptist mission to Burma failed to convert the country yet succeeded in transforming its religious landscape. Alexandra Kaloyanides examines how the Burmese majority positioned Buddhism to counter Christianity, how marginalized groups took on Baptist identities and how Protestantism was reimagined as a Southeast Asian religion. She considers a series of holy objects to reveal the mechanics of religious practice in a period of entangled empires: British Burma and American Burma. By telling stories of four key things: the sacred book, the school house, the pagoda, and the portrait, this book illuminates the histories of Burma's last kingdom and the unexpected consequences of America's first overseas mission.

Learning, Migration and Intergenerational Relations

Pia Jolliffe, 2016-09-07 Focusing on the Karen people in Burma, Thailand, and the United Kingdom, this book analyses how global, regional, and local developments affect patterns of learning. It combines historical and ethnographic research to explore the mutual shaping of intergenerational relations and children's practical and formal learning within a context of migration and socio-political change. In this endeavour, Pia Jolliffe discusses traditional patterns of socio-cultural learning within Karen communities as well as the role of Christian missionaries in introducing schooling to the Karen in Burma and in Thailand. This is followed by an analysis of children's migration for education in northern Thailand, where state schools often encourage students' aspirations towards upward social mobility at the same time as schools reproduce social inequality between the rural Karen and urban Thai society. The author draws attention to international humanitarian agencies who deliver education to refugees and migrants at the Thai-Burma border as well as the role of UK government schools in the process of resettling Karen refugees. In this way, the book analyses the connections between learning, migration, and intergenerational relations in households, schools, and other institutions at the local, regional, and global level.

Upside-Down Leadership Taylor Field, 2012-04-03 Everyday people may not see themselves as successful, influential leaders, and there are plenty of stale human expectations to discourage. Yet the lives and words of biblical persons, other historic servant leaders, great missionaries, and contemporary witnesses boost us with fresh perspectives. These lives, with unique points of view, bind the cynicism that might paralyze us and release hope that fuels our individual ability to have true impact. Graffiti Church pastor and leader Taylor Field creatively challenges us to flip conventional ideas upside down, escape clichés on leadership, and to see real leadership principles revealed as right side up. Everyday readers involved in community service, church, and missions will find current, practical, realistic, and diverse illustrations, simple, short, biblical, and cross-cultural, that help people to transcend barriers and powerfully influence the faith community and beyond.
