It was imported from Japan in the mid-1950s and is considered to be about 100 years old. Growth in the right trunk side, as measured 180 cm high and 180 cm wide. The autumn colour is spectacular but the tree is perhaps more elegant without by leaving them yellow to take its full display of foliage.

Right: This needle-leafed Japanese cedar is the largest and oldest Sorbus in collection. It was imported from Japan into the UK about 1940. It is a magnificent tree with lots of beautiful foliage. The trunk is 20 cm in diameter at soil level, 10 to 15 cm in diameter at 100 cm level, 10 to 15 cm in diameter at 200 cm level. It is a magnificent specimen Sorbus. This specimen tree must have been collected from a wild mountain forest region many, many years ago.

Below: An example of growing in Chinese garden style, and very popular in Japan and China. The style is a 5-6 ft tree with a very large trunk, growing in a very large pot. The trunk is very thick and the foliage is very dense. The tree is very old and the trunk is very thick. The trunk is very thick and the foliage is very dense. The trunk is very thick and the foliage is very dense.

Detail of the same tree showing the hollowed-out section, which is a particular attraction. Only about a foot of the trunk is still alive, but the tree is generally very healthy. The hollowed-out section is treated with lime sulphur to prevent decay, once in the early summer and later on in mid summer. This serves to preserve the wood from decay.

DEHGAN,2014-04-15 Public Gardens Management A Global Perspective provides essential information about public gardens and what is involved in designing managing and maintaining one Although suitable as a textbook its audience will include anyone with direct or peripheral responsibility for administration or supervision of a complex organization that requires scientific knowledge as well as public relations and business acumen It may also prove useful for homeowners for there is no fundamental difference between growing plants in a public garden or a home garden a fact reflected in the extensive reference citations The topic is multidisciplinary and as old as the beginning of human civilization when the concept of mental and physical restoration was realized by early man while he she was in a natural but well ordered garden environment Thus began the art of garden making Many volumes have been written on every applicable subject discussed in this and similar publications Indeed the voluminous literature on history design horticulture and numerous related subjects is nothing short of overwhelming Accordingly anyone involved in management of public gardens whether as a director or area supervisor and irrespective of the type and size of such facility would have to have familiarity with various aspects of garden organization and administration However despite the enormous number and diversity of such publications there are very few books that deal with the multiplicity of the topics in such a manner as to be practical in approach and cover most relevant and unified issues in a single book These volumes provide the essential background information on plants animals management maintenance fundraising and finances as well as history art design education and conservation They also cover a host of interrelated subjects and responsible organization of such activities as creating a childrens garden horticultural therapy conservatories zoological gardens and parks hence administration of multidimensional public gardens Nearly 500 full color plates representing illustrations from gardens in more than 30 countries are provided to assist and guide students and other interested individuals with history and the fundamental issues of public garden management The 15 chapters begin with the need for public gardens types of public gardens historical backgrounds as well as design diversity Numerous quotations are included from many garden lovers landscape architects philosophers and others The authors primary aim in writing this book was based on the confidence that a relevant reference between the encyclopedic nature of some and the specific subject matter of others could be used to provide fundamental information for management of public as well as private gardens The boundary between botanical and zoological gardens and parks is no longer as distinct as it once was In part it is because a garden is not a garden without plants and in part it has become apparent that for all practical intents and purposes all animals need plants for their survival Visitors of zoological gardens expect to see more than just animals zoos are landscaped grounds Moreover most communities find it financially difficult to simultaneously operate a botanical garden or an arboretum as well as a zoological garden and city parks A number of public gardens are currently referred to as botanical and zoological garden Population density and the publics desires and expectations as well as financial requirements are among the reasons for some major city parks such as Golden Gate in San Francisco Central Park in New York City and

Lincoln Park in Chicago which integrate botanical or zoological divisions as well as museums and recreational facilities While this book attempts to provide basic principles involved in public garden management it does not claim to be a substitute for broader familiarity Environmental Studies □ 3 Madhubun, Environmental Studies Understanding the World Around Us is a series of five books for classes 1 to 5 on Environmental Studies The series strictly follows the new NCERT syllabus and the vision of the National Curriculum Framework NCF 2005 The series introduces young learners to their environment They also learn how to preserve it while reading the books The books have been written in a child friendly language and are supported by lively illustrations The concepts have been explained in a simple clear and logical manner for better understanding
