Sayings '(-)' Or More-numbered Suttas F. L. Woodward, E. M. Hare, 1965 The Buddha's Footprint Johan Elverskog, 2020-01-24 A corrective to the contemporary idea that Buddhism has always been an environmentally friendly religion In the current popular imagination Buddhism is often understood to be a religion intrinsically concerned with the environment The Dharma the name given to Buddhist teachings by Buddhists states that all things are interconnected Therefore Buddhists are perceived as extending compassion beyond people and animals to include plants and the earth itself out of a concern for the total living environment In The Buddha's Footprint Johan Elverskog contends that only by jettisoning this contemporary image of Buddhism as a purely ascetic and apolitical tradition of contemplation can we see the true nature of the Dharma According to Elverskog Buddhism is in fact an expansive religious and political system premised on generating wealth through the exploitation of natural resources Elverskog surveys the expansion of Buddhism across Asia in the period between 500 BCE and 1500 CE when Buddhist institutions were built from Iran and Azerbaijan in the west to Kazakhstan and Siberia in the north Japan in the east and Sri Lanka and Indonesia in the south He examines the prosperity theology at the heart of the Dharma that declared riches to be a sign of good karma and the means by which spiritual status could be elevated through donations bequeathed to Buddhist institutions He demonstrates how this scriptural tradition propelled Buddhists to seek wealth and power across Asia and to exploit both the people and the environment Elverskog shows the ways in which Buddhist expansion not only entailed the displacement of local gods and myths with those of the Dharma as was the case with Christianity and Islam but also involved fundamentally transforming earlier social and political structures and networks of economic exchange The Buddha's Footprint argues that the institutionalization of the Dharma was intimately connected to agricultural expansion resource extraction deforestation urbanization and the monumentalization of Buddhism itself

Buddhist Approach to Harmonious Families, Healthcare and Sustainable Societies Thich Duc Thien, Thich Nhat Tu, 2019-04-16 EDITORS INTRODUCTION BACKGROUND There have been major changes in world today and that the term Global Leadership and Sustainable Development is no longer taken for granted as a point of reference for understanding the contemporary chaotic situation These disruptive changes mean that it is now arguable as to whether we still live in a world of justice equality peace and prosperity The nature of these changes and the concepts of the Buddhist approach are central to the whole project of this book In this light we place great emphasis on understanding Buddhist teaching in dealing with this matter We argue that any investigation of the changing character and context of the present time needs to take account of the Buddhist philosophy We focus on providing a thorough and critical understanding of change taking place as a starting point of discussion In doing so we attempt to clarify the nature of the Buddhist approach It may be more productively understood as the result of a complex contested and fragile set of arrangements which in this book we term as approach We do not imply that the frameworks based on the Buddhist teachings are fully fixed and agreed by everybody Rather it would refer to a set of arrangements that need to be further discussed Given the above this volume collects together papers presented at the international workshop on Buddhist Approach to Harmonious Families Healthcare and Sustainable Societies which took place on 13 May 2019 at International Conference Center Tam Chuc Ha Nam Vietnam on the occasion of THE 16TH UNITED NATIONS DAY OF VESAK CELEBRATIONS 2019 The participants in this workshop were not representative of the mainstream thinking or conventional wisdom of this field although this volume reflects this richness and diversity Treating the Buddha teachings as a basic theoretical reconstruction we examine the relationships between the societies and Buddhist responsibilities We combine analyses of the conflicts trends and dynamics affecting future development with more focused studies on a range of policy areas migration education leadership climate change etc Two of our most crucial presumptions are that making Buddhism great again at the time of disruption is our first and foremost duty and the Buddhist responsibility can contribute to creating a new foundation for Global Leadership and Sustainable Development
