Animals In Action:

Animals and Science ,1991 Minding Animals in the Old and New Worlds Steven Wagschal,2018-10-16 Minding Animals in the Old and New Worlds employs current research in cognitive science and the philosophy of animal cognition to explore how humans have understood non human animals in the Iberian world from the Middle Ages through the early modern period Using texts from European and Indigenously informed sources Steven Wagschal argues that people tend to conceptualize the minds of animals in ways that reflect their own uses for the animal the manner in which they interact with the animal and the place in which the animal lives Often this has little if anything to do with the actual cognitive abilities of the animal However occasionally early authors made surprisingly accurate assumptions about the thoughts and feelings of animals Wagschal explores a number of ways in which culture and human cognition interact including the utility of anthropomorphism the symbolic use of animals in medieval Christian texts attempts at understanding the minds of animals in Spain s early modern farming and hunting books the effect of novelty on animal conceptualizations in New World histories and how Cervantes navigated the forms of anthropomorphism that preceded him to create the first embodied animal minds in fiction Intention in Action Pathiaraj Rayappan,2010 G E M Anscombe was one of the important philosophers of the twentieth century Her most famous works are Intention and Modern Moral Philosophy and have given origin to the new branch called Philosophy of Action and have been an impetus for the revival of Virtue Ethics This book studies G E M Anscombe s evaluation of moral theories and moral actions based on her findings in Philosophical Psychology The author argues that a moral evaluation solely from the point of view of intention is insufficient and looks for a way in which this insufficiency can be overcome Taking inspiration from Martin Rhonheimer he finds a way to overcome this insufficiency through concepts such as the moral object the anthropological truth of man and the practical reason which are other essential elements to be considered in moral evaluation in addition to intention The Use of Animals in Research by the Department of Defense United States. Congress. House. Committee on Armed Services. Subcommittee on Research and Development,1992 The British Cyclopaedia of the Arts, Sciences, History, Geography, Literature, Natural History, and Biography ... ,1838 Animals in Disaster, Module A, Awareness and Preparedness, May 1998 ,2003

Pretending and Imagination in Animals and Children

Robert W. Mitchell, 2002-02-21 It is well known that children's activities are full of pretending and imagination but it is less appreciated that animals can also show similar activities Originally published in 2002 this book focuses on comparing and contrasting children's and animals' pretenses and imaginative activities In the text overviews of research present conflicting interpretations of children's understanding of the psychology of pretense and describe sociocultural factors which influence children's pretenses Studies of nonhuman primates provide examples of their pretenses and other simulative activities explore their representational and imaginative capacities and compare their skills with children Although the psychological requirements for pretending are controversial evidence presented in this volume suggests that great apes and even monkeys may share capacities for imagination with children and that children's early pretenses may be less psychological than they appear
