Animals And Why They Matter:

Animals and why They Matter Mary Midgley, 1984 Animals and Why They Matter examines the barriers that our philosophical traditions have erected between human beings and animals and reveals that the too often ridiculed subject of animal rights is an issue crucially related to such problems within the human community as racism sexism and age discrimination Mary Midgley's profound and clearly written narrative is a thought provoking study of the way in which the opposition between reason and emotion has shaped our moral and political ideas and the problems it has raised Whether considering vegetarianism women's rights or the humanity of pets this book goes to the heart of the question of why all animals matter

Creaturely Theology David Clough, 2013-02-11 Creaturely Theology is a ground breaking scholarly collection of essays that maps out the agenda for the future study of the theology of the non human and the post human A wide range of first rate contributors show that theological reflection on non human animals and related issues are an important though hitherto neglected part of the agenda of Christian theology and related disciplines The book offers a genuine interdisciplinary conversation between theologians philosophers and scientists and will be a standard text on the theology of non human animals for years to come Contributors include Esther D Reed Exeter Rachel Muers Leeds Stephen Clark Liverpool Neil Messer Lampeter Peter Scott Manchester Michael Northcott Edinburgh Christopher Southgate Exeter

The Ethics of Nature Celia Deane-Drummond, 2008-04-15 This accessible and timely book uses a Christian perspective to explore ethical debates about nature A detailed exploration of humanity's treatment of the natural world from a Christian perspective Covers a range of ethical debates including current controversies about the environment animal rights biotechnology consciousness and cloning Sets the immediate issues in the context of underlying theological and philosophical assumptions Complex scientific issues are explained in clear student friendly language The author develops her own distinctive ethical approach centred on the practice of wisdom Discusses key figures in the field including Peter Singer Aldo Leopold Tom Regan Andrew Linzey James Lovelock Anne Primavesi Rosemary Radford Ruether and Michael Northcott The author has held academic posts in both theology and plant science

Why Animal Suffering Matters Andrew Linzey, 2009 In this superbly argued and deeply engaging book Andrew Linzey not only shows that animals can and do suffer but also that many of the justifications for inflicting animal suffering in fact provide grounds for protecting them

Ethics, Humans and Other Animals Rosalind Hursthouse, 2013-02-01 This introductory textbook is ideally suited to newcomers to philosophy and ethical problems Rosalind Hursthouse carefully introduces the three standard approaches in current ethical theory utilitarianism rights and virtue ethics She links each chapter to readings from key exponents such as Peter Singer and Mary Midgley and asks students to think critically about these readings for themselves Key features include clear activities and activities chapter summaries and guides to further reading

Taking Animals Seriously David DeGrazia, 1996-07-13 This book distinguishes itself from much of the polemical literature on these issues by offering the most judicious and well balanced account yet available of animals moral standing and related questions concerning their minds and welfare Transcending jejune debates focused on utilitarianism versus rights the book offers a fresh methodological approach with specific and constructive conclusions about our treatment of animals David DeGrazia provides the most thorough discussion yet of whether equal consideration should be extended to animals interests and examines the issues of animal minds and animal well being with an unparalleled combination of philosophical rigor and empirical documentation His book is an important contribution to the field of animal ethics and will be read with special interest by all philosophers teaching such courses as well as biologists those professionally involved with animals and general readers concerned about animal welfare

Subjects That Matter Namita Goswami, 2019-09-01 Argues for postcoloniality as a model for philosophical practice In this ambitious book Namita Goswami draws on continental philosophy postcolonial criticism critical race theory and African American and postcolonial feminisms to offer postcoloniality as a model for philosophical practice Moving among and between texts traditions and frameworks including the work of Gayatri Spivak Theodor Adorno Barbara Christian Paul Gilroy Neil Lazarus and Hortense Spillers among others she charts a journey that takes us beyond Eurocentrism by understanding postcoloniality as the pursuit of heterogeneity that is of a non antagonistic understanding of difference Recognizing that philosophy feminism and postcolonial theory share a common concern with the concept of heterogeneity Goswami shows how postcoloniality empowers us to engage more productively the relationships between these disciplines Subjects That Matter confronts the ways Eurocentrism an identity politics that considers difference as inherently oppositional relegates minority traditions to a diagnostic and or corrective standpoint to prevent their general implications from playing a critical and transformative role in how we understand subjectivity and agency Through unexpected often surprising and thought provoking analytic connections and continuities this book s interdisciplinary approach reveals a postcolonial pluralism that expands philosophical resources confounds and limits our habitual disciplinary lexicons and opens up new areas of inquiry This is a groundbreaking contribution to a number of distinct but intersecting fields Amy Allen author of The End of Progress Decolonizing the Normative Foundations of Critical Theory Considering Animals Carol Freeman, Elizabeth Leane, Yvette Watt, 2011 Taking their cue from the specific animal moments that punctuate our relationships with nonhuman animals experts from the biological sciences humanities and social sciences engage with issues and debates central to human animal studies Considering Animals brings together contemporary international case studies from across the globe that examine our interactions with animals Given current discussions about the status of animals and the widespread extinction of species this is an important and timely collection The Lancet London , 1831 The Medieval Reception of Book Zeta of Aristotle's Metaphysics (2 vol. set) Gabriele Galluzzo, 2012-11-09 Focusing on the medieval reception of Book Zeta of Aristotle s Metaphysics Volume One of this work offers an unprecedented and philosophically oriented study of medieval ontology against the background of the current metaphysical debate on the nature of material objects Volume Two makes
