Reproducing the British Caribbean Juanita De Barros,2014 Reproducing the British Caribbean Sex Gender and Population Politics after Slavery Integrated Vector Management G. A. Mathews,2011-08-17 Diseases transmitted by insects continue to have a major impact on human populations Malaria dengue onchocerciasis sleeping sickness and leishmaniasis all adversely affect man Malaria is one of the most important causes of child mortality and reduces economic development in many countries with agricultural productivity often greatly reduced as many vectors are active in the wet season favourable for crop production Vector control is crucial to reduce the extent to which drugs are needed to treat the diseases as the parasite can become resistant or the drugs are often too expensive for those living in rural areas and urban slums most affected by these diseases Chemical control of vectors is often the only method that can reduce vector populations in a disease epidemic but with vectors developing resistance to insecticides there is increasing awareness that a single control method is often insufficient and also that chemical control must be integrated where possible with other control measures In Integrated Vector Management Graham Matthews covers the main chemical methods of vector control including the use of indoor residual spraying space treatments the use of treated bed nets and larviciding but also stresses the importance of drainage schemes and improvement of houses to prevent access of indoor vectors techniques that have largely been responsible for reducing the risk of vector borne diseases in Europe and the USA This book combines practical information from successful vector control programmes including early use of DDT and recent research into a vital resource for all those now involved in combating insect vector borne diseases Integrated Vector Management is an essential tool not only for medical entomologists and those directly involved in government health departments but also for all those who provide the skills and management needed to operate successful area wide vector management programmes Libraries in all universities and research establishments world wide where biological sciences medicine and agriculture are studied and taught should have multiple copies of this important book     *Faxon ... research areas if of highest importance in future In addition the CRSN Burkina Faso University of Heidelberg collaboration is given as a model that allows high class research in remote areas of any developing country An absolutely must for all who are working in clinical epidemiological and health systems research for and in developing countries

Cumulated Index

Medicus ,1969 Governing Health Systems in Africa Martyn Sama,Vinh-Kim Nguyen,2008 Drawing on various disciplinary perspectives this book re focuses the debate on what makes a good health system with a view to clarifying the uses of social science research in thinking about health care issues in Africa The explosion of the HIV AIDS pandemic the persistence of malaria as a major killer and the resurgence of diseases like tuberculosis which were previously under control have brought about changes in the health system with implications for its governance especially in view of the diminished capacity of the public health facilities to cope with a complex range of expanded needs Government responsibilities and objectives in the health sector have been redefined with private sector entities both for profit and not for profit playing an increasingly visible role in health care provisions The reasons for collaborative patterns vary but chronic under funding of publicly financed health services is often an important factor Processes of decentralisation and health sector reforms have had mixed effects on health care system performance while private health insurance markets and private clinics are pointers to a growing stratification of the health market in line with the intensified income and social differentiation that has occurred over the last two decades These developments call for health sector reforms

Climate Change and Vulnerability and Adaptation

Neil Leary,Cecilia Conde,Jyoti Kulkarni,Anthony Nyong,James Adejuwon,Vicente Barros,Ian Burton,Rodel Lasco,Juan Pulhin,2013-11-05 Sound and solid case studies on vulnerability and adaptation have been woefully lacking in the international discourse on climate change This set of books begins to bridge the gap Achim Steiner UN Under Secretary General and Executive Director of United Nations Environment Programme Important reading for students and practitioners alike Martin Parry Co Chair Working Group II Impacts Adaptation and Vulnerability Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change IPCC Fills an important gap in our understanding It is policy relevant and deserves to be widely read Richard Klein Senior Research Fellow Stockholm Environment Institute SEI Sweden The Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change IPCC concluded in its 2001 report that much of the developing world is highly vulnerable to adverse impacts from climate change. But the IPCC also concluded that the vulnerabilities of developing countries are too little studied and too poorly understood to enable determination of adaptation strategies that would be effective at reducing risks. These authoritative volumes resulting from the work of the Assessments of Impacts and Adaptations to Climate Change AIACC project launched by the IPCC in 2002 are the first to provide a comprehensive investigation of the issues at stake. Climate Change and Vulnerability discusses who is vulnerable to climate change, the nature of their vulnerability and the causes of their vulnerability for parts of the world that have been poorly researched until now. Climate Change and Adaptation covers current practices for managing climate risks to food security, water resources, livelihoods, human health and infrastructure needs; for effective management of climate risks; the changing nature of the risks; strategies for adaptation and the need to integrate these strategies into development planning and resource management.
