Department of Labor, Bureau of Labor Statistics Staff, United States. Bureau of Labor Statistics, 2002-04 Global Ergonomics P.A. Scott, J. Charteris, R.S. Bridger, 1998-09-01 Jointly hosted by the Ergonomics Society of South Africa ESSA and the International Ergonomics Association IEA this conference was attended by over 300 delegates and represented the largest and most prestigious gathering of eminent international ergonomists in the history of Africa It also marked the beginning of a revival in concern for the well being and productivity of people at work in South Africa The conference aimed to juxtapose two great ergonomic themes the under developed ethos of the affluent societies and the technologically advanced ethos of the most affluent societies The structure of the proceedings reflects this with the first section addressing the priorities of countries in transition and the last section addressing the priorities of the most industrially developed countries who have by and large long since solved the sorts of ergonomics problems currently of concern in the under developed world In between these in a roughly hierarchical arrangement from micro to macro levels of analysis are sections which collectively help span the whole field of ergonomics Section overviews are provided to outline the topics included in each section Hydraulic Research in the United States, 1965 Hydraulic Research in the United States United States. National Bureau of Standards, 1957 Water Resources Research Catalog, 1966 Highway Noise; a Design Guide for Highway Engineers Bolt, Beranek, and Newman, Bolt, Beranek, and Newman, inc, 1971 Various methods of assessing noise loudness and noise annoyance are reviewed and explained sources types and intensities of traffic noise are noted typical means of abatement and attenuation are described design criteria for various land uses ranging from low density to industrial are suggested and compared with the results of previous BBN and British systems for predicting annoyance and complaint and a design guide for predicting traffic noise capable of being programmed for batch and on line computer applications is presented in form suitable for use as a working tool A flow diagram describes the interrelationships of elements in the traffic noise prediction methodology and each element is discussed in detail in the text The text is presented of a tape recording that takes the listener through a series of traffic situations with such variables as traffic distance flow velocity distance outdoors and indoors and presence or absence of absorbers and attenuators Technology and the American Economy United States. Hydraulic Research in the United States 1959 United States. National Bureau of Standards, 1959 Highway Research and Development Studies Using Federal-aid Research and Planning Funds; Fiscal Year 1968 Or Calendar Year 1967 in Progress as of July 1, 1967, 1967 The Human in Command Carol McCann, Ross Pigeau, 2012-12-06 MAJOR GENERAL M K JEFFERY Command and indeed the human in command has always been key to military operations The complexity and tempo of modern operations make this statement even more true today than in the past However both the military and the research 2 communities have tended to treat command and control C from a limited perspective For too long command and control have been considered as if they were a single concept with control often dominating our study Indeed in many 2 cases we have divorced operational C from the military institution itself resulting in disconnects and inefficiencies Then in an attempt to overcome these self inflicted deficiencies we have pursued the Holy Grail of technology hoping that it 2 would solve our C problems Only now as we start to realize technology s costs 2 and limitations are we looking critically at C This book attempts to take such a look The contributions that make up this book are the product of a June 1998 NATO North Atlantic Treaty Organization workshop called The Human in Command Far from being purely an academic exercise this gathering brought together military leaders and civilian scientists to discuss C s central pragmatic and conceptual issues its assumptions its practices and its organization Indeed in recent years there has been mounting evidence that both our society and its military institutions are facing organizational crises NASA Technical Paper, 1981
