Arab Manpower The Crisis Of Development:

Arab Manpower J. S. Birks, C. A. Sinclair, 1980 Arab Manpower (RLE Economy of Middle East) J. S. Birks, C. A. Sinclair, 2014-11 The Arab world increasingly falls into two divisions the capital poor and the capital rich countries where capital means in essence oil In the capital rich countries shortage of labour is the chief constraint on growth In the capital poor countries analysis of the labour market is equally central as shortage of labour compounds the already existing problem of shortage of capital This book surveys the labour markets of the Arab world state by state evaluating them by demand and supply analysis and analysing the different elements in trends of employment It forecasts the areas of stress in the next decade and suggests ways of minimising them The book based on much previously unpublished information and on extensive on the spot research in the respective Arab countries sets out the economic and social conditions which underly the impending crisis of development in the Arab region First published in 1980 Arab Manpower (RLE Economy of Middle East) J.S. Birks, C.A. Sinclair, 2020-07-26 The Arab world increasingly falls into two divisions the capital poor and the capital rich countries where capital means in essence oil In the capital rich countries shortage of labour is the chief constraint on growth In the capital poor countries analysis of the labour market is equally central as shortage of labour compounds the already existing problem of shortage of capital This book surveys the labour markets of the Arab world state by state evaluating them by demand and supply analysis and analysing the different elements in trends of employment It forecasts the areas of stress in the next decade and suggests ways of minimising them The book based on much previously unpublished information and on extensive on the spot research in the respective Arab countries sets out the economic and social conditions which underly the impending crisis of development in the Arab region First published in 1980 Migrant Workers in the Gulf Roger Owen, Nicholas Van Hear, 1992-04-01 The oil price explosion of the early 1970s triggered off a massive wave of labour migration into the oil rich states of the Gulf The migrants came from the poorer Arab countries from Asia and Africa attracted by wage levels considerably higher than they could earn in their homelands Some came on short term contracts others stayed many years By the end of the 1980s there were thought to be over six million migrant workers in the region Migrant Workers in the Gulf for the first time provides a concise overview of the situation of these new migrant workers Written by Dr Roger Owen it gives a valuable insight into the problems and the pressures they face The report also contains an MRG Update by Dr Nicholas Van Hear outlining the mass population movements in the early 1990s About two million foreign residents left Iraq and Kuwait in the aftermath of the Iraqi invasion of Kuwait 800 000 Yemenis were pressured to leave Saudi Arabia while in 1991 persecution of Kuwait s long established Palestinian community by the newly restored rulers led to their mass exodus The report poses vital questions Can the rights of migrant workers be protected Can mass population movements be prevented in the future What should be the role of the UN and the international community This unique report should be of immense value to all those interested in the social and economic history of the Middle East and Asia and to policy makers concerned with migration labour and mass movements of people worldwide Please note that the terminology in the fields of minority rights and indigenous peoples rights has changed over time MRG strives to reflect these changes as well as respect the right to self identification on the part of minorities and indigenous peoples At the same time after over 50 years work we know that our archive is of considerable interest to activists and researchers Therefore we make available as much of our back catalogue as possible while being aware that the language used may not reflect current thinking on these issues

The Politics of Arab Integration Giacomo Luciani, Ghassan Salamé, 2015-07-16 This volume first published in 1988 is the result of a major research project the most important inquiry into the fundamental political structure of the Arab world It is often argued that Arab states are arbitrary political creations that lack historical or present legitimacy and are unable to relate to each other in a productive way It is further suggested that the demise of pan Arabism merely underlines the inability of individual Arab states to integrate either domestically or internationally This book Volume Four in the Nation State and Integration in the Arab World research project carried out by the Istituto Affari Internazionali sets out to answer the questions of Arab integration with articles from a wide range of contributors from around the world

The Transformation of the Gulf David Held, Kristian Ulrichsen, 2013-03-01 This book examines the political economic and social transformation of the six member states of the Gulf Cooperation Council GCC and the ways in which these states are both shaping and being reshaped by the processes of globalisation Adopting a multidisciplinary approach the volume combines thematic chapters focusing on issues such as globalisation nationalism and identity political thinking and economic diversification and redistributive policymaking with empirical chapters studying specific aspects of reform and change the emergence of governing markets the rise of Sovereign Wealth Funds Islamic Finance the relationship between energy and sustainability trends in foreign aid donorship strategic and foreign policy formulation Contributions from experts in the field provide cutting edge snapshots of a region in flux and collectively offer a roadmap of its repositioning in the global order examining the interaction between global processes and internal dynamics of change and resistance that inject new dimensions into debates over the loci of local and global transformations and the manner in which each plays off the other Situating the Gulf States firmly within their global twenty first century context this book will hold particular appeal to theorists of globalisation as well as to scholars of comparative politics international political economy and area studies

Development, Administration and Aid in the Middle East Gerd Nonneman, 2013-04-15 Successful development in the Middle East remains elusive although considerable aid is poured into the region and extensive bureaucracies for managing development have been established This book is a concise political economy of Middle Eastern development and its administration A major focus is the nature and role of State and bureaucracy Special attention is also paid to the relation between aid and development In addition to providing an analytical framework this book brings together a wealth of up to date information in an easily accessible format about the region s economic development and the structure of the countries development machinery Extensive original research in the area combined with a balanced use of Western and Arabic sources allow the author to present the most comprehensive overview of the subject available yet The book encompasses most of the Arab countries plus Ethiopia The Arab donors are also examined in detail Especially valuable and not elsewhere available are the numerous organisational charts depicting the individual countries development administrations and the Arab donors aid administrations This book will be of interest to all students of Middle East politics economics and administration as well as to students of development The Palgrave Handbook of International Labour Migration M. Panizzon,G. Zurcher,E.

Fornalé,2016-01-18 This Handbook focuses on the complexity surrounding the interaction between trade labour mobility and development taking into consideration social economic and human rights implications and identifies mechanisms for lawful movements across borders and their practical implementation Gulf Security in the Twenty-First Century David E.

Long,Christian Koch,1998-08-27 The connection between regional instability and the preservation of global security is nowhere more sensitive than in the Gulf Events since the 1990 1991 Gulf War continue to confirm the fragile interaction among states in the region and their susceptibility to external forces Gulf Security in the Twenty First Century brings together some of the foremost area experts to explore the most pressing issues including military threats to the region obstacles to economic development and socioeconomic harmonization and challenges to political stability In particular the work examines Iran s often enigmatic foreign policy vis vis its Gulf neighbors Iraq s resurgent military threat choices and constraints confronting US Middle East policy and Europe s inability to identify and pursue a united policy to safeguard its economic interests in the area These topics are further illuminated with an analysis of Russia s historical attempt at balancing foreign policy objectives in the Gulf with its enduring interests in Central Asia The potentially explosive issues of religious radicalism and the challenges of democratic pluralism are discussed in an effort to ascertain the potential of political Islam to disturb or enhance regional security Similarly the problems inhibiting the settlement of territorial disputes in and around the Gulf are brought into focus to illustrate lingering historical tensions among neighboring states To round out the book s topical coverage several contributors shed light on the region s unfettered dependence on foreign labor growing demographic pressures associated social and economic transformations and challenges to responsive public policy

Gulf Security in the Twenty-First Century Prof. Jamal Sanad Al-Suwaidi,2014 The connection between regional instability and the preservation of global security is nowhere more sensitive than in the Gulf Events since the 1990 1991 Gulf War continue to confirm the fragile interaction among states in the region and their susceptibility to external forces Gulf Security in the Twenty First Century brings together some of the foremost area experts to explore the most pressing issues including military threats to the region obstacles to economic development and socioeconomic harmonization and challenges to political stability In particular the work examines Iran s often enigmatic foreign policy vis vis its Gulf neighbors Iraq s resurgent military threat choices and constraints confronting US Middle East policy and Europe s inability to identify and pursue a united policy to safeguard its economic interests in the area. These topics are further illuminated with an analysis of Russia's historical attempt at balancing foreign policy objectives in the Gulf with its enduring interests in Central Asia. The potentially explosive issues of religious radicalism and the challenges of democratic pluralism are discussed in an effort to ascertain the potential of political Islam to disturb or enhance regional security. Similarly, the problems inhibiting the settlement of territorial disputes in and around the Gulf are brought into focus to illustrate lingering historical tensions among neighboring states. To round out the book's topical coverage, several contributors shed light on the region's unfettered dependence on foreign labor, growing demographic pressures, associated social and economic transformations, and challenges to responsive public policy.

Transnational Organized Crime and International Security Mats R. Berdal, Monica Serrano (ed), 2002. Though the provision of illicit goods and services is far from being a new phenomenon, today's global economic environment has allowed transnational organized crime an unprecedented capacity to challenge states. The authors of this book examine the trends underlying the explosion of transnational organized crime and consider possible responses. Emphasizing the difficulties encountered by individual states in their efforts to deal with this security dilemma, they highlight the growing importance of multilateral initiatives.

Asianization of Migrant Workers in the Gulf Countries S. Irudaya Rajan, Ginu Zacharia Oommen, 2019-11-27. This edited volume contains sixteen chapters by eminent scholars on one of the largest migration corridors in the world, i.e. between South and South East Asia and the Gulf region. Asia's trade and cultural contact with the Gulf date back to ancient historical times. Since the 1970s, the economic rise of the Gulf Cooperation Council (GCC) countries, owing to the discovery of oil, has inspired a huge influx of migrant workers from Asia. At present, out of roughly 15 million expatriates in the Gulf region, Asians constitute around 12 million, 80 percent. The chapters in this book look at migration from countries like India, Sri Lanka, Bangladesh, Pakistan, Indonesia, and Philippines to the different GCC countries. A few chapters also focus on migration from the Indian state of Kerala, a state where migration to the Gulf is prominent and where remittances make up over 36 percent of the state GDP. Furthermore, the issues covered range from labour practices and policies, citizenship and state protection, human rights, gender, and caste, as well as diaspora. This book explores the multifaceted nuances of the Asia-Gulf migratory corridor and uncovers its future prospects and strategic implications. The book examines remittance behaviour, changing gender roles of immigrants, social spatial mobility, migrant policies, human rights, sense of belonging and identity, and perception, and the interaction between nationals and non-nationals. The book will be of interest to researchers in the areas of demography, migration, and gender studies, as well as social science researchers, policy makers, human rights lawyers, civil society institutions working on migration, Gulf studies programmes, and centres on South Asian and Middle Eastern studies.

Indian Diaspora in the Persian Gulf States Prakash C. Jain, 2025-08-15. Indian Diaspora in the Persian Gulf States focuses on the historical as well as the contemporary aspects of the Indian diaspora of the region, where small Indian merchant communities called Banians already existed for centuries. Persian Gulf countries emerged as rentier states since the 1970s mainly due to the development of the oil industry which transformed the region from subsistence to globalized capitalist economies In these economies the role of sponsored Indian expatriate immigrants numbering at least 20 million during the past half century was vitally important Taking the rentier state as the theoretical perspective the author argues that the sponsorship kafala system tended to have a different impact on the Indian expatriates incorporation and promotion of the entrepreneurs and professionals as business elites and the perpetual exploitation of the working classes The book is not only the first ever definitive and comprehensive work on the Indian diaspora in the nine countries of the Gulf region it also stands as the author s final statement on his three odd decades of research and writing on the subject Besides highlighting the role of Indian diaspora the book also profiles all the Gulf based recipients of the Pravasi Bharatiya Samman Awards Bilateral trade investment and political relations between India and individual Persian Gulf states constitute another focus area of the volume The volume will be an interesting read for teachers researchers and policy makers connected with migration and diaspora studies labour studies political economy international relations and geopolitics

Planning for Population Change W. T. S. Gould,R. Lawton,2023-10-02 Originally published in 1986 this book explores many important aspects of the relationship between population change and planning exploring the impact of population change on service provision and its impact on the policy making process In all countries whether their population is expanding ageing or stagnating population mobility is an important cause of economic and social development This book argues that there is a need for greater sensitivity about population change in policy making and service provision and suggests ways of achieving this

Offshore Citizens Noora Lori,2019-08-22 This study of citizenship and migration policies in the Gulf shows how temporary residency can become a permanent citizenship status

The Middle Eastern Village Richard Lawless,2023-05-31 Rapid and uneven change to the fabric of rural life is widespread in modern Middle Eastern countries Modernisation usually in the Western model has often brought major improvements in agricultural technology education and public health but has also had the effect of weakening the traditional rural economy of many villages and encouraging their growing dependence on external sources of income most notably oil remittances This collection of research on the Middle Eastern village looks at the impact on rural life and environment of such factors as the mass exodus of labour to urban centres emigration immigration environmental change and the changing role of women in rural communities particularly the wives of migrant workers who have to fill a new role in the family structure State sponsored agrarian policies have weakened the power of traditional landed interests and together with labour migration have provoked new tension and inequalities in rural society The book makes clear that the pattern of change has been highly uneven and has served to heterogenise the countryside As the oil states enter a period of recession and the likelihood of substantial return migration increases rural communities will need to make further major adjustments and the book examines the tensions this new development is likely to produce First published in 1987

The Political Economy of Saudi Arabia Tim Niblock, Monica Malik, 2007-11-13 With Saudi Arabia being of immense importance both politically and economically in the Middle East this book provides a much needed broad ranging survey of the development of the Saudi economy from the 1960s to the present day Written by a highly reputable author the book includes an analysis of how political and social factors have shaped policy and how the Saudi state is coping with the dynamics of a rapidly changing economic and political situation Labor and Rainfed Agriculture in West Asia and North Africa Dennis Tully, 2012-12-06 The basic objective of agricultural research at ICARDA is to enhance producer and consumer welfare through increasing the productivity stability and profitability of agriculture Improved practices must be technically economically and socially suitable to farmer conditions The rainfed areas of West Asia and North Africa have highly variable environmental conditions as well as complex social and economic structures In recent years the region has been experiencing major changes in the relative availabilities and costs of the classical factors of production land labor and capital These changes have important implications for the design of new agricultural technology On the one hand the availability of labor may be an important factor determining the acceptability of new technology On the other it is important to consider the impact that technology can have on rural employment To develop a better awareness of these issues and their relevance to technology development ICARDA initiated a project on Agricultural Labor and Technological Change The first stage of the project is published here it is a review of available literature on selected issues of regional importance combined with more detailed analyses of the situations of eight countries with important rainfed agricultural sectors ICARDA greatly appreciates the financial assistance of the Ford Foundation which allowed us to support the execution of the study and publication of its findings We also appreciate the great efforts of the authors in the face of often limited data and facilities Confronting the Occupation Maya Rosenfeld, 2004 Confronting the Occupation is a study of work education political national resistance family and community relations in a Palestinian refugee camp under conditions of Israeli military occupation It is based on extended field research carried out by an Israeli sociologist anthropologist in Dheisheh camp south of Bethlehem between 1992 and 1996 Emphasis is placed on how men and women families and the local refugee community confront the occupation regime as they seek livelihoods invest in the education of younger generations and mount a political and often militant struggle In the process men lose their jobs in the Israeli labor market women old and young enter the workforce university graduates are compelled to migrate to the Gulf and political cadres challenge harsh prison circumstances by establishing their own comprehensive counterorder While directed against the occupation patterns of coping and resistance adopted by Dheishehians introduced tensions and conflicts into family life furthering the transformation of gender and generational relationships
