Revelation in the Qur'an Simon P. Loynes, 2021-02-08 In Revelation in the Qur'an Simon P. Loynes presents a semantic study of the Arabic roots n z l and w y in order to elucidate the modalities of revelation in the Qur'an. Through an exhaustive analysis of their occurrences in the Qur'an and with reference to pre-Islamic poetry, Loynes argues that the two roots represent distinct occurrences with the former concerned with spatial events and the latter with communicative. This has significant consequences for understanding the Qur'an's unique concept of revelation and how this is both in concord and at variance with earlier religious traditions

Encyclopedia of Islam Juan Eduardo Campo, 2009 Explores the terms, concepts, personalities, historical events, and institutions that helped shape the history of this religion and the way it is practiced today

The Qur'an Oliver Leaman, 2006-05-02 A RUSA 2007 Outstanding Reference Title. The Qur'an is the source of inspiration for one of the world's major religions followed today by over a billion people. It plays a central role in Islam and ever since it appeared fourteen hundred years ago has been the subject of intense debate. Some of this has been carried out by Muslims and some by those hostile or indifferent to Islam, producing a very wide range of views. Authored by forty-three international experts, the objective of The Qur'an: An Encyclopedia is to present this diversity of thought, approach, and school without priority in order to give a strong appreciation of the range of response that the text has provoked throughout its history and providing students and researchers with a powerful one-volume resource covering all aspects of the text and its reception. Islam and the Qur'an are much in the news today and there is a public debate going on in which things are said about the Qur'an without much knowledge or understanding of the book. Every effort has been made to help the reader use the Encyclopedia as an investigative tool in Quranic studies. The volume assumes no previous knowledge of the Qur'an, Islam, or Arabic. Technical terms are explained in the text itself and the style of each entry is designed to be as self-contained as possible. Entries are cross-referenced and many include a brief bibliography. At the end of the work there is a substantial annotated bibliography providing a detailed guide to the most significant books, journals, and articles in Quranic Studies. There is a full index. The readership will include those seeking basic information on the Qur'an; however, the substantial number of longer entries means that it will also be used by specialists knowing as an expanded conception of ta dib good education In the first part of the book he elucidates Abu Bakr Effendi s position on a Muslim educational philosophy which can be couched as rational pragmatic and critical As a backdrop to this in the second part of the book he argues for a notion of Muslim educational philosophy according to ta arruf associational knowing on the basis that it enhances the notion of an autonomous self and its capabilities summons different people to engage in deliberative encounters and provokes the self to be reflectively open towards that which remains in becoming This leads him to posit that ta arruf associational knowing has the potential to cultivate humanity His notion of ta arruf extends practices of tarbiyyah rearing ta lim learning and ta dib good education associated with Muslim educational philosophy interpret human desire along two frameworks in reaction to Aristotle's philosophy. The investigation of the model dichotomy unfolds historically from the philosophy of Plotinus through the Graeco-Arabic translation movement in 8th-10th century Baghdad to 12th century al-Andalus with the philosophy of Ibn Bā and Ibn ṣafayl. Diverging on desire's inherent or non-inherent relation to the desiring subject, the two models reveal that the desire's role can orient opposed accounts of human perfection: logically structured demonstrative knowledge versus an ineffable witnessing of the truth. Understanding desire along these models, philosophers incorporated supra-rational aspects into philosophical accounts of the human being.

Abrogation in the Qur'an and Islamic Law Louay Fatoohi, 2012. This volume traces the development of abrogation from its most basic form to the complex and multi-faceted doctrine it has become. The book shows what specific problems the three modes of abrogation were introduced to solve and how this concept has shaped Islamic law. The book also critiques the role of abrogation in rationalizing the view that not all of the Qur'anic revelation has survived in the mushaf or the written record of the Qur'an.

Fatima's Touch Tamam Kahn, 2016-09-26. Fatima's Touch is a bridge between our time and seventh century Islam. Here is the founding daughter and mother of millions in the Muslim world whose story has barely been told in the West. What was the real position of women in Islam at the time of the Prophet? Words on her life with its examples of affection, kindness and effectiveness in challenges may serve as a hedge against fundamentalism.
