Archaeological Heritage Management:

Archaeological Heritage Management in the Modern World Henry Cleere, 2017-01-27 Representing the latest thinking in this fast moving and often emotive field this book offers a remarkably comprehensive international coverage of the public aspects of archaeology The process of survey and inventory rescue and archaeology conservation and protection have until now been studied largely on the basis of individual countries and their administrative and legislative structures Now by virtue of its broad geographical coverage this volume provides many rights and guidelines not hitherto brought into focus the history and philosophy of archaeological heritage management case studies regional national and specialised and the training and qualification of archaeologists for heritage management This book is essential reading for all students researchers and practitioners concerned with archaeological heritage management public administration and the legal community whose work involves archaeological issues Managing Archaeology John Carman, Malcolm Cooper, Anthony Firth, David Wheatley, 2005-08-18 Focusing on the principles and practice of management today and covering contract and field archaeology heritage management marketing law and information technology this is a collection of outstanding papers by diverse experts Archaeological Heritage Management Henry Cleere, 2020-11-25 This book results from discussions at the 1982 World Archaeological Congress on Public Archaeology and Cultural Resource Management It brings to everyone's notice the common need of a coherent well planned response to the potentially destructive threats of development and tourism to archaeology Archaeological Heritage Management, 1993 Consists of 21 papers for the Thematic Session on Archaeological Heritage Management of the General Assembly Archaeological Heritage Conservation and Management Brian J. Egloff, 2019-01-31 Archaeological heritage conservation is all too often highly conflicted Economic interests are often at the forefront of management decision making with heritage values given lesser if any consideration but when heritage places are managed with international principles in mind the sites stand out as evidencing superior outcomes

Archaeology and Heritage Management Usman Ali, 2021 This volume reconsiders the World Heritage Guidelines to manage cultural and natural heritage sites effectively The study approaches this in two ways The first is by evaluating and analyzing the fundamental theories and practice of heritage with comparison to World Heritage prescribed parameters for effective management particularly authenticity and the second is about to rereview the international legislation in the context of authenticity of heritage practice as a part of understanding and developing new parameters for conservation preservation and management Directory of Archaeological Heritage Management International Council on Monuments and Sites. International Committee on Archaeological Heritage Management, 1990 International Charter for Archaeological Heritage Management ICOMOS UK., 1998 Feasible Management of Archaeological Heritage Sites Open to Tourism Douglas C. Comer, Annemarie Willems, 2018-08-07 Archaeological sites opened to the public and especially those highly photogenic sites that have achieved iconic status are often major tourist attractions By opening an archaeological site to tourism threats and opportunities will emerge The threats are to the archaeological record the pre historic or historic materials in context at the site that can provide facts about human history and the human relationship to the environment The opportunities are to share what can be learned at archaeological sites and how it can be learned The latter is important because doing so can build a public constituency for archaeology that appreciates and will support the potential of archaeology to contribute to conversations about contemporary issues such as the root causes and possible solutions to conflict among humans and the social implications of environmental degradation In this volume we will consider factors that render effective management of archaeological sites open to the public feasible and therefore sustainable We approach this in two ways The first is by presenting some promising ways to assess and enhance the feasibility of establishing effective management Assessing feasibility involves examining tourism potential which must consider the demographic sectors from which visitors to the site are drawn or might be in the future identifying preservation issues associated with hosting visitors from the various demographic sectors and the possibility and means by which local communities might be engaged in identifying issues and generating long term support for effective management The second part of the book will provide brief case studies of places and ways in which the feasibility of sustainable management has been improved

Tourism and Archaeological Heritage Management at Petra Douglas C Comer, 2011-12-08 Once visited only by the cognoscenti of the ancient world over the last decade Petra has drawn almost a million visitors in some years Petra burst into popular consciousness with the release of enormously popular motion picture Raiders of the Lost Ark in 1981 Moviegoers all over the world were introduced to some of the spectacular scenic wonders of Petra the Siq a narrow chasm with colorful towering sandstone walls and Al Khazna the exquisitely carved tomb for a Nabataean king For centuries the Nabataeans controlled the trade in precious commodities across the Arabian Peninsula bring spices from Southeast Asia incense from present day Yemen gold and ivory from Africa and silk from the Far East across the Empty Quarter to ports on the western Mediterranean In 1985 Petra was included on the list of World Heritage Sites Since then low cost jet travel and a fast highway from the capital city of Amman have made the site increasingly accessible The Jordanian government has made attracting tourists to Jordan a top priority For all of the attention that Petra has received it is still surprisingly poorly understood A widely accepted chronology of the city even the dates of major tombs and monuments has yet to be established Even the mystery of why and how Arab nomads adopted a sedentary lifestyle and built a great city has yet to be fully explained Will Petra's popularity as a tourism destination overshadow the importance of addressing these questions and more importantly will tourism damage the archaeological remains there in ways that make answers more difficult or even impossible to find

Haviser, 2015 Caribbean archaeological heritage is threatened by natural impacts but also increasingly by economic developments often resulting from the tourist industry The continuous construction of specific projects for tourists accompanied by illegal practices such as looting and sand mining have major impacts on the region's archaeological heritage The geopolitical and cultural diversity of the Caribbean the general lack of awareness of island histories and multiple stakeholders involved in the preservation process have in many cases slowed down the effective enforcement of regulations and heritage legislation The development of archaeological heritage management AHM in the Dutch Caribbean islands started slowly in the early years of their semi autonomy within the Kingdom of the Netherlands from 1954 onwards With the dissolution of the Netherlands Antilles on 10 October 2010 Curaçao and St Martin obtained a more autonomous status within the Kingdom similar to Aruba has since 1986 Simultaneously Bonaire Saba and St Eustatius became special overseas municipalities of the Kingdom of the Netherlands Consequently these islands now fall under Dutch regulations for cultural resource management Irrespective of these geopolitical changes AHM has been developing on the six islands over the past 25 years partly because of the active role of localized island specific archaeological institutions This volume provides a background to the history of archaeological research in the Dutch Caribbean and compiles a number of compliance archaeology projects that have been carried out under and in the spirit of the Valletta Treaty In addition with its discussion of the successful creation of localized community based archaeological heritage associations serving as an excellent model for other island communities in the Caribbean this volume represents a unique contribution to AHM in a wider regional perspective Contents Introduction the current status of archaeological heritage management AHM in the Dutch Caribbean Corinne L Hofman and Jay B Haviser A review of archaeological research in the Dutch Caribbean Jay B Haviser and Corinne L Hofman Achieving sustainable Archaeological Heritage Management in Aruba Raymundo A C F Dijkhoff and Marlene S Linville Heritage Management on Bonaire and Curaçao a step towards an integral approach to heritage Richenel Ansano and Claudia T Kraan Heritage Management and the Public Sphere doing archaeology on Saba Ryan Espersen Skeletons in the closet Future avenues for the curation of archaeological human skeletal remains in the Dutch Caribbean and the region as a whole Hayley L Mickleburgh Community Archaeology as an essential element for successful Heritage Management Jay B Haviser Community engagement local identity and museums A review of past heritage initiatives and recent developments on

Department of archaeology (Helsinki), 1995 Predictive Modelling for Archaeological Heritage Management Hans Kamermans, Martijn van Leusen, 2005 Quality Management in Archaeology Willem Willems, 2007-06-25 Quality Management in Archaeology deals with the effects of the profound changes that have had an impact on the discipline of archaeology all over the world In North America in Europe and increasingly in other parts of the world new legislation and international treaties have changed its position in society What was once a university based research activity by a limited number of academics has become a socially relevant field with many practitioners that are mostly employed in some branch of archaeological resource management Archaeology has been successful in persuading governments and the general public that more should be done to preserve archaeological heritage and to investigate it where it will be irretrievably lost The scale and frequency of archaeological work has increased vastly at considerable cost to society Consequently there is pressure to do the work efficiently and economically At the same time academic standards have to be maintained to assure that the end result will be the relevant knowledge about the past that society pays for Different countries have found different approaches and solutions to deal with this dilemma Sometimes commercial archaeology is allowed sometimes it is not but in every national context quality has to be managed in some way This book presents a survey by specialists from the US Canada and several European countries on how this is done what the principles are and also the priorities It will be useful for anyone interested in archaeological resource management
