Heritage Convention in Eurasia Sanz, Nuria (UNESCO), 2015-09-07 The Archaeology of Elam D. T. Potts, 1999-07-29

From the middle of the 3rd millennium BC until the coming of Cyrus the Great southwestern Iran was referred to in Mesopotamian sources as the land of Elam. A heterogeneous collection of regions, Elam was home to a variety of groups alternately the object of Mesopotamian aggression and aggressors themselves, an ethnic group seemingly swallowed up by the vast Achaemenid Persian empire yet a force strong enough to attack Babylonia in the last centuries BC. The Elamite language is attested as late as the Medieval era and the name Elam as late as 1300 in the records of the Nestorian church. This book examines the formation and transformation of Elam's many identities through both archaeological and written evidence and brings to life one of the most important regions of Western Asia, re-evaluates its significance and places it in the context of the most recent archaeological and historical scholarship.

Archaeological Thought in America C. C. Lamberg-Karlovsky, 1989. American archaeology today encompasses a huge range of approaches and draws eclectically on a multitude of academic disciplines. Until now, however, there has been no book seeking to separate the main strands and traditions of research and present a rounded picture of American archaeological thought in all its diversity. The seventeen essays in Archaeological Thought in America describe recent theoretical advances and present substantive interpretations of prehistoric data drawn from a variety of cultures and time frames including Mesoamerica, Central Asia, India, and China. The contributors include many of the leading North American archaeologists of this generation.

Prehistoric Settlement Patterns and Cultures in Susiana, Southwestern Iran Abbas Alizadeh, 1992-01-01. This book reports the results of an archaeological survey undertaken in southwestern Iran by a remarkable researcher, Dr. F. G. L. Gremliza. The author, Abbas Alizadeh, presents Gremliza's survey data and provides an analysis of the developmental implications.

Archiv 61-62 Weltmuseum Wien Friends, Eranshahr Carlo Giovanni Cereti, Pierfrancesco Callieri, Vito Messina, 2025-07-31. This fourth volume of the Atlas of the Ancient Near East (OCAVOA) collects 15 contributions by members of the three Units composing the PRIN 2017 Eranshahr: Man, Landscape, and Society in Arsacid and Sasanian Iran. Texts, material culture, and society from Arsaces to Yazdegard III. Three case studies: Pars, Pahlaw, and Khuzestan. 2017PR34CS. These papers were presented during the conclusive workshop of the project held in Ravenna on February 22-23, 2024. The project was conceived in 2017 and launched in 2018, representing a collaborative effort by a multidisciplinary team of scholars from Sapienza University of Rome, Alma Mater Studiorum University of Bologna, and Turin University, as well as several international partners. The project aimed to study the long millennium bridging two important transition periods in the history of western Asia: the first marking the passage from the Seleucid to the Arsacid era, the second being the fall of the Sasanian Empire and the rise of the Islamic Caliphate. In this framework, the book contains a set of archaeological, historical, geographical, and cultural studies on three ancient regions of western Iran during the Arsacid, Sasanian, and early Islamic periods, which combine into a coherent and innovative narration, shedding new light on the Iranian world in Antiquity, Late Antiquity, and the Early Middle Ages and opening the way for future investigations.
