Animal Biography André Krebber, Mieke Roscher, 2018-10-19 While historiography is dominated by attempts that try to standardize and de individualize the behavior of animals history proves to be littered with records of the exceptional lives of unusual animals This book introduces animal biography as an approach to the re framing of animals as both objects of knowledge as well as subjects of individual lives Taking an interdisciplinary perspective and bringing together scholars from among others literary historical and cultural studies the texts collected in this volume seek to refine animal biography as a research method and framework to studying capturing representing and acknowledging animal others as individuals From Heini Hediger's biting monitor Hachik and Murr to celluloid ape Caesar and the mourning of Topsy's gruesome death the authors discuss how animal biographies are discovered and explored through connections with humans that can be traced in archives ethological fieldwork and novels and probe the means of constructing animal biographies from taxidermy to film literature and social media Thus they invite deeper conversations with socio political and cultural contexts that allow animal biographies to provide narratives that reach beyond individual life stories while experimenting with particular forms of animal biographies that might trigger animal activism and concerns for animal well being spur historical interest and enrich the literary imagination

The Flood Myths of Early China Mark Edward Lewis, 2012-02-01 Early Chinese ideas about the construction of an ordered human space received narrative form in a set of stories dealing with the rescue of the world and its inhabitants from a universal flood This book demonstrates how early Chinese stories of the re creation of the world from a watery chaos provided principles underlying such fundamental units as the state lineage the married couple and even the human body These myths also supplied a charter for the major political and social institutions of Warring States 481 221 BC and early imperial 220 BC AD 220 China In some versions of the tales the flood was triggered by rebellion while other versions linked the taming of the flood with the creation of the institution of a lineage and still others linked the taming to the process in which the divided principles of the masculine and the feminine were joined in the married couple to produce an ordered household While availing themselves of earlier stories and of central religious rituals of the period these myths transformed earlier divinities or animal spirits into rulers or ministers and provided both etiologies and legitimation for the emerging political and social institutions that culminated in the creation of a unitary empire
