McKay,2013-01-11 With his rugged features and earthy sex appeal Victor Mature ushered in a new breed of postwar Hollywood actor far removed from the debonair matinee idols of the 1930s Following success as an upbeat leading man in the early 1940s Fox musicals opposite the likes of Betty Grable and Rita Hayworth he went on deliver two of his most powerful performances in My Darling Clementine 1946 and Kiss of Death 1947 But it was in the biblical epics such as Samson and Delilah 1949 The Robe 1953 and Demetrius and the Gladiators 1954 that his heartfelt acting and statuesque larger than life screen presence finally secured his place as a Hollywood icon Beginning with a concise biography this work covers Mature s film career in its entirety featuring synopses anecdotes from cast and crew and review commentary

Destination London Tim Bergfelder,Christian Cargnelli,2008 The legacy of emigr s in the British film industry from the silent film era until after the Second World War has been largely neglected in the scholarly literature Destination London is the first book to redress this imbalance Focusing on areas such as exile genre technological transfer professional training and education cross cultural exchange and representation it begins by mapping the reasons for this neglect before examining the contributions made to British cinema by emigr directors actors screenwriters cinematographers set designers and composers It goes on to assess the cultural and economic contexts of transnational industry collaborations in the 1920s artistic cosmopolitanism in the 1930s and anti Nazi propaganda in the 1940s The Musical William Everett,2011-06-02

The musical whether on stage or screen is undoubtedly one of the most recognizable musical genres yet one of the most perplexing. What are its defining features? How does it negotiate multiple socio-cultural-economic spaces? Is it a popular tradition? Is it a commercial enterprise? Is it a sophisticated cultural product and signifier? This research guide includes more than 1,400 annotated entries related to the genre as it appears on stage and screen. It includes reference works, monographs, articles, anthologies, and websites related to the musical. Separate sections are devoted to sub-genres such as operetta and megamusical, non-English language musical genres in the U.S., traditions outside the U.S., individual shows, creators, performers, and performance. The second edition reflects the notable increase in musical theater scholarship since 2000. In addition to printed materials, it includes multimedia and electronic resources.

Royal Portraits in Hollywood Elizabeth A. Ford, Deborah C. Mitchell, 2009-06-26 Few lives provide as much history or drama as those of monarchs. Filmmakers from the silent era to onward have displayed a deep fascination with the lives of royalty and with queens in particular. Still, the question remains: what do these films really tell us about the women beneath the crowns? Drawing on films from the 1930s to those of today, Royal Portraits in Hollywood: Filming the Lives of Queens investigates the ways in which these films reproduce history and represent women. Though hardly progressive in nature, many early films offered an acceptable, nonthreatening way to present strong female characters in an economic and social landscape run almost exclusively by men. Authors Elizabeth Ford and Deborah Mitchell track the evolution of queens on film, noting how depictions of prominent women have changed over the past several decades and calling attention to the ways in which films both reflect and dictate the social norms of their eras. By comparing historical records of monarchs such as Queen Christina of Sweden, Catherine the Great, Cleopatra, and Elizabeth I with their onscreen personas and examining the biographical details of the actresses who portrayed these women, Ford and Mitchell present a fascinating inquiry into issues of historical accuracy and gender politics in film.

"Your Loving Son" George McCowan King, University of Regina. Canadian Plains Research Center, 2002. This book is a compilation of various sources that form a coherent narrative that leads up to documents and explores the repercussions of the death of George McCowan King, a navigator in the Royal Canadian Air Force who was shot down over Germany on September 22, 1943. Focussing on the period from late 1942 to the end of the war but extending even into the 1990s, the voices that combine to tell the story of the navigator's life and death include his letters, the letters of other family members, correspondence with families of other servicemen, friends, diary, logbook entries, and official government missives concerning the circumstances of the death and the naming of King Creek in northern Saskatchewan.
