Applied Geography Issues Questions And Concerns:

Applied Geography: Issues, Questions, and Concerns M.S. Kenzer, 2013-11-11 The completion of this collection took many months and for a variety of reasons required the assistance and indulgence of a number of individuals First and foremost I would like to thank Tim Hudson for his useful input and support at the outset of the project Likewise I would like to thank Jesse O McKee for providing a hospitable environment during my affiliation with the University of Southern Mississippi At Louisiana State University I am grateful to Sam Hilliard and Carville Earle for their invaluable understanding The book became part of the GeoJournal Library as a result of Wolf Tietze's confidence in the topic and because of Henri G van Dorssen's and Kluwer Academic Publishers' good nature despite numerous problems Curtis C Roseman and the remainder of the Geography Department at the University of Southern California where I completed many last minute details for the volume are to be thanked for the cordial and warm environment I received while a visitor in Los Angeles Finally no multi-authored collection reaches completion without the help of many patient contributors This particular book suffered many setbacks along the way so I am particularly grateful to the authors herein They demonstrated their compassion and exceptional professionalism throughout by never second-guessing my decisions and by allowing me to remedy the setbacks in my own way They were a pleasure to work with and they should take pride in their achievements Applied Geography

Geography, Culture and Education Rod Gerber,M. Williams,2013-04-17 An important challenge for our world is to understand how cultural understanding and geographical education can be linked and used to improve the global society We readily accept that our world is constituted by numerous groups of people who are organised by committees tribes regions nations or continental entities How these groups interact show concern for each others well being and progress is still an unpredictable activity Intercultural tensions racial conflicts and religious clashes have all led to the challenges for enacting a constructive world Fundamental perspectives challenge moderate ones and the resulting tensions produce elements of fear doubt and distrust The extremist views of terrorist groups exaggerate these tensions to the extent that some different cultural groups do not prefer to live in peace with their neighbours Deep seated intercultural tensions predominate over peaceful co existence Such challenges may easily dominate the interaction between racial groups tribes indigenous peoples and colonisers However we know that through the sound practice of intercultural understanding cultural groups in different contexts around the world can interact and co exist successfully and productively In fact they can work together to seek to improve their society This does not mean that one group will dominate the other Rather it means that both groups work together to improve their collective lives Education has played an important role in the long term achievement of such harmony This volume has been developed to demonstrate that geographical education can be a potent force in the development of cultural understanding in different societies

Fieldwork in Geography: Reflections, Perspectives and Actions Rod Gerber, Goh Kim Chuan, 2013-03-14 Geographers regard fieldwork as a vital instrument for understanding our world through direct experience for gathering basic data about this world and as a fundamental method for enacting geographical education The range of international geography and educational experts who contributed to this volume has demonstrated that the concept of fieldwork has a considerable history in the field of geography They have demonstrated that the theoretical aspects of fieldwork have been interpreted differently in regions around the world but the importance of fieldwork remains strong globally A fresh look at the pedagogic implications for fieldwork in formal education offers ideas both for promoting it in geographical education and for maintaining its place in the geography curriculum Audience Forward looking geographers and educators now recognise that alternative strategies especially those involving the use of information technology should be developed to reaffirm the centrality of fieldwork in geographical and wider education

Geography: Discipline, Profession and Subject since 1870 Gary S. Dunbar, 2013-03-14 Gary S Dunbar Pro fesh yon al i zay shun pro fesh yon al i ZAY shun! I do not think I like that word I am quite certain I do not like that word! said A F Martin of Oxford University in 1980 when I mentioned to him that I was making a study of the professionalization of geography in Europe and North America from about 1870 to 1930 I should not have been surprised by his reply because Mr Martin a highly regarded lecturer tutor and university man was in some ways a typical example of his generation of British geographers in that he did not have an advanced degree and his publication record was meager Except for a single remarkable essay Martin 1951 he was not well known in the field of geography at least not outside the United Kingdom Was he then a professional geographer Yes indeed because he was a full time scholar in a distinguished university even though he lacked the sort of credentials that have been demanded of subsequent generations of scholars at Oxford and elsewhere I certainly do not mean to denigrate Martin or his ilk I am simply using this anecdote to launch a book on the emergence of modern geography

Geographical Education in a Changing World John Lidstone, Michael Williams, 2006-07-19 This book results from the work of the Commission on Geographical Education of the International Geographical Union Part 1 focuses on the distinctive traditions of school geography Part 2 reviews the state of school geography on a broad continental basis including national case studies by local experts The final chapters extrapolate from the present and point to likely future developments in the subject again with examples drawn from various countries

Contemporary Research in Population Geography John Stillwell, Henk J. Scholten, 2012-12-06 Significant changes have occurred in the structural composition and geographical distribution of the populations of North West European countries during the 1970 s and 1980 s Whilst the subject matter of this volume reflects many of the important themes of research activity that have preoccupied British and Dutch spatial demographers and population geographers over the last decade the structure of the book aims to facilitate comparison of those selected themes between the United Kingdom and the Netherlands The book has gradually taken shape over the period of time since the conference in Oxford in 1986 when the contents were first presented We are very grateful for the assistance that we have received during the production process from Marjie Salisbury Tim Hadwin and John Dixon at the School of Geography University of Leeds from Annemieke Perquin at the National Physical Planning Agency in The Hague and from Evert Meijer Elmy Heuvelmans and Berry van Houten at GEODAN in Amsterdam We also wish to acknowledge the contributions to the field of population geography that have been made in recent years by John Coward who died so tragically in the Kegworth air disaster earlier this year

Modelling Geographical Systems B. Boots,A. Okabe,R. Thomas,2013-11-11 Within the realm of quantitative geography systems modelling is specifically concerned with understanding those relationships that influence the attributes of phenomena located in space and time The intention is to replicate the main processes influencing a system s behaviour and thereby assist its management through a capability to estimate future change Over the last few decades one of the major institutional initiatives for promoting such research has been provided by specialised Study Groups and Commissions established by the International Geographical Union IGU These scholarly networks have aimed to coordinate international research agendas for geographical systems modelling and their activities have been recorded in both edited volumes Fischer and Getis 1997 and special issues of learned journals Wilkinson and Boots 2000 Leung and Okabe 2001 Presently this facilitative task is the charge of the Commission on Modelling Geographical Systems CMGS appointed at the IGU Hague Congress in 1996 and chaired by Barry Boots 1996 2000 and Richard Thomas 2000 present Set against this background this book provides a perspective on the work of the CMGS from 1996 until the IGU Seoul Congress in August 2000 through a collection of papers first presented to our sessions at this event Moreover a number of Japanese delegates were attracted to this Asian venue and their contributions provide many new ideas concerning the implementation of systems analysis

International Handbook on Geographical Education Rod Gerber,2013-03-09 I am very pleased to have been asked by Rod Gerber to provide a preface to such a book Not least because of the twenty four chapters eight are written by former students or colleagues with whom I have worked in the past and whom I still meet at conferences on geographical education It is with a certain pride and joy that I note the progress which has been made in geographical education both in its day to day teaching and in research in the twenty years following the end of my term of office as Chair of the Commission on Geographical Education of the International Geographical Union CGEIUG My successors Joe Stoltman Hartwig Haubrich Rod Gerber and now Lea Houtsonen have done much and are continuing to work hard to foster the development of geographical education This book is proof if proof were needed that the international collaboration in this field is alive and well with contributions coming from all the continents except Antarctica It would be a moribund subject that remained unaffected in one way or another by developments on the great world stage as Fairgrieve 1926 would have put it And as Rod Gerber shows the issues of globalisation of cultural encounters of differing value systems of new technologies of variable economic development and of environmental quality all feature as topics which influence and are influenced by geographical education

Climates and Societies - A Climatological Perspective M. Yoshino, Manfred Domrös, Annick Douguédroit, J. Paszynski, L.C. Nkemdirim, 2013-06-29 The impact of climate on human activities and the effect of humans on climate are two of the most important areas of inquiry in climatology These interactions conducted through physical chemical and biological processes were described as early as Roman and Greek times Marcus Vitruvius 75 25 B C a famous Roman engineer and architect made the following observation about the climatic conditions necessary for founding a city Land ideal for the health is slightly elevated and there should be neither fog nor frost The direction of the slope and the distance to the swamps lakes and beaches must also be considered The prevailing wind directions observed by a wind tower at the center of the city like Horologium at Athens should be taken into consideration in city planning The main and narrow streets should be placed in the middle angle of the two prevailing wind directions Then the location of the Pantheons and squares should be decided The influence of humans on climate was a major subject for discussion in the 19th century inspired in part by the rapid industrial growth and expanding deforestation of the time D L Howard wrote brilliant pieces on the climate of London in the 1830s while G P Marsh discussed the effects of forests on precipitation in the U S A in the second half of the 19th century

Nir, 2012-12-06 2 society would be a free anarchic society an without archos ruler a society in which each individual is responsible for the relationship between himself and the society By inner persuasion we must live by making the maximum contribution of our physical and mental assets combined with minimal charge against and exploitation of the society We must contribute to society as much as possible because directly and indirectly we enjoy the contributions of the global society in which we live and of which we are a part To achieve this goal we must know not only ourselves but also the society in which we live A society is not uniform It is composed of mosaics of people of varying characteristics structured in different patterns and groups the qualities of which we must know because upon them depends our own place in the society Were the world uniform of feature and society there would no place for regional geography But because the world varies in form and its societies are different study of the differentiation of the world s surface and the regional geography as the people who live on it is an important tool for understanding the society in which we live particularly when our goal is to live with it in harmony General Technical Report NRS-P ,2006 Proceedings of the 2006 Northeastern Recreation Research Symposium ,2007 Tourism vs Environment P.P. Wong, 1993-09-30 P P Wong ABSTRACT Tourism is environmentally dependent The unique character of coastal areas gives rise to a distinctive tourist development Although accounts on the impacts of coastal tourism can be found in works relating to tourism in general there are few works specifically on coastal tourism This present volume focuses on the physical environment of coastal tourism particularly the geomorphological aspects The papers deal with basic aspects of the coastal environment for tourism methodologies for assessing the coastal environment for tourism and empirical studies of various types of coastal environment with tourism development The resulting generalisations are expected to be applied elsewhere TOURISM AND ENVIRONMENT Environment has various meanings for tourism In its broadest sense the environment includes all natural and cultural elements as in OECD s 1981

definition to encompass the natural built and cultural aspects This holistic approach is encouraged in understanding the potential impacts arising from tourism A narrower meaning of environment is the natural and built environment as used by Cohen 1978 and Inskip 1991 339 Environment can also be restricted to the natural or physical environment in order to distinguish it from the economic and social aspects of tourism as used by tourism researchers e g Mathieson and Wall 1982 Pearce 1989 This approach is used predominantly in this volume Various relationships between tourism and the physical aspects of the coast are discussed There are basic relationships between environment and tourism Tourism is environmentally dependent and the environment is vulnerable to the impact of tourism
