Reading the Family Dance John V. Knapp, Kenneth Womack, 2003 The development in recent years of the intersections between the family and literary study continues to emerge as one of the most productive and illuminating arenas of contemporary critique In addition to addressing the family dynamic through which a given literary character develops a fully realized sense of self family systems therapy allows readers to examine the patterns by which characters function in their larger intimate systems whether those systems be social institutional or even global As the intellectual foundation for the forms of therapy practiced by the majority of contemporary American and European psychotherapists the study of family systems theory and its intersections with literary works affords readers with an illuminating glimpse into the terminology and processes involved in this dynamic form of critique Perhaps most significantly family systems therapy allows critics to consider the distinctly social interactions that characterise our pathways to interpersonal development and selfhood John V Knapp is Professor of English with a joint appointment in modern literature and in teacher education at Northern Illinois University Kenneth Womack is Assist Repossessing the World Helen M. Buss, 2006-01-01 Why does it seem as if everyone is writing memoirs and particularly women The current popularity of memoir verifies the common belief that we each have a story to tell And we do especially women Memoirs are not only representations of women's personal lives but also of their desire to repossess important parts of our culture in which women's stories have not mattered Beginning with her own motivations for writing memoirs Helen M Buss examines the many kinds of memoir written by contemporary women memoirs about growing up memoirs about traumatic events about relationships about work In writing memoirs these women publicly assert that their lives have mattered They reshape the memoir a form as old as the middle ages and as young as today into a social discourse that blends the personal with the political the self with the significant other literature with history and fiction with autobiography and essay Buss urges readers to use their reading experience to help themselves understand and write the significance of their own lives Repossessing the World is the first book length critical inquiry into women s use of a form that has often been dismissed as less important than autobiography less professional than the novel and less intellectual than the formal essay Buss demonstrates that the memoir makes its own art not only through selective borrowing from these genres but also through the unique way that the tripartite narrative voice of the memoir constructs the personal and public experience of the memorist as significant to our cultural moment Encyclopedia of Life Writing Margaretta
