Fatherhood and Its

Representations in Middle English Texts Rachel E. Moss, 2013 The figure and role of the late medieval father is reappraised through a close reading of a range of documents from the period including both letters and romances Late medieval English society placed great weight on the practices of primogeniture patrilineal descent and patriarchal government and the significance of the father had cultural resonance beyond the rule of law Yet despite aburgeoning interest in both the family and gender the father has to date received little attention from medievalists This book takes an interdisciplinary approach to the analysis of the fictions of fatherhood the ideological constructs that underpinned late medieval conceptions of fathers and patriarchy Its focus on gentry and mercantile readers and writers also offers new insights into the literary culture of late medieval England by considering how texts were produced and received within gentry and bourgeois communities and demonstrates the ability of texts to not only reflect but also shape hegemonic norms and cultural anxieties Through close examination of late medieval letters and romances it shows how the father was the dominant figure not only of medieval domestic life but also of the medieval imagination Dr RACHEL E MOSS is a Lecturer in History at the University of Northampton

Inter-professional Approaches to Young Fathers Jane Reeves, 2008 With one of the highest teenage pregnancy rates in Europe young fatherhood as a site of economic and personal adversity has become a focus of concern in Britain during the late 1990s However despite this policy interest there is surprisingly little British empirical evidence to review One of the aims of the book is to draw together contemporary research evidence social theory and policy which may effect how practitioners students and academics conceptualise and work with young fathers Consequently each chapter illustrates the points it makes using discrete evidence from that particular field Moreover in order to make this process more user friendly each chapter provides a summary of this literature and evidence Finally in order to make the book come alive it draws on case studies which are drawn variously from two studies conducted by the editor

Globalized Fatherhood Marcia C. Inhorn, Wendy Chavkin, José-Alberto Navarro, 2014-10-01 Using an entirely new conceptual vocabulary through which to understand men's experiences and expectations at the dawn of the twenty first century this path breaking volume focuses on fatherhood around the globe including transformations in fathering fatherhood and family life It includes new work by anthropologists sociologists and cultural geographers working in settings from Peru to India to Vietnam Each chapter suggests that men are responding to globalization as fathers in creative and unprecedented ways not only in the West but also in numerous global locations

Fatherhood Ross D. Parke, 1996 In this new book Parke considers the father child relationship within the family system and the wider society Using the life course view of fathers he demonstrates that men enact their fatherhood in a variety of ways in response to their particular social and cultural circumstances

Regulating Family Responsibilities Mr Craig Lind, Ms Heather Keating, Ms Jo Bridgeman, 2013-02-28 This collection brings together some of the most eminent and exciting authors researching family responsibilities to examine understandings of the day to day responsibilities which people undertake within families and the role of the law in the construction of those understandings The authors explore a range of questions fundamental to our understanding of responsibility in family life To whom and to what ends are family members responsible Is responsibility primarily a matter of care Can we fulfil our family responsibilities by paying those to whom we owe responsibility Or by paying others to fulfil our caring obligations for us In each of these circumstances the chapters in this collection explore what it means to have family responsibilities what constitutes an adequate performance of such responsibilities and the point at which the state intervenes At the heart of this collection is an interest in the way in which the changing family affects people's perception and exercise their family responsibilities and how the law attempts to regulate and understand those responsibilities The essays range across intact and separated or fragmented families from lone and shared parenting in single homes to caring across households and even across international boundaries to reflect on the actual caring responsibilities of family members and on the fulfilment of financial responsibilities in families This collection seeks to advance our understanding of the attempts of the law and its limits in regulating the responsibilities which family members take for each other Cultural Approaches

To Parenting Marc H. Bornstein, 2013-02-01 This volume is concerned with elucidating similarities and differences in enculturation processes that help to account for the ways in which individuals in different cultures develop Each chapter reviews a substantive parenting topic describes the relevant cultures in psychological ethnography rather than from an anthropological stance reports on the parenting in culture results and discusses the significance of cross cultural investigation for understanding the parenting issue of interest Specific areas of study include environment and interactive style responsiveness activity patterns distributions of social involvement with children structural patterns of interaction and development of the social self Through exposure to a wide range of diverse research methods readers will gain a deeper appreciation of the problems procedures possibilities and profits associated with a truly comparative approach to understanding human growth and development

Sacrificing Families Leisy J. Abrego, 2014-02-05 Widening global inequalities make it difficult for parents in developing nations to provide for their children and both mothers and fathers often find that migration in search of higher wages is their only hope Their dreams are straightforward with more money they can improve their children's lives But the reality of their experiences is often harsh and structural barriers particularly those rooted in immigration policies and gender inequities prevent many from reaching their economic goals Sacrificing Families offers a first hand look at Salvadoran transnational families how the parents fare in the United States and the experiences of the children back home It captures the tragedy of these families daily living arrangements but also delves deeper to expose the structural context that creates and sustains patterns of inequality in their well being What prevents these parents from migrating with their children What are these families experiences with long term separation And why do some ultimately fare better than others As free trade agreements expand and nation states open doors widely for products and profits while closing them tightly for refugees and migrants these transnational families are not only becoming more common but they are living through lengthier separations Leisy Abrego gives voice to these immigrants and their families and documents the inequalities across their experiences

Aids Luther Butler, 2000-10-05 The Reverend Nick Fielding was sure AIDS was sent to kill all gay men When asked to use his powerful broadcasting network to educate the public on the spread of the horrible disease he refused Nick was not the typical evangelist He grew up in a reform school after he maimed and killed customers of the sexual insatiable Nancy the girl he not only pimped for but loved enough to marry Trained in chemical warfare in the detention home he served in World War II in a highly skilled special unit Drunk and disorderly at the end of his rope a miracle changed Nick the drunk to the Reverend Nick Fielding Told in flash backs Nick suddenly used his broadcasting system to help combat AIDS Was it God who changed Nick or was it something more sinister THE
