Archaeological Landscapes Of The Near East:

Archaeological Landscapes of the Near East Tony J. Wilkinson, 2003-11 Many fundamental studies of the origins of states have built upon landscape data but an overall study of the Near Eastern landscape itself has never been attempted Spanning thousands of years of history the ancient Near East presents a bewildering range of landscapes the understanding of which can greatly enhance our ability to infer past political and social systems Tony Wilkinson now shows that throughout the Holocene humans altered the Near Eastern environment so thoroughly that the land has become a human artifact albeit one that retains the power to shape human societies In this trailblazing book the first to describe and explain the development of the Near Eastern landscape using archaeological data Wilkinson identifies specific landscape signatures for various regions and periods from the early stages of complex societies in the fifth to sixth millennium B C to the close of the Early Islamic period around the tenth century A D From Bronze Age city states to colonized steppes these signature landscapes of irrigation systems tells and other features changed through time along with changes in social economic political and environmental conditions By weaving together the record of the human landscape with evidence of settlement the environment and social and economic conditions Wilkinson provides a holistic view of the ancient Near East that complements archaeological excavations cuneiform texts and other conventional sources Through this overview culled from thirty years research Wilkinson establishes a new framework for understanding the economic and physical infrastructure of the region By describing the basic attributes of the ancient cultural landscape and placing their development within the context of a dynamic environment he breaks new ground in landscape archaeology and offers a new context for understanding the ancient Near East alike     Landscapes in the Eastern Mediterranean between the Future and the Past Ioannis N. Vogiatzakis, Theano S. Terkenli, Maria Gabriella Trovato, Nizar Abu-Jaber, 2020-05-15 Landscapes have long been viewed as multifunctional integrating ecological economic sociocultural historical and aesthetic dimensions Landscape science and public awareness in Europe have been progressing in leaps and bounds The challenges involved in landscape related issues and fields however are multiple and refer to landscape stewardship and protection as well as to the development of comprehensive theoretical and methodological approaches in tandem with public sensitization and participatory governance and in coordination with appropriate top down planning and policy instruments Landscape scale approaches are fundamental to the understanding of past and present cultural evolution and are now considered to be an appropriate spatial framework for the analysis of sustainability Methods and tools of landscape analysis and intervention have also gone a long way since their early development in Europe and the United States Although significant progress has been made there remain many issues which are understudied or not investigated at all at least in a Mediterranean context This Special Issue addresses the application of landscape theory and practice in the Eastern Mediterranean and mainly but not exclusively reports on the outcomes of an international conference held in Jordan in December 2015 with the title Landscapes of Eastern Mediterranean Challenges Opportunities Prospects and Accomplishments The focus of this Special Issue landscapes of the Eastern Mediterranean region thus constitutes a timely area of research interest not only because these landscapes have so far been understudied but also as a rich site of strikingly variegated long standing multicultural human environmental interactions These interactions resting on and taking shape through millennia of continuity in tradition have been striving to adapt to technological advances while currently juggling with manifold and multilayered socioeconomic and climate environmental crises     Landscapes of the Islamic World Stephen McPhillips, Paul D. Wordsworth, 2016-07 Landscapes of the Islamic World presents new work by twelve authors on the archaeology history and ethnography of the Islamic world in the Middle East the Arabian peninsula and central Asia The focus looks beyond the city to engage with the predominantly rural and pastoral character of premodern Islamic society     The Transjordanian Palimpsest Jeremy M. Hutton, 2009-06-02 This study analyzes several passages in the Former Prophets 2 Sam 19 12 44 2 Kgs 2 1 18 Judg 8 4 28 from a literary perspective and argues that the text presents Transjordan as liminal in Israel s history a place from which Israel s leaders return with inaugurated or renewed authority It then traces the redactional development of Samuel Kings that led to this literary symbolism and proposes a hypothesis of continual updating and combination of texts beginning early in Israel s monarchy and continuing until the final formation of the Deuteronomistic History Several source documents may be isolated including three narratives of Saul s rise two distinct histories of David s rise and a court history that was subsequently revised with pro Solomonic additions These texts had been combined already in a Prophetic Record during the 9th c B C E with A F Campbell which was received as an integrated unit by the Deuteronomistic Historian The symbolic geography of the Jordan River and

Transjordan which even extends into the New Testament was therefore not the product of a deliberate theological formulation but rather the accidental by product of the contingency of textual redaction that had as its main goal the historical presentation of Israel's life in the land

Carchemish in Context Edgar Peltenburg, T. J. Wilkinson, Eleanor Barbanes Wilkinson, 2016-05-31 The city of Carchemish in the valley of the Euphrates river can be regarded as one of the iconic sites in the Middle East a mound complex known both for its own intrinsic qualities as the seat of later Hittite power and Neo Hittite kings but also because its history of excavations included well known historical figures such as Leonard Woolley and T E Lawrence However because of its location within the military zone of the Turkish Syrian border the site itself has been inaccessible to archaeologists for more than 90 years Carchemish in Context summarises the results of regional investigations conducted within the Land of Carchemish Project in Syria as well as other archaeological surveys in the region in order to provide a regional historical and archaeological context for the development of the city A synthesis of the history of Carchemish is presented and a regional overview of the Land of Carchemish as it is defined by archaeological features and key historical references through to the early Iron Age Insightful snapshots of the dynamics of an ancient state are revealed which can now be seen to have fluctuated dramatically in size throughout 700 800 years in part depending upon the power of the king of Carchemish or the aggressions of external powers The results from the Project provide an overview of the main trends of settlement in the region over 8000 years using a combination of survey databases to both north and south of the Syrian Turkish border and with a focus on the earlier phases of settlement from the Neolithic until the end of the Bronze Age when Carchemish became an outpost of the Hittite empire The Iron Age is a period blessed by numerous historical records some of which can be traced in the modern landscape Further chapters explore site specific aspects of the regional archaeology including a series of important sites on the Sajur river some of which were positioned along the main campaign routes of the Assyrian kings The close relationship between the nearby Early Bronze Age site of Tell Jerablus Tahtani and Carchemish are examined and the results from the 40 ha Carchemish Outer Town survey described providing important new data sources regarding the layout defenses and dates of occupation of this significant part of the city The Classical Roman Byzantine and Early Islamic occupations are also discussed in relation to what is known of occupation in the surrounding region

Remote Sensing for Archaeology and Cultural Landscapes Diofantos G. Hadjimitsis, Kyriacos Themistocleous, Branka Cuca, Athos Agapiou, Vasiliki Lysandrou, Rosa Lasaponara, Nicola Masini, Gunter Schreier, 2019-06-07 This book investigates the added value that satellite technologies and remote sensing could provide for a more sustainable mapping monitoring and management of heritage sites be it for purposes of regular maintenance or for risk mitigation in case of natural or man caused hazards One of the major goals of this book is to provide a clear overview on policy perspectives regarding both space policy as well as heritage policy and to provide possible suggestions for common ground of these two fields in Europe and around the world Readers will develop a good understanding of cutting edge applications of remote sensing and geographic information science and the challenges that affect heritage maintenance and protection Particular attention is given to Earth observation and remote sensing techniques applied in different locations This book brings together innovative technologies concrete applications and policy perspectives that can lead to a more complete vision of cultural heritage as a resource for future development of our society as a whole

Space, Time, and Archaeological Landscapes Jaqueline Rossignol, LuAnn Wandsnider, 2013-11-11 The last 20 years have witnessed a proliferation of new approaches in archaeological data recovery analysis and theory building that incorporate both new forms of information and new methods for investigating them The growing importance of survey has meant an expansion of the spatial realm of traditional archaeological data recovery and analysis from its traditional focus on specific locations on the landscape archaeological sites to the incorporation of data both on site and off site from across extensive regions Evolving survey methods have led to experiments with nonsite and distributional data recovery as well as the critical evaluation of the definition and role of archaeological sites in data recovery and analysis In both survey and excavation the geomorphological analysis of landscapes has become increasingly important in the analysis of archaeological materials Ethnoarchaeology the use of ethnography to sharpen archaeological understanding of cultural and natural formation processes has concentrated study on the formation processes underlying the content and structure of archaeological deposits These actualistic studies consider patterns of deposition at the site level and the material results of human organization at the regional scale Ethnoarchaeological approaches have also affected research in theoretical ways by expanding investigation into the nature and organization of systems of land use per se thus providing direction for further study of the material results of those systems
