Resources in Education, 1998 The Professor's Guide to Taming Technology Kathleen P. King, Thomas D. Cox, 2011-01-01 This book is provided as a guide encouragement and handbook for faculty to introduce digital media in language you can understand and provide strategies and activities you can quickly assimilate into your teaching We are excited that more people will be able to benefit from the powerful help and guidance contained in this book We are even more exhilarated as we anticipate how each of you will discover applications and new directions we would never anticipate and look forward We look forward to your innovations as you use the material you discover here This book responds to the needs of our changing world and students by revealing innovative technology applications and how faculty are and can use digital media in teaching in higher education because faculty make the quickest changes and learn how to do it best It is a valuable resource for faculty from faculty because it allows the sharing of successful teaching experiences with digital media with our worldwide colleagues so they may modify it extend it and improve it Moreover in our work with faculty across all disciplines we also find that many struggle to think about teaching in ways in which they can incorporate technology meaningfully While we might be experts in our discipline chemistry philosophy music etc due to the curriculum of terminal degrees we might not have strong preparation in instructional design We have been fortunate to bring together faculty experts across different disciplines to specifically speak about how and why to use digital media in higher education settings

We realize we are asking you to think about your way of teaching with new ideas and strategies Therefore we try to illustrate them with clear examples These different approaches include clear descriptions of what these activities look like why to develop and implement them and how to do so for your specific needs An Innovative Approach to Career Counseling Angie C. Pursuing Instructional Effectiveness in Higher Education Edwin George Ralph,2004 The title of this book has two meanings One meaning expresses a sense of relief that during the last several years post secondary institutions have begun to pay serious attention to the enhancement of instruction on their campuses There has been an emergence of new organisations associations conferences seminars and workshops a proliferation of books journals and articles an expansion of research and investigative inquiry and a growth of interest among post secondary faculty members and administrators all of which are devoted to various aspects of the improvement of both teaching and learning at the undergraduate level These initiatives have combined to furnish undeniable evidence attesting to the pursuit of better teaching and learning in higher education Increasing numbers of post secondary educators students and tax payers at large not only welcome wholeheartedly this new emphasis and as suggested by the last clause in the title they feel it has been long overdue A second interpretation of the title and the one which is a key theme of this book emphasises the substantive concept of the use and management of time and timing as an integral component of effective instruction

From the Introduction Survive and Thrive Wendy Crone, 2022-05-31 The experience of an untenured faculty member is highly dependent on the quality of the mentoring they receive This mentoring may come from a number of different sources and the concept of developing a constellation of mentors is highly recommended but a mentoring relationship that is guided by the mentee's needs will be the most productive Often however the mentee does not know their own needs what questions to ask and what topics they should discuss with a mentor This book provides a guide to the mentoring process for untenured faculty Perspectives are provided and questions posed on topics ranging from establishing scholarly expertise and developing professional networks to personal health and balancing responsibilities The questions posed are not intended for the mentee to answer in isolation rather a junior faculty member should approach these questions throughout their untenured years with the help of their mentors Survive and Thrive A Guide for Untenured Faculty will help to facilitate the mentoring process and lead junior faculty to a path where they can move beyond just surviving and truly thrive in their position Table of Contents Tough Questions About Why You Are Here Joining Your Department and Discipline Establishing Expertise Developing Networks Relationships and Mentoring Activities Getting Support and Evaluating Your Personal Health Planning for the Future Conclusion

Creative Writing in Post-Secondary Education Lisa Martin, 2025-03-20 A blend of memoir and scholarly review this book explores the kinds of thinking creative writing as a distinctly practical subject makes possible within post secondary education Taking the idea that creative writing should be grounded in practice Lisa Martin explores how the nature of the subject gives permission to think specifically locally from one's own position and in a necessarily limited way without having one's thinking discounted as lacking rigour as a result Modelling the deep and essential connection between practice and research in the field this book considers post secondary creative writing in its three key aspects artistic practice pedagogical practice and practice led research in order to articulate the distinctive contributions creative writing makes to what thinking means and whose thinking gets included Drawing on Martin's own artistic practice as well as more than a decade of pedagogical experience in creative writing this book braids together disciplinary history research informed autobiographical analysis of artistic practice and pedagogy and scholarly research in adjacent fields such as creativity studies and educational psychology Connecting creative writing's central commitment to artistic practice and local material embodied thinking with the development of learner centred pedagogies Creative Writing in Post Secondary Education is timely important and will spark spirited discussion within a debate that has been simmering since the inception of creative writing
