18 Folgate Street The Life Of A House In Spitfields:

18 Folgate Street Dennis Severs, 2002 Introduction by Peter Ackroyd An enchanted time capsule transports us back to the 18th century and brings an old house to life Growing up in California Dennis Severs fell in love with the England he saw in old black and white movies In 1979 he bought a run down house in Spitfields and over the next twenty years he filled it with objects and furniture found in local markets He wanted his visitors to feel they were stepping through time into an old master painting He invented a family to live in it the Jervis family Huguenot silk weavers who arrived from Nantes in 1725 Before Dennis died in 1999 he put the stories of the house the Jervis family and his own life into this book It is illustrated throughout by photographs taken by his niece Stacey Shaffer using the natural light that Dennis loved The Dennis Severs House is run by the Spitfields Trust and is open to visitors From the Hardcover edition Patients, Power and

The Bible of British Taste Ruth Guilding, 2025-09-23 Based on the hugely popular blog magazine and Instagram account of the same name The Bible of British Taste explores the meaning of traditional British style Rejecting the pristine and predictable in favour of the lived in and characterful this is an aesthetic created from art antiques the reused found and hand made and the layers of history laid down by generations of home makers As author Ruth Guilding puts it My personal mantra for the descriptions of people and their houses in this book roughly seems to be that old stuff is good and perfection is boring Taking her contexts from William Morris the Bloomsbury set and today's leading artistic makers and innovators Guilding explores the meaning of home and our everlasting preoccupation with domestic taste self presentation and decorating styles With hundreds of images of remarkable gardens and interiors domestic icons and folk art narratives and featuring renowned tastemakers from Sir Roy Strong and Jasper Conran to Luke Edward Hall Bridget Elworthy of the Land Gardeners and Ben Pentreath The Bible of British Taste shines a new light on the quirky charms of unconventional British style With unrivalled access to some of Britain's most extraordinary homes this is the definitive guide to the nation's most distinctive interiors a book that belongs on every design lover's shelf

Sentient Relics Janice Baker, 2016-08-25 Sentient Relics explores museums through cinema and challenges the dominant focus of museum theory as an inclusion/exclusion debate The author responds to the Enlightenment rational museum of reason contrasting this with the museum of affect and reveals these two museums operating alongside one another in a productive paradox In structuralist orientated museum theory the affective realm is often subsumed within the imperatives of Marxist theory and practice identity politics semiology and psychoanalysis Sentient Relics while valuing the insights of ideologically focused meaning making turns to the capacity of the affective realm of experience to transform the passive subject and object relation The author uses museum encounters and cinematic affect to engage with problems of difference temporality emotion and the sublime In so doing the book advances research in museum studies by demonstrating what is at stake in pragmatically working toward a deeper understanding of the museum socially culturally and philosophically
