Morice,2022-12-01 Nuked recounts the long term effects of radiological exposure in St Louis Missouri the city that refined uranium for the first self sustaining nuclear reaction and the first atomic bomb As part of the top secret Manhattan Project during World War II the refining created an enormous amount of radioactive waste that increased as more nuclear weapons were produced and stockpiled for the Cold War Unfortunately government officials deposited the waste on open land next to the municipal airport An adjacent creek transported radionuclides downstream to the Missouri River thereby contaminating St Louis s northern suburbs Amid official assurances of safety residents were unaware of the risks The resulting public health crisis continues today with cleanup operations expected to last through the year 2038 Morice attributes the crisis to several factors They include a minimal concern for land pollution cutting corners to win the war new homebuilding practices that spread radioactive dirt insufficient reporting mechanisms for cancer and a fragmented government that failed to respond to regional problems
