Performance and Appropriation Michel Conan, 2007 Breaking with the idea that gardens are places of indulgence and escapism these studies of ritualized practices reveal that gardens in Europe Asia the United States and the Caribbean have in fact made significant contributions to cultural change This book demonstrates methods and the striking results of garden reception studies The first section explores how cultural changes occur and devotes chapters to public landscapes in the Netherlands

seventeenth century Parisian gardens Freemason gardens in Tuscany nineteenth century Scottish kitchen gardens and the public parks of Edo and modern Tokyo The second part provides striking examples of construction of self in vernacular gardens in Guadeloupe and American Japanese style gardens in California Finally the third section analyzes struggles for political change in gardens of Yuan China and modern Britain Middle East Garden Traditions Michel Conan, Dumbarton Oaks, 2007 This book unites new information and surprising results from the last fifteen years of garden research at a remove from the clichés of Orientalism Garden archaeology reveals the economic importance of Judean gardens in Roman times and the visual complexity of gardens created and transformed in Moorish Spain More contemporary approaches unravel the cultural continuities variations and differences between gardens in the Middle East since Roman times and in the Islamic world Landscape Architecture, 2005 "Patricia Johanson and the Re-Invention of Public Environmental Art, 1958-2010" Xin Wu, 2017-07-05 Impeccably researched and richly detailed this book addresses the issue of translation between visual arts and landscape design in the 50 more years career of Patricia Johanson an important artist in the second half of the twentieth century Examining the artist's search for an art of the real as a member of the post World War II New York art world and how such pursuit has led her from painting and sculpture to public garden and environmental art Xin Wu argues for the significance of the process of art creation challenging the centrality of art objects This book is an insightful study to confront a crucial question in the history of art through the work of a contemporary artist It therefore converses with art historians and critics alike as well as advanced readers of twentieth century art Following Johanson's artistic development from its formation in the 1960s American art scene to the very present day across the fields of art architecture garden civil engineering and environmental aesthetics it investigates the process of creation in a transdisciplinary perspective and reveals a view of art as a domain of exploration of key issues for the contemporary world The artist's concept of nature is highlighted and particular impacts of Chinese aesthetics and thought unveiled Based on extensive analysis of unpublished private archives Xin Wu offers us the first ever comprehensive scholarly interpretation of Patricia Johanson's oeuvre including drawings paintings sculptures installations garden proposals and built and unbuilt projects in the United States Brazil Kenya and Korea Architecture + Design, 2005-07 Histories of garden conservation Michel Conan, José Tito Rojo, Luigi Zangheri, 2005 Gardens, City Life and Culture Michel Conan, Wangheng Chen, 2008 Seeks to understand the roles played by gardens from Roman antiquity to approximately 1850 particularly as they relate to public life in large cities Patricia Johanson's House & Garden Commission Xin Wu, 2007 Patricia Johanson was one of the earliest minimalist painters and a friend of Tony Smith Robert Smithson Robert Morris all artists trying to supersede the Modernist agenda for the arts set by Clement Greenberg In 1969 the course of her career was dramatically deflected by an unexpected garden commission from the House Garden magazine It resulted in 150 garden proposals 146 of which survived and are presented here and seven companion essays Neither these proposals nor the essays have ever been published or exhibited as an entity before this book The House Garden Commission redefined the course of Johanson's art She immediately gave up painting and started to create art in landscapes through a highly personal way This commission reveals an unknown development of the late 60s New York Art world putting forth a renewal of garden art in defiance of well known cultural trends of the time formalism and modernism earthworks and environmentalism A comparison between Johanson and Scottish poet gardner Ian Hamilton Finlay demonstrates two parallel attempts to re instate an ethical dimension in the arts and their profound differences since Finlay builds an intimate garden upon a return to the classical Mediterranean world while Johanson translateds non Western natural ethics and aesthetics into answers to issues of contemporary urban society Thus the House Garden Commission proposes beyond a renewal of garden design a new role for the visual arts in pursuit of the unfinished project of modernity

A World of Gardens John Dixon Hunt,2014-05-14 A Japanese garden is immediately distinct to the eye from the traditional gardens of an English manor house just as the manicured topiaries of Versailles contrast with the sharp cacti of the American Southwest Though gardening is beloved the world over the style of gardens themselves varies from region to region determined as much by culture as climate In this series of illustrated essays John Dixon Hunt takes us on a world tour of different periods in the making of gardens Hunt shows here how cultural assumptions and local geography have shaped gardens and their meaning He explores our continuing responses to land and reworkings of the natural world encompassing a broad range of gardens from ancient Roman times to early Islamic and Mughal gardens from Chinese and Japanese gardens to the invention of the public park and modern landscape architecture A World of Gardens looks at key chapters in garden history reviewing their significance past and present and tracing the recurrence of different themes and motifs in the design and reception of gardens throughout the world A World of Gardens celebrates the idea that similar experiences of gardens can be found in many different times and places including sacred landscapes scientific gardens urban gardens secluded gardens and symbolic gardens Featuring two hundred images this book is a treasure trove of ideas and inspiration whether your garden is a window box a secluded backyard or a daydream
