Darrol Bryant, Hans R. Huussy, 1986 A collection of 17 essays on the little known thinker Eugen Rosenstock Huussy one of the first academics to resign his post in Germany when Hitler came to power Lutheran Identity and Political Theology Carl-Henric Grenholm, Goran Gunner, 2015-03-26 Lutheran tradition has in various ways influenced attitudes to work the economy the state education and health care One reason that Lutheran theology has been interpreted in various ways is that it is always influenced by surrounding social and cultural contexts In a society where the church has lost a great deal of its cultural impact and authority and where there is a plurality of religious convictions the question of Lutheran identity has never been more urgent However this question is also raised in the Global South where Lutheran churches need to find their identity in a relationship with several other religions Here this relationship is developed from a minority perspective Is it possible to develop a Lutheran political theology that gives adequate contributions to issues concerning social and economic justice What is the role of women in church and society around the world Is it possible to interpret Lutheran theology in such a way that it includes liberating perspectives These are some of the questions and issues discussed in this book Dietrich Bonhoeffer's Christian

Gustaf Wingren and the Swedish Luther Renaissance Mary Elizabeth Anderson,2006 The Swedish Luther Renaissance began at the turn of the twentieth century and flourished through three generations of theologians who brought the challenges of their own day to their study of Luther The last of these theologians Gustaf Wingren saw an increasing and deadly disjunction between faith and life in the church Reading Luther he found two lively intersections Christian vocation and proclamation Using the methodology of his mentors Wingren breathed new life into the Reformer s work and developed a Lutheran theology for his place and time

The Christian Church Hans

Schwarz,2007-04-01 With thoroughness and clarity Hans Schwarz presents a historical and systematic understanding of the church its worship and piety its traditions and doctrines its forms and structures This skilled assessment outlines the impact of the church today and analyzes its prospects for the future      Passionate Embrace Elisabeth Gerle,2018-01-01

Protestant ethics has often been associated with work and duty excluding sensuality sexuality and other pleasures In an age of body worship as well as body loathing Elisabeth Gerle explores new paths embarking on a conversation with Martin Luther in dialogue with contemporary theologians on attitudes towards desire ethics and politics She draws on Eros theology to challenge traditional Lutheran stereotypes such as the dichotomies between different forms of love as well as between spirit and body Gerle argues that Luther's spiritual breakthrough where grace and gifts of creation became central provides new meaning to sex and desire as well as to work body and ordinary life Women are seen in a new light as companions autonomous ethical agents part of the priesthood of all This had revolutionary consequences in Europe at the time and it represents a challenge to contemporary theologies with a nostalgic appetite for austerity asceticism and female submission Luther's erotic and genderfluid language is a healthy challenge to oppressive political structures centred on greed profit and competition A revised Scandinavian creation theology and a deep sense of the incarnational mystery are resources for contemporary theology and ethics      Who Do I Say That You Are? William Schumacher,2010-01-04 The question of what it means to be a human creature lies at the heart of contemporary wrestling with anthropology and especially anthropology from a theological perspective Through both historical and systematic engagement with the so called Finnish school of Tuomo Mannermaa this study explores and assesses the anthropological dimension of their theology of theosis or deification Mannermaa initiated a minor revolution in Luther studies and in contemporary Lutheran theology by interpreting Luther's doctrine of justification to be a close analog to the Eastern Orthodox doctrine of theosis but his ecumenical interests led him to minimize or overlook key themes in Luther and sharp distinctions between Luther and Orthodox theologians Mannermaa's colleague Simo Peura then developed this thesis with specific reference to anthropology in a way reminiscent of the sixteenth century reformer Andreas Osiander On closer inspection the project of Mannermaa and his Finnish colleagues fails to understand adequately both Luther's sources and his own theological development In this study a theological anthropology which is more consistent with Luther's theology is developed an anthropology which is determined by God's address to his human creatures what God himself says we are and what he makes us by that word Such an answer to the anthropological question refuses to flee from creation but instead upholds the complex and paradoxical nature of human beings as creatures sinners and saints What it means to be human has become the major topic in theology philosophy and the social sciences in our time On the basis of Luther's understanding this study proposes a view of humanity in which God's word determines what human identity and human existence are The Creator's address to his creatures makes their existence possible and frees them to be human and nothing less Schumacher's proposal will command careful study and discussion throughout the world Robert A Kolb Concordia Seminary Saint Louis Missouri Schumacher provides the most comprehensive appraisal of the Finns to date He shows that Luther s is not an alternative view of divination to that of medieval theologians but a subversion of it No ontic category is as real or definitive of the sinful human as God s justifying word It is that word alone which imparts grace and new life Schumacher s work is required reading for any scholar of Reformation studies who wants to understand Luther on his own terms Mark C Mattes Grand View University Des Moines Iowa

The Problem of Self-Love in St. Augustine Oliver O'Donovan, 2006-11-01 The primal destruction of man was self love There is no one who does not love himself but one must search for the right love and avoid the warped Indeed you did not love yourself when you did not love the God who made you These three sentences set side by side show why the problem of self love in St Augustine of Hippo constitutes a problem Self love is loving God it is also hating God Self love is common to all men it is restricted to those who love God Mutually incompatible assertions about self love jostle one another and demand to be reconciled from the Introduction In saying that self love finds its only true expression in love of God Augustine is formulating in one of many possible ways a principle fundamental to his metaphysical and ethical outlook namely that moral obligation derives from an obligation to God which is at the same time a call to self fulfillment from the Conclusion
