ethnographic and historical examination of the miniature palm craft industry taking readers behind the scenes of craft production in order to explain how and why these folk arts have undergone miniaturization over the past several decades In describing this Lilliputization of Mexico she discusses the appeal of miniaturization revealing how such factors as tourism and the construction of national identity have contributed to an ongoing demand for the tiny creations She also contrasts the playfulness of the crafts with the often harsh economic and political realities of life in the community Flechsig places the crafts of Chigmecatitl n within the contexts of manufacturing local history religion design and technique and selling She tells how innovation is introduced into the craft such as through the modification of foreign designs in response to market demands She also offers insights into capitalist penetration of folk traditions the marketing of folk arts and economic changes in modern Mexico And despite the fact that the designations folk and Indian help create a romantic fiction surrounding the craft Flechsig dispels common misperceptions of the simplicity of this folk art by revealing the complexities involved in its creation More than thirty illustrations depict not only finished miniatures but also the artists and their milieu Today miniatures serve not only the tourist market middle class Mexicans also collect miniatures to such an extent that it has been termed a national pastime Flechsig s work opens up this miniature world and shows us the extent to which it has become a lasting and important facet of contemporary Mexican culture

Bauer, 2001-04-30 Why do we acquire the things we do Behind this apparently ingenuous question are several answers some straightforward and others more interesting To feed ourselves might be the first response for we can easily see that we expend much energy in the quest for food Clothing and shelter as well would seem to constitute our basic needs Yet we quickly see that even in the Garden of Eden people want more than they need This simple impulse has created the ever mounting abundance we call progress and nearly all of the subsequent trouble on our planet Four main interwoven themes run through this exploration of material culture and consumption in Latin America over the past five centuries supply and demand the relationships between consumption and identity the importance of ritual both ancient and modern in what we buy and the relationship between colonial and post colonial power in consumption 25 Latino Craft Projects Ana-Elba Pavon, Diana Borrego, 2003 Provides twenty five craft projects that revolve around Latino culture to create such items as masks pi natas and dolls
