Language and Social Cognition Hanna Pishwa, 2009 In a collection of 16 papers eminent scholars from several disciplines present diverse and yet cohering perspectives on the expression of social knowledge its acquisition and management Hence the volume is an attempt to view the social functions of language in a novel systematic way Such an approach has been missing due to the complexity of the matter and the emphasis on purely cognitive properties of language The volume starts with a presentation of overarching issues of the social nature of humans and their language providing strong evidence for the social fundamentals of human nature and their reflection in language and culture The second section demonstrates how social functions can be displayed in discourse by using language play and humor irony and attributions as well as references to social schemas The chapters in the third part examine a wide range of particular linguistic elements carrying social cognitive functions An important finding is that social cognitive functions have to be inferred on the basis of social knowledge frequently with the help of non verbal cues since languages offer only few direct expressions for them In other words linguistic devices used to express social content tend to be multifunctional Interestingly this multifunctionality does not prevent their rapid recognition The volume presents valuable information to linguists by widening the cognitive linguistic framework and by contributing to a better understanding of the role of pragmatics It is also beneficial to social and cognitive psychologists by offering a broader view on the encoding and decoding of social aspects Finally it offers a number of fruitful ideas to students of cultural and communication studies

Sacred Language, Ordinary People N. Haeri, 2003-01-03 The cultures and politics of nations around the world may be understood or misunderstood in any number of ways For the Arab world language is the crucial link for a better understanding of both Classical Arabic is the official language of all Arab states although it is not spoken as a mother tongue by any group of Arabs As the language of the Qur'an it is also considered to be sacred For more than a century and a half writers and institutions have been engaged in struggles to modernize Classical Arabic in order to render it into a language of contemporary life What have been the achievements and failures of such attempts Can Classical Arabic be sacred and contemporary at one and the same time This book attempts to answer such questions through an interpretation of the role that language plays in shaping the relations between culture politics and religion in Egypt

Remaking the Modern Farha Ghannam, 2002-09-19 In an effort to restyle Cairo into a global capital that would meet the demands of tourists and investors and to achieve President Anwar Sadat's goal to modernize the housing conditions of the urban poor the Egyptian government relocated residents from what was deemed valuable real estate in downtown Cairo to public housing on the outskirts of the city Based on more than two years of ethnographic fieldwork among five thousand working class families in the neighborhood of al Zawya al Hamra this study explores how these displaced residents have dealt with the stigma of public housing the loss of their established community networks and the diversity of the population in the new location Until now few anthropologists have delivered detailed case studies on this recent phenomenon Ghannam fills this gap in scholarship with an illuminating analysis of urban engineering of populations in Cairo Drawing on theories of practice the study traces the various tactics and strategies employed by members of the relocated group to appropriate and transform the state's understanding of modernity and hegemonic construction of space Informed by recent theories of globalization Ghannam also shows how the growing importance of religious identity is but one of many contradictory ways that global trajectories mold the identities of the relocated residents Remaking the Modern is a revealing ethnography of a working class community's struggle to appropriate modern facilities and confront the alienation and the dislocation brought on by national policies and the quest to globalize Cairo The Translator's Handbook Morry Sofer, 2006

Al-Mawrid Munir Ba'labakki, 1967 The People of the Book and the People of the Dubious Book (Penerbit USM) Muhammad Azizan Sabjan, 2008 The question of the People of the Book Ahl al Kit b has long been of central significance to Islam and later to the study of comparative religion It becomes more crucial when Ab al Fath Muhammad Abd al Kar m al Shahrast n d 548 1153 develops another category known as Man Lahu Shubhat Kit b those who possess doubtful sacred scrolls or Ahl Shubhat Kit b the People of a Dubious Book The present book thus is of importance as it highlights the nature of the People of the Book and the People of a Dubious Book as understood in the Qur n and Islamic religious tradition The discussion is carried out both by analyzing Islam as the only genuinely revealed religion as well as by addressing various Muslim scholars attitudes and responses to the reality and nature of the People of the Book and the People of a Dubious Book apropos the Qur n and the Islamic religious tradition Evaluation of the nature of the People of a Dubious Book as exclusively developed by al Shahrast n is also discussed It points out how he identifies these groups and how he treats them accordingly in his magnum opus al Milal wa al Nihal It is hoped that this book will provide a preliminary yet clear understanding of this concept which hopefully can deepen our knowledge and enhance our perspective on the various delineations of the People of the Book and the People of a Dubious Book employed by Muslim scholars This will eventually widen our sphere of the understanding of religious issues and any misunderstanding or narrowed perception of other religious traditions could be avoided Desert Songs John R. Maier, Professor of English John Maier, 1996-01-01 Examines American and Middle Eastern texts in studies of Orientalism and Occidentalism and argues for a new approach to cultural studies that incorporates a wider variety of materials Oxford Studies in Medieval Philosophy Volume 5 Robert Pasnau, 2017 Oxford Studies in Medieval Philosophy showcases the best new scholarly work on philosophy from the end of antiquity into the Renaissance OSMF combines historical scholarship with philosophical acuteness and will be an essential resource for anyone working in the area Journal of Medieval Military History John France, Kelly DeVries, Clifford J.
