This collection will be invaluable to students and researchers in many areas of design studies and to design practitioners receptive to new and challenging notions of what constitutes the design process Over ninety essays are thematically organised to address five aspects of the expanded notions of mediation agency and collaboration posited by network theory Ideas Things Technology Texts and People The collection also includes an important new essay on rethinking the concept of design by Bruno Latour one of the most influential figures in the philosophy and sociology of science and technology and a pioneer of actor network theory and essays deriving from forum discussions involving designers and designer makers responsive to actor network theory Rather than an anthology of previously published essays Networks of Design presents work in progress on design theory and its applications It is the outcome of a live and vigorous debate on the possibilities and actualities offered by actor network led conceptualisations of the relationships and processes constituting design All the essays many collaborative derive from papers presented at the international conference of the Design History Society held at University College Falmouth UK in the Autumn of 2008

Moon Viorel Badescu, 2012-03-22 The Earth has limited material and energy resources Further development of the humanity will require going beyond our planet for mining and use of extraterrestrial mineral resources and search of power sources The exploitation of the natural resources of the Moon is a first natural step on this direction Lunar materials may contribute to the betterment of conditions of people on Earth but they also may be used to establish permanent settlements on the Moon This will allow developing new technologies systems and flight operation techniques to continue space exploration In fact a new branch of human civilization could be established permanently on Moon in the next century But meantime an inventory and proper social assessment of Moon s prospective energy and material resources is required This book investigates the possibilities and limitations of various systems supplying manned bases on Moon with energy and other vital resources The book collects together recent proposals and innovative options and solutions It is a useful source of condensed information for specialists involved in current and impending Moon related activities and a good starting point for young researchers

Architecture for Astronauts Sandra Häuplik-Meusburger, 2011-10-18 Living and working in extra terrestrial habitats means being potentially vulnerable to very harsh environmental social and psychological conditions With the stringent technical specifications for launch vehicles and transport into space a very tight framework for the creation of habitable space is set These constraints result in a very demanding partnership between the habitat and the inhabitant This book is the result of researching the interface between people space and objects in an extra terrestrial environment The evaluation of extra terrestrial habitats in comparison to the user s perspective leads to a new framework comparing these buildings from the viewpoint of human activity It can be used as reference or as conceptual framework for the purpose of evaluation It also summarizes relevant human related design directions The work is addressed to architects and designers as well as engineers

Fire in the Valley Michael Swaine, Paul Freiburger, 2014-10-20 In the 1970s while their contemporaries were protesting the computer as a tool of dehumanization

and oppression a motley collection of college dropouts hippies and electronics fanatics were engaged in something much more subversive Obsessed with the idea of getting computer power into their own hands they launched from their garages a hobbyist movement that grew into an industry and ultimately a social and technological revolution What they did was invent the personal computer not just a new device but a watershed in the relationship between man and machine This is their story Fire in the Valley is the definitive history of the personal computer drawn from interviews with the people who made it happen written by two veteran computer writers who were there from the start Working at InfoWorld in the early 1980s Swaine and Freiburger daily rubbed elbows with people like Steve Jobs and Bill Gates when they were creating the personal computer revolution A rich story of colorful individuals Fire in the Valley profiles these unlikely revolutionaries and entrepreneurs such as Ed Roberts of MITS Lee Felsenstein at Processor Technology and Jack Tramiel of Commodore as well as Jobs and Gates in all the innocence of their formative years This completely revised and expanded third edition brings the story to its completion chronicling the end of the personal computer revolution and the beginning of the post PC era It covers the departure from the stage of major players with the deaths of Steve Jobs and Douglas Engelbart and the retirements of Bill Gates and Steve Ballmer the shift away from the PC to the cloud and portable devices and what the end of the PC era means for issues such as personal freedom and power and open source vs proprietary software

Transparent Designs Michael L. Black, 2022-03-29 The author traces the emergence in the late 1970s and early 1980s of the belief that personal computers should be easy to use He asks readers to consider the consequences of a computational culture grounded in the assumption that the average person does not need to know much if anything about the internal operations of the computers we have come to depend on
