Alvin Karpis On The Rock:

On the Rock Alvin Karpis, Robert Livesey, 1980 Gangster Hunters John Oller, 2024-11-26 The enthralling can't put down account of the birth of the modern FBI J Edgar Hoover was the face of the FBI But the federal agents in the field relentlessly chasing the most notorious gangsters of the 1930s with their own lives on the line truly transformed the Bureau In 1932 the FBI lacked jurisdiction over murder cases bank robberies and kidnappings Relegated to the sidelines agents spent their days at their desks But all of that changed during the War on Crime Hunting down infamous public enemies in tense frequently blood soaked shootouts the Bureau was thrust onto the front pages for the first time Young agents fresh out of law school and anticipating a quiet white collar job faced off with murderous felons who were heavily armed clad in bulletproof vests and owned cars that outraced the best vehicles the Bureau had But the federal men were fiercely devoted to the Bureau to each other and to bringing America's most wanted criminals to justice The G men crisscrossed the United States in pursuit of John Dillinger Bonnie and Clyde Ma Barker's criminal family Baby Face Nelson and Pretty Boy Floyd But the green FBI agents were always one step behind and a moment too late the criminals evading elaborate stakeouts and dramatic ambushes Facing mounting criticism with bodies left in their wake the agents had to learn to adapt After all more than their reputations were at stake Through incredible primary source research John Oller transports readers right to the most harrowing and consequential raids of the 1930s with fast paced action that shows the lengths both sides would go to win

On the Rock Alvin Karpis, 1988 Prisons and the American Conscience Paul W. Keve, 1995 In tracing the evolution of federal imprisonment Paul W Keve emphasizes the ways in which corrections history has been affected by and is reflective of other trends in the political and cultural life of the United States The federal penal system has undergone substantial evolution over two hundred years Keve divides this evolutionary process into three phases During the first phase from 1776 through the end of the nineteenth century no federal prisons existed in the United States Federal prisoners were simply boarded in state or local facilities It was in the second phase starting with the passage of the Three Prison Act by Congress in 1891 that federal facilities were constructed at Leavenworth and Atlanta while the old territorial prison at McNeil Island in Washington eventually became in effect the third prison In this second phase the federal government began the enormous task of providing its own prison cells Still there was no effective supervisory force to make a prison system In 1930 the Federal Bureau of Prisons was created marking the third phase of the prison system's evolution The Bureau in its first sixty years of existence introduced numerous correctional innovations thereby building an effective centrally controlled prison system with progressive standards Keve details the essential characteristics of this now mature system guiding the reader through the historical process to the present day
