Offending Women Lynne Haney,2010-02-10 Offending Women is an eye opening journey into the lived reality of prison for women in the United States today Lynne Haney looks at incarcerated mothers housed together with their children who are serving terms in alternative community based prisons a type of facility that is becoming increasingly widespread Incorporating vivid sometimes shocking observations of daily life she probes the dynamics of power over women's minds and bodies that play out in two such institutions in California. She finds that these alternative prisons contrary to their aims often end up disempowering women transforming their social vulnerabilities into personal pathologies and pushing them into a state of disenfranchisement. Uncovering the complex gendered underpinning of methods of control and intervention used in the criminal justice system today Offending Women links that system to broader discussions on contemporary government and state power, asking why these strategies have arisen at this particular moment in time and considers what forms of citizenship they have given rise to.

Congressional Record United States. Congress, 1891 Juvenile Psychiatry and the Law Richard Rosner, Harold I. Schwartz, 2012-12-06 I am not sure when a series of volumes becomes an institution; this is the fourth annual volume of Critical Issues in American Psychiatry and the Law and each has been an extraordinary summary of important forensic topics. This book makes the point that the interface of psychiatry and law is not merely a legal one but has a great deal to do with clinical issues such as diagnosis and treatment. Children and adolescents are not adults. This may come as something of a shock to those who proselytize for equal rights for children and to those adults including some psychiatrists, attorneys, and judges who advocate giving the child adult choices and/or responsibilities. Children differ from adults in many ways. The specialist in child or adolescent psychiatry knows not only that one must attend to special social and family issues for juveniles but that juveniles are more complex internally as well. They attempt to survive in the world while rapidly growing and learning usually with physically and emotionally immature resources. They have had few years in which to develop experience and do not have the psyche with which to integrate that experience in ways one would expect of a mature adult. Sometimes this frightens the patient as in the case of a physically large teenager whose impulse control is impaired. Sometimes it is frustrating as in the case of a healthy child unable to escape from a dysfunctional family. It is always confusing and usually uncomfortable.
