Andrew Robinson, 2010-09-16 The highly admired scientist Linus Pauling a double Nobel laureate in chemistry and peace was once asked by a student Dr Pauling how do you have so many good ideas Pauling thought for a moment and replied Well David I have a lot of ideas and throw away the bad ones Where do ideas come from Why do some people have many more of them than others How do you distinguish the good ideas from the bad Most intriguing of all perhaps why do the best ideas sometimes strike in a flash of sudden genius These questions are the subject of this book Andrew Robinson explores the exceptional creativity in both scientists and artists by following the trail that led ten individuals from childhood to the achievement of a famous creative breakthrough as an adult in archaeology architecture art biology chemistry cinema music literature photography and physics Broken into three parts the book begins with the scientific study of creativity covering talent genius intelligence memory dreams the unconscious savant syndrome synaesthesia and mental illness The second part tells the stories of five breakthroughs by scientists and five by artists ranging from Curie's discovery of radium and Einstein's theory of special relativity to Mozart's composing of The Marriage of Figaro and Virginia Woolf's writing of Mrs Dalloway Robinson concludes by considering what highly creative people who achieve breakthroughs have in common whether breakthroughs in science and art follow patterns and whether they always involve imaginative leaps and even genius

Racism and Xenophobia in Early Twentieth-Century American Fiction Wisam Abughosh Chaleila, 2020-12-29 The Melting Pot The Land of The Free The Land of Opportunity These tropes or nicknames apparently reflect the freedom and open armed welcome that the United States of America offers However the chronicles of history do not complement that image These historical happenings have not often been brought into the focus of Modernist literary criticism though their existence in the record is clear This book aims to discuss these chronicles displaying in great detail the underpinnings and subtle references of racism and xenophobia embedded so deeply in both fictional and real personas whether they are characters writers legislators or the common people In the main chapters literary works are dissected so as to underline the intolerance hidden behind words of righteousness and blind trust as if such is the norm Though history is taught it is not so thoroughly examined To our misfortune we naively think that bigoted ideas are not a thing we could become afflicted with They are antiques from the past yet they possessed many hundreds of people and they surround us still Since we've experienced very little change it seems discipline is necessary to truly attempt to be rid of these ideas
