Tropical Montane Cloud Forests Lawrence S. Hamilton, James O. Juvik, F.N. Scatena, 2012-12-06 Until relatively recently the valuable tropical montane cloud forests hereafter usually referred to as TMCFs of the world had scarcely come under the assaults experienced by the downslope montane and lowland forests TMCFs are not hospitable environments for human occupation and their remoteness except in places near Andean high mountain settlements and in the Ethiopian Highlands and difficult terrain have given them de facto protection The adjacent upper montane rain forests have indeed been under assault for timber fuelwood and for conversion to grazing and agriculture for many decades even centuries in the Andes but true cloud forest has only come under exploitation as these lower elevational resources have disappeared They have also been nibbled at from above where there have been alpine grasslands under grazing pressure Increasingly now however these cloud forest eco systems are being fragmented reduced and disturbed at an alarming rate It is now becoming recognized that steps must be taken rapidly to increase our understanding of TMCF and to achieve their conservation because their water capture function is extremely important to society their species endemism is high they serve as refugia for endangered species being marginalized in these environments by increasingly transformed lower elevation ecosystems they are relatively little studied yet their value to science is extremely high they have low resilience to disturbance vii viii Preface and many other reasons which will be discussed subsequently in this publication ACSM Bulletin, 1994

GIS And Generalisation J-P

Lagrange, R Weibel, Jean-Claude Muller, 2020-11-25 This text is the inaugural book in Taylor and Francis's GISDATA series and is derived from the specialist workshop convened under the auspices of the European Science Foundation's GISDATA Scientific Programme Generalisation is an integrating tool for the analysis and presentation of spatial data Effective spatial data analysis requires multiple views of the world at various scales with different thematic layers of representation Generalisation is a key mechanism in this process as it filters out information which is required for particular scales or layers hence it is critical to implement full and comprehensive generalisation capabilities in a GIS something with which few current GIS are equipped This book overviews the core and as yet unresolved issues surrounding the achievement of this goal and presents various alternatives both speculative views and practical examples in the areas of automated generalisation vis a vis problems such as object simplification and placement At the same time it distinguishes between modelling with generalisation and graphical representation and adopts a model building perspective It also describes artificial intelligence techniques for implementing automated generalised routines and addresses issues of data quality and production The text is organized into six parts an introduction generic issue object orientated methods and knowledge based modelling knowledge acquisition and representation data quality and operation and implementation New Publications of the Geological Survey Geological Survey (U.S.),2002 New Publications of the U.S. Geological Survey Geological Survey (U.S.),1995 Telegeoprocessing Yong Xue,Xiran Zhou,Sheng Zhang,2023-01-19 Telegeoprocessing is the integration of remote sensing Geographic Information System GIS Global Navigation Satellite System GNSS Big Data and Telecommunication This unique compendium brings together most of the key issues involved in research in novel systems in telegeoprocessing It elucidates a comprehensive introduction to the problems encountered in telegeoprocessing engineering and the major technologies and standards related to designing an integrated fully functional telegeoprocessing system based on the latest multimedia and telecommunication technologies The useful cross disciplinary reference text benefits teachers and researchers in both universities and research organizations and for anyone keen in the impact of Earth observation big data geoinformatics in civil communities and human societies New Publications of the U.S. Geological Survey ,2002

Methodologies for Intelligent Systems Zbigniew W. Ras,1994-09-28 This volume contains the revised versions of the papers presented at the Eighth International Symposium on Methodologies for Intelligent Systems ISMIS 94 held in Charlotte North Carolina USA in October 1994 Besides four invited contributions by renowned researchers on key topics there are 56 full papers carefully selected from more than 120 submissions The book presents the state of the art for methodologies for intelligent systems the papers are organized in sections on approximate reasoning evolutionary computation intelligent information systems knowledge representation methodologies learning and adaptive systems and logic for AI Multimedia Cartography William Cartwright,Michael P Peterson,Georg Gartner,2013-03-14 Multimedia Cartography provides a contemporary overview of theoretical issues related to multimedia mapping and the design and production elements that are unique to this form of cartography The proliferation of interactive multimedia products on CD ROM and the Internet via the World Wide Web has generated an immense interest in multimedia mapping products The approach to producing interactive multimedia maps is quite unique and there has been an upsurge of interest in developing methodologies that best exploit both the technology and communication effectiveness of multimedia mapping The book has been written for professional cartographers interested in moving into multimedia mapping for cartographers already involved in producing multimedia titles who wish to discover the approaches that other practitioners in multimedia cartography have taken and for students and academics in the mapping sciences and related geographical fields wishing to update their knowledge about current issues related to cartographic design and production It provides a new avant garde approach to cartography one based on the exploitation of the many rich media components that multimedia offers Visualization in Modern Cartography A.M. MacEachren,D.R. Fraser Taylor,2013-10-22 Visualization in Modern Cartography explores links between the centuries old discipline of cartography and today's revolutionary developments in scientific visualization. The book has three main goals: 1 to pass on design and symbolization expertise to the scientific visualization community; information that comes from centuries of pre-computer visualization by cartographers and their more recent experiences with computerizing the discipline; 2 to help cartographers cope with the dramatic shift from print cartography to a dynamic virtual cartography for which their role is changing from that of map designer to one of spatial information display and/or interface designer; 3 to illustrate the expanded role for cartography in geographic environmental planning and earth science applications that comes with the development of interactive geographic visualization tools. To achieve these goals, the book is divided into three parts. The first sets the historical, cognitive, and technological context for geographic cartographic visualization tool development. The second covers key technological, symbolization, and user interface issues. The third provides a detailed look at selected prototype geographic cartographic visualization tools and their applications.

Wetland and Environmental Applications of GIS John G. Lyon, Jack McCarthy, 1995-09-18 This new book presents powerful techniques that can be used to address issues and problems related to wetlands and surface waters. It is the first book of its kind to address inventory and management of wetlands and water quality problems using GIS and remote sensing technologies. Wetland and Environmental Applications of GIS describes a variety of techniques, applications, and case studies for evaluating wetland and surface water characteristics at the landscape scale. The book details wetland and environmentally oriented surface water resource studies using spatial and spectral based technologies such as GIS, remote sensing, computer modeling, and image display. Introductory material is included in the first section to provide a common background and to refresh or introduce concepts to the professional. The second section details applications of these technologies in studies of wetlands, including the use of GIS and archival satellite data in evaluating and measuring sediment types, water depth, and environmental change in the coastal wetlands of the Great Lakes. The third section addresses various environmental applications of GIS such as locating non-point pollution sources and managing oil spills. The final section supplies additional information and applications with particular emphasis on potential contributions of remote sensing.

Algorithms and Computation Alok Aggarwal, 1999 This book constitutes the refereed proceedings of the 10th International Symposium on Algorithms and Computation (ISAAC 99) held in Chennai, India, in December 1999.
