Conceiving The Self:

Conceiving The Self Morris Rosenberg, 1979-03-08 Conceiving the Self Barbara J. Socor, 1997 In this masterful and scholarly work Barbara Socor traces the development of the concept of self from its origins in Freud's works through the British School the French School and up to the current conceptualizations of the self The book is an education in the history and evolution of psychoanalytic thinking and it contains a clarity of thought about the elusive concept of the self that has been absent in the literature George Frank DSW The Refutation of the Self in Indian Buddhism James Duerlinger, 2013 Since the Buddha did not fully explain the theory of persons that underlies his teaching in later centuries a number of different interpretations were developed This book presents the interpretation by the celebrated Indian Buddhist philosopher Candrakirti ca 570-650 C E Candrakirti's fullest statement of the theory is included in his Autocommentary on the Introduction to the Middle Way Madhyamakavatīrabhasya which is along with his Introduction to the Middle Way Madhyamakavatīra among the central treatises that present the Prasangika account of the Madhyamaka Middle Way philosophy In this book Candrakirti's most complete statement of his theory of persons is translated and provided with an introduction and commentary that present a careful philosophical analysis of Candrakirti's account of the selflessness of persons This analysis is both philologically precise and analytically sophisticated The book is of interest to scholars of Buddhism generally and especially to scholars of Indian Buddhist philosophy Emotion and Anxiety Warren Frederick Morris, 2006-01-24 The primary function of emotion is to predispose and regulate behavior aimed at satisfying any kind of physiological or psychic need Emotional responses range from a primitively unconscious involuntary reflex to associatively conditioned habitual responses to conscious voluntarily chosen intentions Conceivable psychodynamically emotion is a sensuous signifier of pain or pleasure regulating the response of an organism to a situation involving cognition of its own needs and environmental opportunities for satisfying them From diverse perspectives Freud and existentialists Kierkegaard Heidegger and Sartre consider the primary emotion to be anxiety It defensively warns of danger to the satisfaction of an instinctual need to some other higher level human aspiration or to some loss of great value Anxiety presents a demand It may be the need to gratify a particular desire to socially control conduct or to resolve their opposition The importance and scope of anxiety is underscored by its relatedness to instinctual gratification self realization moral conduct freedom creation of personal identity and death This single most important emotion is focused upon the basic nature and concerns of humanity This philosophy of emotion follows from the author's first published philosophical work Escaping Alienation A Philosophy of Alienation and De-alienation Emptiness in the Mind-Only School of Buddhism Jeffrey Hopkins, 2003-03-15 This is a scholarly tour de force the likes of which are rarely seen in the academy Jos Ignacio Cabezon Illif School of Theology An exceptionally clear and detailed account of a central debate in Tibetan Buddhist scholastic philosophy Matthew Kapstein University of Chicago This is without question the finest and most complete discussion of the renowned Mind Only school and its Tibetan context Anne C Klein

Coping and Self-Concept in Adolescence H.A. Bosma,A.E. (Sandy) Jackson,2012-12-06 Self concept and coping behaviour are important aspects of development in adolescence Despite their developmental significance however the two areas have rarely been considered in relation to each other This book is the first in which the two areas are brought together it suggests that this interaction can open the way to new possibilities for further research and to new implications for applied work with adolescents Two separate chapters review research carried out in each of the areas These are followed by a series of more empirically focussed chapters in which issues such as changes in relationship patterns difficult school situations leaving school use of leisure anxiety and suicidal behaviour are examined in the context of self concept and coping The final chapter seeks to identify some of the central themes emerging from this work and discusses possible research and applied implications

Self-awareness M. D. Ferrari,Robert J. Sternberg,1998-04-17 This integrative volume brings together leading social scientists to present diverse perspectives on the emergence development and practical role of self awareness Shedding light on the fundamental question of how human beings come to understand who we are in relation to ourselves to others and to the broader world the book does justice to the complexity of its subject while remaining accessible to readers in a wide range of disciplines Chapters cover such topics as developmental and evolutionary aspects of self awareness the self consciousness and theory of mind and connections between self awareness and social affective academic and neuropsychological functioning

Social Psychology of Self-Referent Behavior Howard B. Kaplan,2013-11-11 This book is about human behavior and more particularly about a class of human behaviors those behaviors by people that have themselves as the object of their behaviors These self referent behaviors are social in nature in the sense that in large measure they are the outcomes of pervasive social processes and are themselves major influences on social outcomes As such self referent behaviors have the potential to be significant organizing constructs in the study of the broader field of social psychology In any case they are regarded here as of intrinsic interest and are the focus of this volume Four broad categories of self referent behaviors are considered with regard to their social bases and consequences as these are revealed in the social psychological and sociological literature With appropriate discriminations made within each group ing the four categories are self conceiving self evaluating self feeling and self protective self enhancing responses Following a consideration of the social antecedents and consequences of each category of self referent behaviors I present a final summary statement that outlines a theoretical model of the additive and interactive social influences on and consequences of the mutually influential self referent behaviors The outline of the theoretical model reflects my synthesis of the apparently relevant theoretical and empirical literature and is intended to function as a framework for the orderly incorporation of new theoretical assertions and more or less apparently relevant empirical associations

International Advances in Self Research - volume 1 Herbert Marsh,Rhonda G. Craven,Dennis M. McInerney,2003-10-01

MISSION STATEMENT

Maximising self concept is recognised as a critical goal in itself and a means to facilitate other desirable outcomes in a diversity of settings The desire to feel positively about oneself and the benefits of this feeling on choice planning persistence and subsequent accomplishments transcend traditional disciplinary barriers and are central to goals in many social policy areas International Advances in Self Research monograph series publishes scholarly works that primarily focus on self concept research and pertain to a broad array of self related constructs and processes including self esteem self efficacy identity motivation anxiety self attributions self regulated learning and meta cognition The research focus of the monograph series includes theory underlying these constructs their measurement their relation to each other and to other constructs their enhancement and their application in research and practice Chapters address a wide cross section of settings participants and research areas This series has a special interest in self concept theory and research in settings characterised by diversity such as special education linguistic diversity socioeconomic and cultural diversity

Responses to Self Harm Leigh Dale, 2015-10-14 Self harm is generally regarded as a modern epidemic associated especially with young women But references to self harm are found in the poetry of ancient Rome the drama of ancient Greece and early Christian texts including the Bible Studied by criminologists doctors nurses psychologists psychiatrists and sociologists the actions of those who harm themselves are often alienating and bewildering This book provides a historical and conceptual roadmap for understanding self harm across a range of times and places in modern high schools and in modern warfare in traditional religious practices and in avant garde performance art Describing the diversity of self harm as well as responses to it this book challenges the understanding of it as a single behavior associated with a specific age group gender or cultural identity

Statehood and Self-Determination Duncan French, 2013-02-21 The concepts of statehood and self determination provide the normative structure on which the international legal order is ultimately premised As a system of law founded upon the issue of territorial control ascertaining and determining which entities are entitled to the privileges of statehood continues to be one of the most difficult and complex issues Moreover although the process of decolonisation is almost complete the principle of self determination has raised new challenges for the metropolitan territories of established states including the extent to which internal self determination guarantees additional rights for minority and other groups As the controversies surrounding remedial secession have revealed the territorial integrity of a state can be questioned if there are serious and persistent breaches of a people's human rights This volume brings together such debates to reflect further on the current state of international law regarding these fundamental issues

The Idea of the Self Jerrold Seigel, 2005-02-17 What is the self The question has preoccupied people in many times and places but nowhere more than in the modern West where it has spawned debates that still resound today In this 2005 book Jerrold Seigel provides an original and penetrating narrative of how major Western European thinkers and writers have confronted the self since the time of Descartes Leibniz and Locke From an approach that is at once theoretical and contextual he examines the way figures in Britain France and Germany have understood whether and how far individuals can achieve coherence and consistency in the face of the inner tensions and external pressures that threaten to divide or overwhelm them He makes clear that recent postmodernist accounts of the self belong firmly to the tradition of Western thinking they have sought to supersede and provides an open ended and persuasive alternative to claims that the modern self is typically egocentric or disengaged Internal Self-Determination in International Law Kalana Senaratne, 2021-08-05 A clear and accessible study of the principle of internal self determination in international law
