Handbook of Research on Examining Cultural Policies Through Digital Communication Önay Dogan, Betül, Gül Ünlü, Derya, 2018-11-09 Culture is one of the most important elements for explaining individuals behaviors within the social structure It meets the various social needs of members of a society by directing how individuals must react to various events and how to act in specific circumstances A planned and systematic process is required for disseminating this cultural accumulation as a policy which is produced collectively by all members within their everyday life practices The Handbook of Research on Examining Cultural Policies Through Digital Communication provides emerging research on this aspect of cultural policy which is formed within the framework of this systematic process in a strategic manner and can be defined as various activities of the state intended for art human sciences and cultural inheritance Creating such cultural policies involves the establishment of measures and organizations required for the development of each individual providing economic and social facilities all of which are actions intended for directing society Featuring coverage on a broad range of topics such as long distance education digital citizenship and public diplomacy this book is ideally designed for academicians researchers advanced level students sociologists international and national organizations and government officials

The missing woodland resources Marian Berihuete-Azorín, María Martín Seijo, Oriol López-Bultó, Raquel Piqué, 2022-07-20 Woodlands are a key source of raw materials for many purposes since early Prehistory Wood bark resin leaves fibres fungi moss or tubers have been gathered to fulfill almost every human need That led societies to develop specific technologies to acquire manage transform elaborate use and consume these resources The materials provided by woodlands covered a wide range of necessities such as food shelter clothing or tool production but they also provided resources employed for waterproofing dying medicine and adhesives among many others All these technological processes and uses are commonly difficult to identify through the archaeological record Some materials are exclusively preserved by charring or in anaerobic conditions at very exceptional sites or leave only a very slight trace behind them e g containers Consequently they have received far less attention in archaeobotanical studies compared to other kind of plant materials consumed as food or firewood This book provides an overview of technological uses of plants from the Palaeolithic to the Post Medieval period This collection of papers presents different archaeobotanical and archaeological studies dealing with the use of a wide range of woodland resources most of them among the less visible for archaeology such as bast fibres and fungi These papers present different approaches for their study combining archaeology archaeobotany and ethnoarchaeology

reading for anyone interested in a career in archaeology in the twenty first century Anglo-Saxon Studies in Archaeology and History 23 Helena Hamerow,2023-10-27 Volume 23 of Anglo Saxon Studies in Archaeology and History ASSAH a series concerned with the archaeology and history of England and its neighbours during the Anglo Saxon period circa AD 400 1100

Medieval Archaeology Pamela Crabtree,2013-05-13 This is the first reference work to cover the archaeology of medieval Europe No other reference can claim such comprehensive coverage from Ireland to Russia and from Scandinavia to Italy the archaeology of the entirety of medieval Europe is discussed Urban Growth and the Medieval Church Nigel Baker,Richard Holt,2017-05-15 It has long been recognised that the Church played a major role in the development of towns and cities from the earliest times a fact attested to by the prominence and number of ecclesiastical buildings that still dominate many urban areas Yet despite this physical evidence and the work of archaeologists and historians many important aspects of the early stages of urbanization in England are still poorly understood Not least there are many unanswered questions concerning the processes by which the larger towns emerged as planned settlements during the pre Conquest centuries Whilst the commitment of the Wessex kings is recognized questions remain concerning the participation of the Church in this process Likewise our understanding of the Church s influence in the later development of towns is not yet fully developed Many intriguing questions remain concerning such issues as the founding of parish churches and their boundaries and the extent to which the Church as a major landowner helped shape the evolving identity of towns and their suburbs It is questions such as these that this volume sets out to answer Employing a wealth of historical and archaeological evidence two key towns Gloucester and Worcester are closely examined in order to build up a picture of their respective developments throughout the medieval period Through this multi disciplinary and comparative approach a picture begins to emerge the Church s role in helping to shape not only the spiritual but also the social economic and cultural development of the urban environment
